SILENCE WRAPS REVOLT AREA CENSORS SMOTHER TOKYO NEWS GRAVE DEVELOPMENTS FEARED IN CAPITAL

SHANGHAI, FEB. 29.
A BLANKET OF SILENCE SURROUNDS TOKYO WHICH THIS MORNING IS COMPLETELY CUT OFF FROM THE OUTSIDE WORLD. GRAVE DEVELOPMENTS IN JAPAN'S CAPITAL ARE FEARED TO BE PROCEEDING.—Reuter. (11 a.m.)

The Japanese Consul-General in Hongkong was no further informed of the position in his capital to-day. His information is that Tokyo is quiet, generally. With respect to the fate of the rebel troops who have refused to surrender, he states he is informed that the Government may use force to dislodge them; but that subsequent actions depend upon the attitude of the insurgents themselves.

A United Press review of the situation in Japan was cable from Washington this morning. It states that a smothering censorship obscures whether the extremist leaders and the men who followed them have surrendered, whether there is fighting, or whether they are standing "pat."

The Tokyo correspondent for this service at 10 p.m. last night sent the following radio message to Washington:

"The Army has issued a radio communique saying that the new compromise efforts had failed, that the situation was unchanged and that General Kashii, the commander of the Tokyo garrison forces, was prepared to blast the rebels from the Government buildings with artillery unless they surrendered or withdrew."

EVICION ORDERED
Shanghai, Feb. 29.
Orders to evict the military rebels in Tokyo were issued at 5.30 this morning according to a report received in Shanghai.—Reuter.

Japanese reports from Tokyo say the Government forces have opened fire on the rebels.—United Press.

The Japanese Embassy at Washington said despatches from Tokyo at 5 p.m. (Tokyo time) yesterday, said the insurgents were ready to return to their barracks. The Embassy lacked details, however. It had not learned what agreement, if any, had been reached.

Neither is there any indication in Washington of the complexion of the future Government of Japan. Tokyo despatches to Washington variously hinted at a military dictatorship, a council of state or a right-wing cabinet. The only thing definite about the position is that no authority has yet said that the rebels have returned to their barracks.

REFUSE TO SURRENDER
London, Feb. 28.
An Exchange Telegraph message to London from Tokyo received at 2.15 a.m. Saturday states that the rebels have refused to abide by their agreement to surrender.

Since this development all communications have been halted, with the exception of colourless Government messages.—United Press.

TRULY NATIONAL CABINET
Washington, Feb. 28.
Authoritative advice from Tokyo state that an influential section of the press is urging "a truly national cabinet" in which the Army presumably would have strong influence.

AMERICA GUARDS PACIFIC SLIGHTEST SPARK MAY BRING FIRE PRECAUTION URGED

Washington, Feb. 28.
The presence of the United States fleet in the Pacific and the conditions in the Far East which have recently given rise to much apprehension, were stressed before the House Naval Committee to-day as emphasising the necessity for rehabilitation of the West Coast ship-building and repair facilities.

The Pacific Coast Congressional delegation urged a six per cent. differential in favour of West Coast shipbuilding firms in the proposed construction of fifty-four auxiliary naval vessels.

"We should be worse than blind if we closed our eyes to the conditions in the Far East," declared Representative Kahn, one of the influential Westerners.

GENEVA TO DECIDE POLICY DISCUSSING OIL SANCTIONS EDEN LEAVES SUNDAY

London, Feb. 28.
The Foreign Secretary Mr. Anthony Eden, will leave London on Sunday to attend Monday's meeting in Geneva of the Committee of Eighteen, the main purpose of which is to consider the question of adding oil to the list of commodities on which an embargo to Italy has been placed.

The principles by which the British Government, for their part, will be guided in this matter were outlined by the Foreign Secretary last Monday. Having pointed out that there was nothing symbolic about oil, and that it was a sanction like other and to be judged by the same criterion, namely, whether its imposition would help to end war, he made clear that the British Government had not departed from its original decision on principle, taken last November, regarding oil sanctions, from its resolve to take its full part with others in such collective action that the League may decide upon.

Mr. Eden added it remained British Government's policy to maintain steady and collective resistance to aggression, that they would be guided in their task by the spirit of the Covenant itself, and that there would be neither weakness nor wavering in (Continued on Page 14.)

LEAGUE AID FOR CHINA COMMITTEE MEETING ON MONDAY

Geneva, Feb. 28.
The China Committee of the League Council, which is presided over by the President, at present Mr. Stanley Bruce, of Australia, is convened for Monday.

The Committee will discuss plans for technical collaboration with China in 1936.—Reuter.

KING TO TALK TO HIS EMPIRE Relay To Many Foreign Nations As Well

London, Feb. 28.
His Majesty the King will broadcast to the Empire on Sunday, and his address will be transmitted by the B.B.C. Empire Station at Daventry on three wavelengths: CSG 16.86 metres, GSF 19.82 metres and GFD 25.53 metres, while in order to ensure the widest possible distribution the General Post Office telephone service will provide direct circuits to Canada, Australia, South Africa and India.

The broadcast will also be relayed to eleven foreign countries, including the United States and France.—Reuter.

Defence Plan Soon To Be Revealed

London, Feb. 28.
Reuter understands that the White Paper outlining the Government's defence policy will be issued on Tuesday morning.

The National Council of the Labour Party will meet the same evening to consider the international situation and the Government's re-armament proposals.—Reuter Special.

LONG COMMONS SETTING OPPOSITION FIGHT ESTIMATES

London, Feb. 28.
After sitting continuously for nearly 22 hours, the House of Commons rose shortly after noon.

The main business before the House was the discussion of various supplementary estimates, the Opposition refusing to allow their passage without full debate. When the House ultimately rose, it was agreed that the committee stage of the Bill for continuance of the shipping subsidy and certain other Government business should stand adjourned until Monday.

ITALIANS WIN AMBA ALAGI AVENGE DEFEAT OF TOSELLI IN 1896 STRATEGIC POSITION ON HIGH RIDGE

(SPECIAL TO "TELEGRAPH")

(By "Telegraph." Copyright Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, Feb. 29, 7.30 a.m.)

Rome, Feb. 28.
"Troops of the First Army Corps have conquered Amba Alagi," states a communique received to-day from Marshal Badoglio, commander-in-chief of the Italian forces in East Africa.

"From 11 a.m. to-day the Italian flag waved from the summit of the ridge which saw the heroic sacrifice of Toselli."

Thus the Italian army has avenged the defeat of General Toselli, commander of the Fourth Eritrean Battalion, who was defeated with heavy loss of life at Amba Alagi in 1896 and retreated to Adowa, where he was killed after a terrible massacre of his men in a pitched battle with the Ethiopian warriors.

MILLIONS SOUGHT IN TAXATION ROOSEVELT'S ORDER TO CONGRESS REPLACING LOST REVENUES

Washington, Feb. 28.
President Roosevelt to-day announced his intention of asking Congress for $1,133,000,000 in new revenues in 1936.

The main purposes of this new revenue will be as follows: $120,000,000 annually for nine years to cover the amortisation of the War Veterans' bonus; $500,000,000 as a permanent substitute for the processing taxes lost to the Administration; $500,000,000 as a temporary substitute, payable for the next three years, to cover the current year's loss of revenue from processing taxes on account of the adverse decision of the Supreme Court.

President Roosevelt stated that a form of income tax on corporations would be levied to recoup about $160,000,000 of imposed or uncollected processing taxes.

He told newspapermen that the form of taxes or rates would be left to the decision of Congress but believed the temporary levies were best met through income taxes.—Reuter Special.

FRENCHMEN BEAR FATE OF PARLEY NAVAL TALKS MAY CONTINUED

London, Feb. 28.
The further progress of the Naval Conference depends on the French delegation, which has asked Paris for instructions whether it should continue the three-Power negotiations.

It is understood that the French hope to an understanding whereby Italy will sign the treaty when the Ethiopian question is settled.

As neither Italy nor France experience serious misgivings over the technical aspects of the proposed treaty, it is expected that a bilateral Franco-Italian understanding would facilitate the conclusion of the treaty.—Reuter Special.

BRITISH UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE IS SOUND

London, Feb. 28.
The Minister of Labour announces a reduction in unemployment insurance contributions from employers and workers.

The insurance funds have a £6,000,000 surplus yearly for disposal, and it is proposed to reduce the weekly rate by one penny.

MISSING SHANGHAI MAN LEFT NO CLUE OR NOTE

San Francisco, Feb. 28.
Officers aboard the liner Chichibu Maru, from which the British officer of the Shanghai Police Force, Mr. Stanley Keyes, was found to be missing on her arrival here, say that the passenger had appeared to be depressed several days prior to his disappearance.

Attendants found in his cabin a blood-stained pocket knife, the blade bent.

Mr. Keyes' extensive baggage is being returned to Shanghai unopened, together with his purse, which contained a solitary one cent piece.

He left no farewell message of any sort.—Reuter.

Another £500,000 For British Air Subsidies

TO HELP EMPIRE SERVICE

CHEAPER MAIL PLAN REJECTED BY AUSTRALIA

INCREASED subsidies for air transport are provided for in a Government Air Navigation Bill issued in London this month. Its main provisions are:—

Subsidy limit for air transport and civil flying raised from £1,000,000 to £1,500,000 in any financial year.

Compulsory insurance against third-party risks for all civil aircraft.

Removal of the control of design, construction and maintenance of civil aircraft, except in the cases of large transport machines, from the Air Ministry to a special board.

The increase in the limit of the subsidy is mainly to assist the development of the ambitious plans already announced for a cheap Empire mail service and the proposed Atlantic service.

How this will be affected by news received from Melbourne that the Australian Government has rejected the British Government's proposals remains to be seen.

No Surcharge
The proposals included a twice-weekly service to and from Australia, and a seven-day first-class letter mail service at a three-halfpenny flat rate, without an air mail surcharge.

It was also stipulated that mail should be carried to Sydney in British flying boats. Australia insists that she should run the service from Singapore to Sydney herself, and objects to abolishing the surcharge. She has asked for alternative proposals.

The appointment of a special board outside the Air Ministry to control the design and maintenance of civil aircraft is expected to result in a considerable speeding up in building programmes.

It is understood that in the case of large passenger-carrying machines the Air Ministry will still exercise a certain amount of control, mainly from the point of view of safety.

Weather Prophet Says

THIS YEAR WILL BE ONE OF LITTLE SUNSHINE

A METEOROLOGICAL expert, whose previous forecasts have been marked by a very high level of accuracy, has drawn up a special weather forecast for 1936. Here it is: Generally, the year will be deficient in sunshine, with many rainy days of small amounts, the total, however, not being large.

Monthly forecasts:
March—Mild and unsettled.
April—Dry on the whole and cold.
May—Gold with number of rainy days large.
June—Cold and rainy until near the end, when warm.
July—Cool generally and dry.
August—Sunshine deficient and wet.
September—Fine and dry.
October—Mild and damp.
November—Mild, with variable rainfall, heavy in places.
December—Rainfall below the average a few frosts.

Aircraftman Shaw Is Lawrence In St. Paul's

STRIDENT notes of the Reveille, sounded by Royal Air Force buglers, rang through the crowded nave of St. Paul's Cathedral one night this month. Twenty aircraftmen from Felixstowe R.A.F. station stood to attention at the doors and in the aisles.

They heard Vincent Massey, Governor-General of Canada, praise a man they did not know, and his name was Lawrence, better known as Lawrence of Arabia, whose memorial bust in the crypt he had just unveiled.

Many in the congregation were friends of Lawrence of Arabia, some there had fought with him. They heard Lord Halifax describe the man they knew—"a crusader of the twentieth century on behalf of peoples and causes which must ever hereafter be associated with his name."

Relentless Fame
But the aircraftman had come to honour another man, whom few in the congregation knew, a fellow-aircraftman, T. E. Shaw.

Their moment came when Lord Halifax described how Lawrence's relentless fame pursued him, "making him fly even from himself to find in change of name, of scene and occupation that loss of identity through which he hoped to win relief from his distress."

Twenty proud aircraftmen lined the crypt of St. Paul's after the service, while Lord Lloyd, Lord Trenchard, Mr. Winston Churchill, Sir Ronald Storrs and many others filed past the bronze bust of "Lawrence of Arabia." For the R.A.F. men the features were those of Aircraftman Shaw.

EARL RUSSELL, AT 63, MARRIES HIS SECRETARY

EARL RUSSELL, sixty-three-year-old philosopher, was married in London this month to Miss Patricia Helen Spence, his twenty-five-year-old red-haired secretary.

This is the third marriage of the peer, who prefers to be known as "Mr. Bertrand Russell." Miss Spence is an accountant's daughter.

Their wedding took place at Midhurst (Sussex) Register Office. Both gave their address as Telegraph House, Harting, Peterfield. Mr. G. R. Blanco White, the Socialist barrister, was a witness.

Notice was given in the "London Gazette" that Miss Spence had changed her name to "Patricia Helen" from that of "Marjorie." Her friends know her as "Peter."

Earl Russell, who succeeded his brother the Socialist peer, in 1931, was married first, in 1894, to Miss Alys Pearsall Smith, of Philadelphia. She divorced him in 1921.

His second wife was Miss Dora Black, the feminist leader, among whose books is one entitled "The Right to be Happy." For some time they ran together a "do as you please" school at Telegraph House, where boys and girls between four and eleven years old.

Girl Radios For Help On Whaling Station

Capetown, Feb. 20.
A call for help by wireless-telephone was sent out by a young woman who found herself the only white inhabitant of a whaling station at Saldanha Bay, her father having been shot dead.

Captain Jorgensen was in charge of the station, closed for some years now, but the home of a number of laid-up trawlers and much valuable machinery. A radiophone set was installed for communicating with the whalers at sea.

Although never used by Captain Jorgensen, it was kept in working order.

"Going Away"
On the night of his death, it appears, the old captain handed his daughter his keys and said, "Look after things. I am going away."

She did not understand what he meant.

Then, as she stood puzzling over his words, she was startled by the sound of a shot.

She dashed into her father's bedroom. He lay dead, with a wound in his head. By his side was a revolver.

Eli Jorgensen then remembered the radio-telephone.

She started up the oil engine which generates power for the set and soon she was calling out her S.O.S. across the world.

It was picked up by a private listener in Capetown. He at once informed the police. Help was soon on the way to the girl.—Reuter.

MAKE-UP HINTS

By MAX FACTORYOU ARE YOUR OWN MASTERPIECE

POSED BY KAY FRANCIS, WARNER BROS. STAR

Of course, you want to be smart and lovely! To be one of those lovely enchantresses poets and painters rave about. And, perhaps the only thing that holds you back is that you make-up never seems to look just right—artificial, to be bold.

Max Factor's, the make-up used by ninety-six percent of the Hollywood stars.

And may we remind you that Max Factor is the genius who has been responsible for practically every great contribution to make-up art—stage, screen, and society.

His new discovery is color harmony, a powder, rouge, and lipstick which matches the vivid, natural colorings of every type of beauty. It gives your skin the fresh youthful tone, the lovely smooth texture you've always longed for. And when you try it, you'll know what we mean when we say...

You are your own masterpiece.

Laugh and the world laughs with you!

It's rather difficult, however, to laugh when your powder cakes or appears "mealy" on your face when you go to the big Race Meetings.

How useless this seems to the screen stars! They have discovered a secret that lets them laugh at this nemesis of attractiveness.

It's ridiculously simple! They just remove the excess powder from their faces with a Face Powder Brush! You see—a powder puff packs the powder down while a brush clears the lines of the face of the surplus and leaves an even surface.

This soft white brush is a pert and efficient answer to a brow-creasing problem. After putting on your powder as evenly as possible, the trick is to use the brush lightly and carefully remove all surplus powder—leaving a smooth, velvety finish.

Steal a stunt from the stars—I'm sure they won't mind!

R100's BUILDER INVENTS WARPLANE NO BULLET CAN HARM

THE Air Ministry have placed a very large order with Vickers (Aviation), Limited, for a new type of super-warplane for the Royal Air Force, built on a secret principle so revolutionary that its full significance is not yet clear even to experts.

Hit By Gale

WORLD'S LARGEST SEAPLANE SINKS OFF FLORIDA

Paris, Feb. 3.

The world's largest seaplane, the Lieutenant de Vaisseau Paris, was sunk in a gale during the night while riding at anchor in Pensacola Bay, off the Florida coast. No one was on board.

A squall of terrific force suddenly hit the 37-ton plane and lifted it into the air. It soared like kite at the end of its mooring cable, and then overturned, plunging to the bottom of the bay.

The news of the calamity to the machine, which was built for a regular service across the South Atlantic, was received by the Air Ministry in a telegram from the commander, Capt. Bonnot.

Capt. Bonnot stated that attempts were being made to refloat the plane. Later messages, however, revealed that divers had found that the engines were embedded in the mud and that one wing appeared to be damaged.

The plane, which crossed the South Atlantic two weeks ago as a test for a regular service, has 12 double cabins and can carry 30 passengers in comfort approaching that of a liner. She has six engines.

Medical Problems In China

Doctors Who Face
"Unscrupulous Opposition"

The difficulties facing the modern doctor in China were referred to by Dr. Douglas Guthrie, at the annual meeting to the Edinburgh Medical Missionary Society recently.

Dr. R. A. Fleming, President of the Society, said it was true the ordinary income did not meet the ordinary expenditure, but the financial path had been smoothed by the reception of a quite extraordinary number of legacies.

Moving the adoption of the report and accounts, Dr. Guthrie, director of the Society, in an account of a visit paid lately to Australia and the Far East, spoke of medical practices in China to-day, where the need for doctors in rural districts, in which there was a poor financial return, was unspeakably great, though there were hospitals and doctors for the rich.

The Flying Doctor

In addition to the menace of commercialism, there was in China no protection of the medical profession such as the General Medical Council provided in our country. There was no Medical Register and no law against black-mail, so that the modern doctor had to face the unscrupulous opposition of the old-time Chinese doctor, and also action for malpractice or damaging statements in the Press by any dissatisfied patient or his relatives.

The more enlightened of the Chinese authorities were well aware of all this, and medical registration would in the future become compulsory, a State medical service would be inaugurated, really charitable hospitals would be built, and the need for modern medicine, not entirely "Western" medicine, would be accepted. All this had, in fact, already begun, and the days of the foreign medical missionary were numbered.

Dr. Guthrie also spoke of the most wonderful and most modern of all medical missions, the flying doctor of Australia. The Rev. John Flynn originated in 1928 a scheme whereby in the isolated inlands of Australia a doctor could be summoned by wireless, and covered the distances between his patients by aeroplane. There are now three flying doctors, with twelve nursing homes, and thirty special wireless sets in use.

This will bring the total who have visited the tomb up to almost eight and a half millions.

To-morrow factories and public services will close down and all transport be withdrawn to enable employees to make the pilgrimage to the mausoleum.

A blanket of snow covers the city. Scarlet banners, with deep black borders, shroud public buildings. Memorial meetings are being held throughout the land.

A new museum is to be opened to-morrow, in Revolution-square. In its twenty rooms will be displayed documents and statuary, and gramophone records of the leader's voice will be played.

A television broadcast showing scenes from his life will also be made. The Bolshoi Theatre will broadcast songs that Lenin loved, and some new ones, including the "Song of Lenin," by Myaskovsky, and "When the Leader Dies," by Shchukter.

These four youths, hardly out of their teens, were executed this month in Sing-Sing Prison.

Four Youths Executed

Ossining (N.Y.), Feb. 10.

Four youths aged between 20 and 21 took "the longest walk in the world" shortly before midnight—to the electric chair.

Till the very last moment they hoped for reprieve—but in vain. They had been sentenced to death for the murder of a policeman on Fifth Avenue.

One of the youths was Newman Raymond, son of Major Raymond, a Methodist lay preacher and candidate for the office of Mayor of New York City in 1918.

The distraught father petitioned for leave to walk with his son to the chair, but the request was refused.

All four young men had a special dinner together and spent the evening seeing their families and receiving the last consolations of the Church.

Before going to the chair they made a joint farewell to eight other "killers" in their goal who are awaiting execution. They went to their death praying and apparently without fear.

It was the greatest "execution night" in Sing-Sing since 1920, when seven people were executed in one night.—Reuter.

Short Story Of Two Bottles Of Beer

Viroqua, Feb. 20.

The swinging doors parted and in walked two silver-haired old men.

They ordered two beers, drank them and ordered two more. Then they walked out without paying.

A sign, intended as humour, hung over the bar: "Liberal Credit extended to those 80 years of age and over when accompanied by a parent."

The drinks were on the house because the men were Gundar Bjerkie, 97, and his son, Nels, 80. United Press.

to be deathless and Love to be the master of fate. He met and mastered the power of Mind over matter, the claims of medicine, surgery, and hygiene.

His disciples believed Jesus to be dead while he was hidden in the sepulchre, whereas he was alive, demonstrating within the narrow tomb the power of Spirit to overcome mortal material sense. There were rocky ribbed walls in the way, and a great stone must be rolled from the cave's mouth; but Jesus vanquished every material obstacle, overcome every law of matter, and stepped forth from his gloomy resting-place, crowned with the glory of a sublime success, an everlasting victory." PEPSODENT
NOW IN A NEW
10% LARGER TUBE

You now get
MORE TOOTH PASTE
FOR LESS MONEY
same high quality

For years people have willingly bought Pepsodent
... rather than save a few pennies and endanger teeth with harsh, "bargain" dentifrices. They have always preferred Pepsodent for two reasons.
First, because it is a "special film-removing tooth paste." It effectively removes from teeth the sticky, gummy coating that forms on them ...
dulls and discolors them ... gives tooth decay germs to them. Second, because Pepsodent removes this film safely—without danger of injury to tooth enamel.

Today Pepsodent offers you more for your money than ever before. For it now comes to you in a new, 10% larger tube. You get more tooth paste for less money. The formula is unchanged.
In every way Pepsodent is still the same high-quality product it has always been.

So take advantage of this extra saving. Get one of the new larger tubes of Pepsodent Tooth Paste today.

DEATH.

IVATOFF—The Committee of the Russian Orthodox Community announce with deep regret the death of the late Vice-Chairman of the Committee, Mr. Michael Ivatoff, in Manila on the 27th February, 1936. A Memorial Service will be held in the Russian Orthodox Church, 18 Jordan Road, Kowloon, at 5.30 p.m. to-day.

The

WORLD UNREST

If an attempt is made to analyse the deep underlying causes of world unrest to-day, the conclusion will soon be reached that the heart of the crisis lies in the fact that among the great nations, four are more or less satisfied with conditions as they are, while three are profoundly discontented. Great Britain, France, the United States and Russia have no ambition to enlarge the extent of their present territories and responsibilities. On the other hand "expansion" is the keynote of the policies of Japan, Italy and Germany. It is easy perhaps to diagnose the disease. It is extremely difficult to suggest the correct remedy—at any rate in any detail. "Territorial redistribution" occurs at once as a possibility to be considered. But the subject bristles with difficulties. It is hard to imagine, for instance, that the British people would be altruistic enough to hand over large portions of their Empire to others. It may also be doubted whether any conceivable redistribution would in fact satisfy the expansionist nations. "Internationalisation" of colonial possessions in general seems to offer a far more hopeful solution. The mandate system of the League of Nations gives a practical model of what has been achieved in this direction. Its two outstanding principles are (1) the welfare of the native inhabitants, the primary over-riding purpose of administration; (2) the open door for the trade and industrial enterprise of all outsiders, irrespective of nationality. But perhaps the proper change lies not in territorial readjustments at all—but in the direction of "economic internationalism." When Japan and Germany and Italy are asking for more land, the most frequent reason they give for their demands are (a) opportunities for migration of excess population, (b) access to raw materials, (c) free markets for their finished goods. Could not

PAVLOV—the man the Bolsheviks pamper—the bearded, benign-looking gent who was so easily mistaken for Bernard Shaw is dead.

His resemblance to the famous G.B.S. was the sum-total of most people's knowledge of him. Yet Pavlov, this enigma, was one of the period's greatest men.

H. G. Wells, in fact, said he was the most important of all, and compared him with Shaw to the latter's severe detriment, roundly declaring that our octogenarian playwright mattered practically nothing beside the Russian octogenarian scientist.

But, then, I think Wells at that time was rather annoyed with Shaw—and we can take his estimate with a grain of salt.

That still left Pavlov extremely important, however. And he was important because of his dogs. (Or, if you like, his dogs were important because of Pavlov.)

PAVLOV experimented with dogs and discovered thereby a great deal about the working of the brain—not only the doggy brain, but the human brain.

He worked with dogs because they are patient and responsive, and because their intellect in many ways is nearest in the animal kingdom to our own. The dog brain is a simplified human brain.

THE whole of Pavlov's scientific theories rested on one simple discovery—as is usually the case with science's triumphs. This discovery was of a thing—a human property—called a Conditioned Reflex.

It sounds difficult, but it isn't.

NOTES OF THE DAY

FEWER ROAD DEATHS

The statistics issued by the Ministry of Transport show a big decline in the list of persons killed and injured on the roads in Great Britain last year as compared with 1934. The number of people killed was 6,521, as compared with 7,343 in 1934—a reduction of 822. The number of injured was 218,798 in 1935 and 231,603 in 1934—a reduction of 12,805. These figures are particularly encouraging when it is remembered that the volume of traffic on the roads has increased enormously. According to the latest figures, the number of licences issued for motor vehicles during the twelve months ended on November 30 last, excluding tramcars and vehicles requiring trade licences, was 2,336,722, compared with 2,116,582 the previous year, an increase of 220,140.

The reduction in the number of casualties cannot be attributed to any particular cause, but obviously the Ministry of Transport's efforts to lessen the dangers from wheeled traffic have not been in vain. The year has seen the introduction of the thirty-mile-an-hour speed limit in "built-up areas," driving tests for new applicants for driving licences, and a number of other safety measures. Owing to the good results achieved presumably there will be a more resolute application in future of all the safety measures, which have been recently adopted. The figures for the combined area of the Metropolitan Police District and the City of London show that in 1935, as compared with 1934, there were 332 fewer persons killed and 3,993 fewer persons injured. This decline in the number of accidents in the London area is of particular importance as evidence of the efficacy of the precautionary measures introduced by the Ministry.

these needs be satisfied without any territorial alterations? For the last fifteen years—with increasing virulence and strength for the last five—economic nationalism has poisoned all international intercourse. The basic fact of the modern world is its political and economic unity. Building on that reality, the outstanding need of the times is co-operation in industry and trade between nations, the kind of co-operation to which the League of Nations seeks to give effective scope.

EXPERIMENTED

PAVLOV

We all have conditioned reflexes—a criss-cross mass of them. They are very important, too.

Suppose you take a dog and show him some food. He salivates—his "mouth waters." That salivation is a simple reflex. But show him, say, a white disc, and then directly afterwards present him with the food. Go on doing that, and soon his mouth will water when the white disc comes.

His reflex is no longer simple; it has been influenced, conditioned, by the introduction of a second stimulus. A real and definite connecting path has been opened up in the dog's thinking mechanism, his brain.

And that phenomenon can be applied directly to human affairs. It is applied automatically all the time.

HAVE you ever noticed that a baby dislikes certain people or certain things for no apparent or totally inadequate reasons? There the Conditioned Reflex is working.

He may have seen the person for the first time wearing something strange that seemed to him terrifying—a pair of motor goggles, say. He may have become first acquainted with such a lovely thing as a rosebud just when he was appalled by a loud and sudden noise.

He connects the two, and, what is more, goes on connecting until the "idea can be got out of his head."

That, of course, opens up new methods of training babies to like and dislike just the things you want them to like and dislike (as Aldous Huxley showed rather grimly in his novel, "Brave New World.")

BUT to get back to Pavlov and his dogs. For, as I have suggested, those Conditioned Reflexes can be got rid of.

The dogs can learn much more than that, too. They can learn to discriminate. A whistle means food; a whistle with flash doesn't mean food. They can learn to delay their reactions.

If you gradually lengthen the time between the sign, whatever it is, and the appearance of the food, the dog will come to salivate not at once but only when the interval is nearly up and the food is just about to appear.

That is a conscious self-control on the dog's part—Pavlov called it inhibition.

ALL sorts of complicated experiments were evolved by Pavlov from his first simple tests, and many strange, illuminating things he learnt about those intricate and delicate instruments, our brains.

He found that the slightest distraction of his dogs' attention destroyed his experiments altogether. He had to start all over again. And from this he deduced that noises of modern civilisation really are harmful to humans.

He learnt that too long a stretch of learning or inhibiting on a dog's part led to boredom, and from there to actual sleep in some cases, and a form of hypnosis in others.

HITTING THE LIGHTHOUSE

A Tragedy of Bird Migration

IT is night in a lighthouse in the far North of Scotland, with the wind howling round the tower and the sea crashing on the rocks two hundred feet below. Up aloft in the lantern the revolving light flashes four times every thirty seconds, sending its warning to the passing ships.

Suddenly the dome begins to echo with a curious sound as if someone were thumping on the outside. Gradually the noise increases until the succession of thuds becomes an irregular drumming. The birds are "striking" the lantern. Birds in their thousands, driven by that migratory urge which annually carries them hundreds of miles from Lapland to Scotland, from the Baltic to South Africa. Thrushes, fieldfare, redwings, curlews, lapwings, snipe, goldencrests, knots, redstarts, golden plover, turnstones, warblers, willow wrens, and a host of other varieties are attracted to the light in a miscellaneous horde.

Standing on the balcony with the birds whizzing around is a weird experience. It is difficult to identify the birds flying around the dome. They generally "strike" in haze and rain, and in the light of the slowly revolving beams from the lantern, have the appearance of glittering objects. Even the conspicuous spots on the breasts of the song thrushes are completely effaced. The call of the various species alters slightly during migration.

The clever starling becomes stupefied by the dazzling brilliancy of the light. It will stand on the grating and, when picked up, will sit contentedly on one's hand. The skylark on the other hand usually strikes hard and is instantly killed, its tiny corpse fluttering down into the darkness below. The redwing and song thrush come to hand quite readily, but the lantern's glare turns the blackbird into a flying demon. He whirls round the lantern at breakneck speed, defying anyone to catch him.

It is a curious fact that few of the small birds such as the warbler, willow wren, chiffchaff, blackcap, white-throat, and goldcrest, hit the lantern with sufficient force to cause death. They appear to flutter up to the light and perch on the grating.

But when the plover, thrush, starling or manx shearwater hit the light they crash with terrific force. Some birds, when coming full tilt to the lantern, balk when within a few feet of it and, rising slightly, get out of the dazzling rays. More often than not, they crash into the dome at a flat angle and are carried 200 to 300 yards by their own momentum before their shattered bodies fall to the ground or into the sea beyond. Others dive low (Continued on Page 7)

THE CAMERA YOU
HAVE BEEN WAITING FOR!

Here is a camera which embodies most of the improvements and refinements to be found in the larger and more expensive cameras. It is so compact it can be carried in the pocket and is offered at an astoundingly low price.

The superior Kodak Anastigmat f.4.5 lens and Compur Shutter enables anyone with ordinary care to produce pictures which will compare favourably with the production of the most expensive cameras. They are 3 1/4 x 2 1/4 inches in size, an excellent album size. One roll of Kodak Verichrome Super Pan or Panatomic film will produce eight pictures.

See this remarkable camera bargain to-day at your Kodak dealers.

"FIRST NIGHT" HEARS THAT

Clark Gable Is Coming To H.K.

NOT news—straight from Hollywood. Gather around, all you Clark Gable fans.

Chief mutineer of the Bounty, Hollywood's No. 1 thrill-seeker, is making plans to seek new thrills in China.

He will travel to Macao by Pan-American Clipper, via Honolulu, Guam, Midway, Wake Island and Manila.

Hongkong will be stepping-off point for tour of East.

Plan, long-cherished dream, is no longer a dream, Clarkie avers. It has been carefully arranged and will become a reality within two months.

"The beginning of my vacation in China depends upon M.G.M.'s plans for me," he said in a letter to Far East representative.

"I have just completed work on 'Wife versus Secretary,' and have only one more picture to make before I'm free.

"I have toured Europe, I have flown over South America, so I'm seeking a new itinerary.

"Tell my friends in Hongkong, Shanghai and other centres that ever since boyhood, it's been my dream to see China. It opens a new vista for me, and within three months my dream will be a reality."

Gable has just left Hollywood for a fortnight's holiday in Mexico to hunt and fish, before commencing his last picture prior to visit to Far East.

He is not the only star who has promised us a visit this year. Ginger Rogers is coming; so are Wheeler and Woolsey, Douglas Fairbanks, and our own Wendy Barrie.

We'll give them all a right royal welcome.

FLASH! Warner "Charlie Chan" Oland will be "Charlie Chan in Shanghai" (banned in Hongkong) in reality within fortnight. Accompanied by wife, he is enroute to East, transferring Thursday from liner Malolo to Dollar ship. Itinerary includes Hongkong, Manila, staying week in each centre. Annie May Wong, who has played opposite Oland in several pictures, will probably meet him in Shanghai. She leaves Hongkong for northern centre to-morrow.

As most people do when they come to Hongkong, Anna May Wong has developed a slight cough. And, as most people do, she blames the ubiquitous cigarette. So, just to curb My Lady Nicotine, Anna May has taken to smoking the most expensive cigarettes on the Hongkong market. They cost two cents each, but they cost her 12 cents!

"I'm cutting out cigarettes," she said firmly. (Haven't we all?)

And here's the way she's going to do it.

Two cents to buy the cigarette. But ten cents towards the Anna May Wong Cigarette Renunciation Fund for each one she smokes.

"Does it work?" I asked.

She sighed, and let me feel the weight of a pleasantly full money box.

"One thing, I'm sure saving money," she said by way of reply.

"Have a cigarette!" I said. I prepared to depart.

As I closed the door I heard the faint tinkle of falling money.

NEXT time I see "Previewer" of S. C. M. Post, I'm going to suggest that next year's popular film star contest be turned into an UN-POPULAR film star contest. Then people wouldn't be able to grumble about the wrong person winning.

Idea wouldn't be new. It was tried not long ago in London, where 124,000-odd people sent in their votes.

Doubtless the character played had something to do with the judgment. Fact remains that on balance of number, the list of most disliked women was headed by—Mae West!

Greta Garbo, Jean Harlow, Joan Crawford, Constance Bennett, the gold Marlene Dietrich followed in order of least favour. In order of most favour, the list was headed by—Mae West!

Jimmy Cagney was on the top of the most disliked men's list. Leo and more quickly lost, human life made Tracy came next, and then Adolpho cheap, and a white woman almost unknown. ENTERTAINMENT

STAR OF THE WEEK NO. 10 is girl who is making talkie debut in current production at Queen's, "Rose of the Rancho." Name is Gladys Swarthout, safe to say that before end of year she'll be Gladys Sweetheart to multitude of cinemadictates. Pretty and popular young soprano are rare enough, pretty and popular young contraltos almost unheard of. Born Christmas Day 31 years ago, likes to cook kidney, plays golf, skin. An able musician than most opera singers, she has a mother who dabbles in concert management, a sister who teaches singing, a husband, Frank Chapman, Jr., who took up singing after he resigned from editorial staff of well-known U.S. publishers, met Gladys in opera house in Florida.

ROSE OF THE RANCHO

Queen's, To-day.

SEEING Gladys Swarthout at a preview on Thursday made me wonder why Hollywood had not long ago signed her up for a long term contract.

She has all the Grace of la Moore, the Charm of a Carmen, the Glamour of a Garbo, the Beauty of a Beauty. Furthermore, she is introduced to a cinema public in a vehicle, revival of a famed stage success of same name, that ensures success before a camera is turned.

THE Number One Metropolitan Opera star has a Latin appearance well suited to the story of Spaniards in California and their efforts to hold their ancestral estates against early land-grabbers. Furthermore, the dual roles of Rosita Castro and Don Carlos, masked leader of the Spanish vigilantes, enable her to maintain a tradition which she inaugurated at the Metropolitan Opera as the page in "Romeo and Juliet," of appearing in masculine costume.

You'll like the story but, best of all, you'll like the times when, with and without the somewhat troublous accompaniment of John Boles, Gladys Swarthout sings "If I Should Lose You," "Little Rose of the Rancho," "The Vigilante Song," "Where is My Love."

By her singing in this film, Miss Swarthout makes it clear that in the current operatic sweepstakes, she will not be outdistanced by the Hollywood field. She is less buoyant than Columbia's Grace Moore, but she has more chic, M.G.M.'s Jeanette MacDonald may do better in her under-rehearsed, but Contralto Swarthout's throat muscles do not wobble. Over RKO-Radio's Little Lily Pons, she has the definite advantage of being able to talk English.

"Rose of the Rancho" of carries this page's heartiest recommendation.

FACTS: Gladys Swarthout made debut at age of 13 at school recital. Audience included wealthy Kansas Cityites who offered to finance musical education. Thereafter she became student at Finch Conservatory in Chicago, where between times she sang in Kaiti theatre choir, isolated with Minneapolis Symphony, became minor number of Chicago Civic Opera Company. After summer in Europe and three seasons with Ravinia Opera Company in U.S., joined Metropolitan Opera Company, made debut as blind mother in "La Gioconda."

BARBARY COAST

King's To-morrow AMERICAN studios go far afield in search of material for their films, but they're always at their best when they're concerned with their own country.

In "Barbary Coast," as in "Rose of the Rancho," we see life as it lived in San Francisco in the middle of last century, when the gold Marlene Dietrich followed in order of least favour. In order of most favour, the list was headed by—Mae West!

Jimmy Cagney was on the top of the most disliked men's list. Leo and more quickly lost, human life made Tracy came next, and then Adolpho cheap, and a white woman almost unknown. King George—King Edward Film To-morrow

CONCURRENT with presentation of "Whipsaw" Alhambra Theatre is screening Cavalcade of Life of late King George, incidents from life of King Edward VIII.

With exception of news reel of King's funeral, rushed from London, this is first film screened in Hongkong in connection with recent death of the King. It was rushed to Far East from Unifilates as soon as King's illness began.

come to found the first San Francisco newspaper; Mary Rutledge (Miriam Hopkins) has come to get what she can.

The man she was to marry is dead, and so she attaches herself to Louis Chalmers (Edward G. Robinson), owner of the most notorious gambling saloon and the wealthiest man in the city. And while Chalmers robs those who complain too loudly of his methods, Cobb tries to publish the truth about him in his paper, but finds corruption too strong. Edward G. Robinson is at his best in a part such as this, and gives to Chalmers a convincing, swaggering conceit, while Miriam Hopkins acts with spirit and conviction as his mistress who, in the end, falls in love with a young prospector whom she ruins at the tables. Carries this page's recommendation.

WHIPSAW

Alhambra, To-morrow

THIS is a gangster film without gangsters. At least, the gangsters you'll see are tame ones, due to a little misunderstanding with the censors.

Despite cuts—they don't matter much—"Whipsaw" is a slick gangster melodrama with Myrna Loy at her "Thin Man" heights. Spencer Tracy also goes up above much he has done lately. Myrna is cast as alluring crook belonging to gang after famous crook of pearls. The lost is duly lifted, and the rest of the film is taken up with the adventures in connection with its return.

In between there is a wealth of delightful byplay between Myrna Loy and Spencer Tracy, their dominating the admirable blend of slick gangsterdom and genial romantic comedy. Myrna Loy is strongly reminiscent of "Thin Man," Spencer Tracy shows himself the pastmaster of pseudo-brutality. A well-knit cliffhanger will give you plenty of suspense.

Colonel Cobb (Frank Craven) is pondering this page's recommendation.

King's Message From Daventry To-morrow

CHIEF radio event of forthcoming week will be broadcast through Daventry to-morrow of King's Message to Empire, mentioned elsewhere on this page. King's speech will commence at approximately midnight; will be of uncertain duration. Will be preceded by special musical broadcast, interspersed by announcements every ten minutes. ZBW relays original broadcast at midnight to-morrow; transcription at 9.25 p.m. Monday night.

Back to past week to record appreciation of two outstanding broadcasts. Chief was that of Helen Lockhart, whose deep, rich contralto was heard for first time in many months last night. Mrs. Lockhart's return to Colony is great boost for ZBW, who should make every effort to please listeners by asking her to again become regular artist.

BEGINNING of big things seen in broadcast last Wednesday night of ZBW Dance Band. Studio orchestra often been mooted at ZBW, never accomplished until this week. It will be a regular feature, augmented as time goes on. Should be decided asset.

Next week will be quiet one in ZBW studio, where announcers will have little company. Outstanding broadcasts scheduled for next seven days are relays from Daventry, chief of which is to-morrow's. Much of tonight's programme will also be taken up with Daventry relays in connection with Dewi Sant's Day (St. David to you!). Dewi Sant is to Taffy what St. Andrew is to MacWhirter, but there are important differences. The farther the Scot gets from his native heath, the more fervently he celebrates his national day; Taffy, on the other hand, celebrates his national day quite as enthusiastically in Wales as in any other part of the world.

Since March 1 falls this year on Sunday, celebrations are being held to-day. St. David's Ball has been cancelled in Hongkong for first time in many years, due to death of King George V. But Daventry is putting over ambitious programme. Keynote will be Wales in action, Welsh music, Welsh literature, Welsh industries, Welsh youth.

Two studio items are scheduled from ZBW studio on Wednesday. First is jazz piano recital by imitator Bill Cameron; second is recital of Russian songs by Maria Moskalenko, whose soprano pleased listeners greatly on her first mike appearance short while ago.

Two of ZBW's leading behind-the-scenes personalities have booked passages by luxury liner Empress of Britain next month. They are Mr. M. J. Breen, Postmaster General, Mr. G. Madgwick, Engineer, P.W.D., both off on leave. To Mr. Breen goes most of kudos for present non-technical efficiency of local broadcasting; to Mr. Madgwick equal kudos for technical side.

Purpose of departures is Home Leave. Both holidays will be bumper type, because both are going to investigate broadcasting in United States, Unitingdom, elsewhere. They will return in time to see ZBW's new 2 k.w. transmitter take the air in October or so, and will almost definitely bring back lots of suggestions for improvement of local broadcasting, already at high level through their enthusiasm.

Social Activities

MAKE YOUR BOY FRIEND YOUR GUEST TO-NIGHT

TO-DAY is big day in feminine world—it happens just once in every four years.

If you see a lot of announcements of engagements in to-morrow's papers, if price of diamonds go up, blame Saturday, February 25.

Local girls judging by bookings at Gripps, have avidly seized upon idea, suggested in this page a month ago, of reversing ordinary procedure, taking boy friends out instead of vice versa.

Because negotiations with entertainers in Shanghai fell through at last minute, Gripps were unable to arrange for cabaret items for to-night's gala. But what you'll lose in entertainment will be made up by fun and frolic. Bands are all perked up for occasion, chef has made supreme effort and it's just the weather for dancing.

In addition to the numerous private Leap Year Day parties, four public functions are advertised for to-night. First and foremost, of course, is the Gripps and Peninsula, rendezvous of the upper 800.

K.C.C., always purveyors of bright entertainment, are holding a Gala Dance, while a Plain and Fancy Dress Carnival is scheduled at the China Fleet Club Theatre. St. Andrew's Hall will be scene of social gathering, proceeds of which will go to charity.

EUROPEAN Y.M.C.A. is proceeding quietly with arrangements for International Night next month. It will be one big splash to end winter season, and promises to be jolliest evening Y.M.C.A. have attempted for many moons. Noticeable in Y.M.C.A. functions lately is absence of bickering, cliques that once threatened to wreck all social activities. These days the Women's Section works in with the men and good time is had by all.

AUSTRALIANS Enzedders, are polishing up floor of Association Rooms in Gloucester Building in preparation for dance and social on March 12, when President Dr. H. D. Matthews will be farewell. Opportunity will be taken at same function to farewell Mrs. Miss Ingram, leaving for Australia, welcome Harold Brokenbush, one of the founders, just returned from South.

FOR GRAMOFANS

Gripping—King—George's last broadcast, at Christmas last year when he gave his message to the Empire. It preceded his death by four weeks. Published by H.M.V.

Serious: Mr. Baldwin's moving oration on the King's death—broadcast on January 21—now published in "His Majesty's Voice" records. It occupies six large sides. Profits from records go to charity.

Funny: Stage dialogue for the gramophone is a risky adventure. Noel Coward has put two of his "Tonight at 8.30" double-triplets on to H.M.V. records, one excerpt falls, the other is gloriously funny.

"Red Peppers" (H.M.V. C2815) is a dialogue between two of the kind of musical performers you love best—the fifth-rate ones. Gertrude Lawrence and Coward cracking such jokes as "That wasn't no lady—that was my wife."

"Shadow Play" is not so successful (H.M.V. C2186).

Tiny islands of our Empire Will hear their new King

THE King's voice when he broadcasts to-morrow will be heard by many more people than were able to hear the voice of his father two or three years ago.

Radio develops fast on the outposts of Empire. In twelve months places that were cut off from all communication with the civilised globe have been brought into contact with it. New radio stations have been opened; more powerful amplifiers employed.

Now the voice of the new monarch of an island race can reach his vast Empire of islands in the Pacific, the Atlantic and Indian Oceans.

For example: The descendants of the crew of the Bounty who mutinied in the reign of George III, will listen in. Eighteen members of that crew—the non-mutineers—were put off in a longboat and travelled 4,000 miles before they were picked up. In the end the mutineers settled on Pitcairn Island. The last of the Bounty's crew, John Adams, died there in 1829, but the tradition of loyalty to the flag is carried on.

Our Empire of islands does not station which has been rehabilitated consist of little stretches of ground cut. New Zealand now administers like the Isle of Man. There is New Nauru. The Germans there are few and far between, and the other inhabitants have long fallen under the spell of the English language.

This radio station, originally intended to flash the messages of the Kaiser to his marauding cruisers in the Pacific in 1914, will in 1936 be harnessed to hear the voice of King Edward.

There soldiers from Fort St. George and sailors from Fort Hamilton will gather with the coloured populace outside the white terraces of Government House to hear the voice of the King—through the powerful Admiralty aerial.

Not far from where Napoleon was laid temporarily to rest in St. Helena there now soar high above the willow trees the tall masts of the radio station. There is romance in that. The King's voice will come floating over the empty grave at Longwood, over which a Tricolour flies day and night. An Empire which is alive will speak to one that is changed.

During the Silver Jubilee year, without the firing of a shot or the sacrifice of one life, there slipped into the British Empire the ancient State of Hunza, situated on that frontier where India, China and Russia meet.

Descendant Of Alexander The Mir of Hunza claims descent from one of the captains of Alexander the Great. He has blue eyes and golden hair. His palace is stocked with Greek sculptures which Englishmen have dug out from the valleys to prove that that territory was once held in thrall by Alexander—the greatest figure of the ancient world.

Since Britain took control for strategic reasons last May a radio station has been erected. The voice of the new King will reach over the Himalayan snows, to the new outpost of the British Empire, a half-dozen Britons, surrounded by Mongolian coolies, will wait—and there is a powerful German radio listen.

They Passed The Hat Round The Gilbert and Ellice Islands, also in the Pacific, recently passed the hat round and sent the home country a contribution of about £150 for strengthening the Royal Navy. Fifty years ago the father of our new King, then a cadet aboard the Bacchante, visited these remote domains of his grandmother, Queen Victoria.

In Nauru, in the Samoan group, there is a powerful German radio listen.

About

The Lack Of British Films

HAVE been deeply interested in your Entertainment Page, especially "First Night's" comments from time to time on films.

On the whole, Hongkong is quite well served with pictures; we seem to be getting more up-to-date films than ever before.

But what about a few more British pictures, especially those in which Tom Walls and Ralph Lynn appear? It's a long time since we've seen the Aldwych Players on the screen locally. After all, Hongkong is a British Colony. So what about it?

And let me make a plea for more Nature Study shorts. Occasionally we get one or two worked into local programmes, but not nearly enough. One that I saw the other day, entitled "Neptune's Mysteries," depicting really marvellous under-sea life, was most entertaining and instructive. The same is true of another which showed the strange little creatures which came to life after a whisp of straw had been placed in a tumbler of water. This type of film is of marked educational value. Can't we have more of them?—FILM FAN.

Clara Butt Records

ZBW should watch the passing of the great; take a leaf from Daventry's programme. Fine opportunity for recital of recordings was missed when Dame Clara Butt died last week—even now I am hoping that we can hear some of her records. Similarly, when Rudyard Kipling died, surely someone could have given a recital of some of his works.—J.M.

4-piece Knitted Outfit

Jumper, Cap, Scarf and Handbag

THIS smart jumper, cap, scarf and handbag set, is the latest design from London. The jumper is knitted throughout in plain black, with broken stripes darned in afterwards. The stripes could be in white, mauve or silver grey. The colours are reversed in the scarf, cap and handbag, black wool being used for the darned stripes on a background of the plain contrasting colour.

In the illustrations the jumper is shown knitted in white with black stripes and the necessities reversed. Garter stitch is used throughout, that is, plain knitting for each row. When each section of the work is cast off, however, a stitch is dropped at regular intervals. This dropped stitch will run right down to the beginning of the work—just like a ladder in a silk stocking—and into these "ladders" the coloured stripe is darned.

JUMPER

BEGIN the front at lower edge, cast on 63 st in black wool, work in garter stitch. Cast on 1 st at beginning and end at the following rows: 77th, 93rd, 107th, 125th row. Work straight up to 156th row without casting on. 157th row: Begin the armhole (drop every 7th st when casting off). Cast off 4 st; 158th row: Cast on 4 st; 159th row: Cast off 1 st at beginning and end. Then work straight up to 163rd row without casting off.

Then cast off all st, but note that every 7th st is to be dropped to allow threads where the stripe will be darned. Darn with a double thread of white wool up and down the rows of dropped stitches, 5 times in all.

HIDDEN NAMES PUZZLE

Home Cinema and Mickey Mouse Films As Prize For Boy or Girl - Who Finds Eleven Countries

HERE is a competition for Hongkong boys and girls. It is a new names puzzle. It is not very difficult and all boys and girls not over 14 may send in. The prize for the correct and nearest entry will be a splendid Home Cinema, complete with film. Age will be taken into account when making the award. You have to make the names of eleven countries in Europe out of the letters on the little flags shown. Use any flag, but once only in each name. The map is a guide for you.

ENGLAND gives you a start. Can you make Italy or Germany, and so on, from the letters given? Having found the eleven names—or as many as you can—write them in a neat list on a postcard, adding your name, age and address underneath. Post it to arrive by next Wednesday.

All cards must be Juniors' own unaided work; Uncle Eddie's decision is final.

Send your entry on a postcard to: "Uncle Eddie," Care of Hongkong Telegraph, Wyndham Street.

WOUNDED DOG

by John Woodward

IN the healthy dog, slight bites or wounds usually heal quickly; but his own licking is not sufficient treatment. This, like so many theories about dogs, is an old wives' tale.

Surrounding hair should first be clipped with scissors, in case it is the cause of irritation or even poisoning. If the wound is clean, tincture of iodine should be applied without previous washing; otherwise it should be bathed with anti-septic solution—iodine in water, boracic, or peroxide of hydrogen—in such a way that grit or dust is carried off by the flow of the liquid.

To rub or dab is unprofessional and inadequate. Excessive bleeding can be staunched with a pad of cotton-wool, soaked in the solution.

If a bandage is needed, common sense will point the way to apply it, tightly enough but not too tightly. For subsequent daily treatment, boracic powder is useful; or a healing dressing may be made of boracic and zinc ointments, mixed in equal parts.

A cut foot must be examined with care, and pieces of broken glass, splinters or thorns removed. A tight bandage round the leg helps to stop the bleeding; and after the foot has been dressed a protective "boot," made in the form of a small bag, should be tied round the leg.

In the case of a torn ear-flap, another common mishap, the edges of the wound should be held together with medicated plaster. A special collar, like an Elizabethan ruff, can be bought, or made out of cardboard, and will prevent the dog from scratching his ears or any head wound.

For burns or scalds, caron oil is a good remedy; or a paste of bicarbonate of soda and water. When there is nothing else available, flour can be spread thickly over the injured part.

Is Your Name CHRISTINA?

Symbol: A Roman maiden chained to a stone pillar.

THE inner meaning of this name is contempt of danger, fearless truth, nobility of character.

Thursday promises you good fortune if your name is Christina, and luck favours you most at the hour of noon. The luckiest day of the month is the 21st.

Cream and saxe blue are the colours that belong to you; they interpret your personality better than any others.

The topaz is the gem assigned to you; it protects you from slander and enmity.

The tall hollyhock is your special flower; its grace and dignity accord well with the meaning of your name.

Your lucky number is three.

Y.M.C.A. FIRESIDE DISCUSSION

Professor Robertson to Speak Next Week

The European Y.M.C.A. will resume discussion of the subject "Is the World Afloat?" on Wednesday evening next, March 4, and this time it will be taken from the point of view of Finance and Economics.

The Literary and Debating Society, under whose auspices the series is being conducted, have been fortunate in securing the services of Professor R. Robertson, Professor of Economics at the Hongkong University, who will open the discussion.

This is the third meeting of the series, and it is hoped there will be a good attendance on Wednesday evening as it is felt this is one of the most important aspects of the subject under review. The discussion will take place in the reading room and is open to all male members of the Y.M.C.A.

On Wednesday, March 18, Professor L. Forster of the Hongkong University will lead the discussion on Education, the fourth aspect of the series, and the subject will be concluded on April 8, when the Rev. J. D. McCann will lead a debate on the Religious and Social point of view.

and hit the tower itself. The speed at which some of these birds travel towards a lighthouse lantern may be gathered from the fact that a few years ago a wild duck of the Scoter species came through the lantern at Hyslop Light. The triangular-shaped pane of glass is three-eighths of an inch thick, and no part of it is more than ten and a half inches from an astragal. The wild duck was picked up at the foot of the lantern with its throat cut.

The toll of these birds of passage is often enormous. In one night, at the South Lighthouse on the Fair Isle, which lies between the Orkneys and the Shetlands, over 800 birds were killed. Among these were 500 song thrushes and redwings, 100 fieldfares, and 100 blackbirds. On the same night a similar number of birds were killed at the North Lighthouse on Fair Isle. At Skerryvore and Skerryvore Lighthouse thousands of birds have been known to crash in a single night. At Skerryvore the birds frequently hit the front door, which is thirty feet out, the tower. On the other hand, many lighthouses, which are situated outwith the migration routes, are immune from the nightly hail of feathered migrants.

Despite these casualties, the number of birds shows no sign of decreasing. Through wind and rain, daylight and darkness, the survivors continue to make their annual pilgrimage to and from their nesting-places, and the lighthouse lantern is but a milestone in their long journeyings.

AIR-MAIL CONFLICT

CANTON HOLD PLANE

Canton, Feb. 28. The Canton authorities have blocked the Shanghai-Europe Air-mail Service by holding the aeroplane leaving for Hanoi to link with the French line for Marseilles.

The Canton-Hanoi service is operated by the China National Aviation Corporation, owned forty-five per cent by the Pan-American Airways while Canton wants the service to be run by its own commercial planes for Hanoi via Lanchow on the Kwangsi-Annam frontier.—Special.

It will be recalled that the first flight by an aeroplane of the China National Aviation Corporation was made a week or two ago, but the twin-motored plane went no further than Fort Bayard had weather defeating it. The delay there had made it inexpedient for the machine to continue the trip to Hanoi and the mails were sent to Canton by the same machine. The mails went from Canton to Europe by steamer.

Canton Action. Canton, Feb. 28. The China Aviation plane "Fukien," which arrived here yesterday carrying full load of mails for Hanoi, was detained yesterday at Tai Sha Tau Aerodrome by the local Authority here, pending settlement of the outstanding dispute between the China Aviation Corporation and South-west Civil Aviation Company in Canton.

The China Aviation has recently obtained Nanking Government consent to run the airway between here and Hanoi, but the arrangement was opposed by the South-west Civil Aviation Company. The latter company claims that the former is a Sino-American organisation, and should not operate the Canton-Hanoi line.—Wah Kiu Yat Po.

We are informed that the plane was held by the officials of the Bureau of Public Safety.

Knowledge of this was denied by the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs.

THIS WEEK'S FIXTURES AND NEXT WEEK'S DOINGS

ALL NIGHT SITTING DELAYS BUSINESS

London, Feb. 28. The House of Commons held an all night sitting which started at 2.45 p.m. yesterday afternoon and finished about noon to-day. Thus the sitting lasted about 22 hours.

Four women members sat through the meeting. This prolonged sitting will mean that programme arranged for to-day will be dropped.—Reuter's Bulletin.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

MARKET DOWNWARD YESTERDAY

New York, Feb. 28. Swan, Culbertson & Fritz Wall Street Journal comment on Friday's market:—"Two of the leading airline companies are likely to seek additional capital after this year. New York bankers approve of the new currency regulations restricting bank investments. Many Wall Street traders are withholding commitments, pending an announcement of a delayed tax programme by the Administration. It is couched that raw rubber prices are likely to advance. Wall Street expects that steel mill operations will reach 65 per cent of capacity before this Summer. Brokers believe that more companies will split up their stocks, following the National Lead Company's example."

S. C. & P. New York office cables: "Stocks: The market met with renewed offerings, but showed a firm tone, but we expect further irregularity. Pittsburgh scrap prices have advanced another 25 cents to $15.50 to $16.00 per ton. There is some talk of an advance in finished steel prices in the next quarter. Bank Clearings are up 8.5 per cent."

Cotton: The impending movement of the Brazilian crop and the question regarding the disposal of Government holdings are restraining influence. Forwardings to mills during the past week amounted 239,000 bales, against 241,000 bales last week.

Wheat: The absence of any definite damage is nullifying the effect of crop scares news, which is more moderate to-day. As from March 1st, the market hours will be from 9.30 a.m. to 1.15 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

Rubber: The market is fully steady in anticipation of a settlement of the Goodyear Tyre Company's strike. Dutch exports during January totalled 20,252 tons. It is estimated that the English stocks will show an increase of 550 tons this week up 8.5 per cent.

Swan, Culbertson & Fritz Wall Street Journal comment on yesterday's market:—"The market to-day was downward on President Roosevelt's tax proposals. Montgomery Ward's dividend is only 20 cents per share, instead of the anticipated $1 dividend. The market was steady until late in the session when there was a deluge of selling orders. Copper advanced, whilst oils were irregular. Utility securities resisted selling until late in the day, but forecasts that March operations will be from 60 to 70 per cent of capacity. Railroad equipment shares and some specialties were strong. Railroad stocks were down on a reduction in fares and lower earnings. In the market for bonds, Government and United States Government issues were firm. Stocks on the Curb Exchange were irregular and subjected to selling late in the session."

INCREASED TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP ENTRIES

SERVICES WELL REPRESENTED

DRAW FOR BOTH TITLES

(By "Veritas")

Fifty nine players will participate in the Hongkong open lawn tennis singles championship which starts next month at the H.K.C.C., while 32 couples have entered in the open doubles championship. This is a big improvement on last year when the entries numbered only 46 in the singles and 24 in the doubles.

It is interesting to note how the number of participants have fluctuated over the last nine years. Here are the figures from 1920 to 1936 inclusive.

| | Singles | Doubles |
|------|---------|---------|
| 1927 | 54 | 35 |
| 1928 | 44 | 33 |
| 1929 | 48 | 32 |
| 1930 | 52 | 31 |
| 1931 | 60 | 49 |
| 1932 | 82 | 44 |
| 1933 | 58 | 32 |
| 1934 | 60 | 31 |
| 1935 | 46 | 24 |
| 1936 | 59 | 32 |

Over a dozen players who did not compete last year have entered for the current tournament. They include N.A.E. Mackay, Supr-Comdr. Grant, Wing-Comdr. Bishop, Lt. Comdr. Conway, S. Ling, R. A. Philimore, Capt. Craig, Maj. Nal-kwong, P. R. Zimmerman, Capt. Milne, I.M.A. Razack, Capt. Welch, Lai Kwong-tsun and Wei Chun-tung.

Notable absentees are Ho Ka-lau, who is temporarily in Shanghai and G.H.M. Ricketta, last year's finalist.

NEW DOUBLES COMBINATION

Several new doubles pairs are taking part. The former E. C. Fincher-L. Goldman combination is broken up, Fincher teaming with W. C. Hung and Goldman with Alec Pearce.

An interesting combination is that of Lai Kwong-tsun (Canton champion) and Paul Kung, former Shanghai Interceptor and erstwhile Davis Cupper.

The Rumjahn cousins are again defending their title, and may run up against serious opposition in either Lai and Kung, Fincher and Hung, or Leo Wai-tong and Luk Ding-chung. The Leo brothers are competing again, while M. W. Lo is entered for the singles and meets S. Ling in the first round.

I hope to write a full analysis of the draw later. In the meantime the draw, made yesterday, is as follows.

OPEN SINGLES

South Africa Make A Shaky Start

Durban, Feb. 28. South Africa did not do well today when the fifth and final Test match against Australia was started under a sunless sky.

South Africa won the toss and batted first, the close of play finding them with 199 runs on the board for the loss of eight wickets.

Charlie Grimmett bowled wonderfully well and had the batsmen all tied up. So far he has claimed seven of the eight wickets.

Only A. D. Nourse faced the attack confidently and he collected a very useful half century.

Osmund In His Best Form

FINE BILLIARDS

A. J. Osmund played brilliant billiards at the Kowloon Cricket Club last evening to beat Yan Cham-pong in the quarter-final of the Colony open billiard championship by 500 to 261.

Evidently very respectful of his opponent, Osmund concentrated on a faultless game and by clever safety tactics and exceptionally fine positional and stroke play, ran out a comfortable winner.

Osmund was continually making interesting breaks, his best being 80, 67, 71, 44, 61, 33, and 33, the latter taking him to his points.

Lam, always struggling to extricate himself from difficult positions, could chalk up only 48 as his best break.

RAKUSAN WINS TITLE

Beats Phillips In K.C.C. Final

N. Rakusan won the Kowloon Cricket Club senior billiards championship yesterday when he defeated R. P. Phillips in the final by 400 to 206.

Rakusan played very confidently and quickly established a lengthy lead, which Phillips, by dint of consistent though not very big scoring, managed to cut in half before the match finished.

Rakusan's best break was 44, but he also chalked up a 40, 37 and 31. Unfinished. Phillips' best break was 26.

The final of the club's junior championship has yet to be played, the contestants being M. Pagh and F. E. Lawrence.

GERMANY BEATS SPAIN

IN SOCCER MATCH

Barcelona, Feb. 28. At the second international football match between Germany and Spain, played this afternoon at the Montjuich Stadium, Germany won by 2-1, thus avenging her defeat in the first match. The vast stadium which holds about 70,000 spectators was sold out entirely. Enthusiasm of the spectators ran high from the very beginning as they followed the swift play. Both goals for Germany were kicked by the outside left, Peth, the smallest man in the German team.

Oxford beat Cambridge by 6-5 in lacrosse in the annual inter-varsity match, but Cambridge beat Oxford by 778 points to 770 in the miniature rifle match. Reuter's Bulletin.

Fred Perry To Train With The Arsenal

Fred Perry, Wimbledon lawn tennis champion, is making a good recovery from his recent back injury and is expected to accept an offer to train with the Arsenal football players at Highbury.

He was at an Arsenal match recently, and was afterwards told that the club would be pleased to have him with them when training if he cared to avail himself of their facilities.

He is still undergoing treatment for his injury, but will probably be able to go to the Arsenal ground to do some running and light exercises in the immediate future.

DAVIS CUP DRAW

AND DATES FOR PLAYING

(By H. S. Scriveners)

London, Feb. 4. For the first time in history the draw for this year's Davis Cup competition was made at the Mansion House yesterday, where the Lord Mayor presided over the proceedings. Sir Samuel Hoare, President of the Lawn Tennis Association, was not present, and in a letter from Switzerland apologising for his absence wrote: "My doctor wishes me to have a somewhat longer rest." Thus the draw was made with due ceremony by the leading citizen of the capital of the country to which the game owes its origin.

Germany's winners last year, for the third time since 1929, of the European group, meeting amongst others Australia in the semi-final and Czechoslovakia in the final, claim early attention. They are in the lower half of the draw and meet Spain, who have a great asset in that dashing but somewhat unreliable player, Maier, in the first round.

I regard the upper half of the draw, which contains France and Czechoslovakia, as rather the stronger half of the two, but it is quite within the bounds of possibility that Sweden will go far in the lower, and perhaps give the Germans their hardest match, for they have in C. Schroeder a 22-year-old player whose recent record has been most impressive.

Germany's tournament, beating, amongst others, the Frenchmen Landry, Perot, and Bousquet (now ranked No. 1 in France) as well as the Slovenian, the New Zealanders; whilst in the covered court championships of his own country, which he also won, he beat Borotra. He has also beaten the German ace, von Cramm. It may, however, be inferred that he is at his best on a covered court and not quite so formidable "outside."

THE AMERICAN GROUP

Australia this year have sought the comparative seclusion of the American group and in so doing have managed to steer clear of the United States, whom they will meet, bar accidents, in the final of a draw which only contains four entries.

Great Britain scores through being already in the challenge round. The Americans and Australians are not badly off in having only three matches to play in order to get there. Nations of renown who are not in the lists this year are Japan and South Africa, whilst it is worth noting that Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia have drawn (Continued on Page 9.)

Manila Plans Horse Racing Next June

Manila, Feb. 24. A $500,000 corporation has been formed under the name of the Philippine Racing Club to promote horse-racing in the Philippines. Purchase of a large tract of land for the new track has been negotiated by the club's organisers, who include some of Manila's most prominent American business men. The site of the track will be just outside Manila, in Rizal province, along the banks of the Pasig River, in San Pedro Makati district.

Actual operation by June is the goal of the corporation which at present is engaged in letting contracts for filling, track building, erection of grandstands, etc. Plans call for the construction of a strictly modern track, including a grandstand of reinforced concrete accommodating several thousand people; stables for several hundred horses, and accommodation for trainers.

Tracks in other Far Eastern countries, including China, Japan, the Federated Malay States and Java, have been studied in making plans for the new track. The San Lazaro Hippodrome, located in the city itself, at present is the only race track in Manila, and vicinity. Races are held here on the first Sunday of each month and on all legal holidays.

LUM'S LAST GAME

COMFORTABLE WIN FOR C.R.C.

Gordon Lum last night played what he expects will be his last badminton match in Hongkong before returning to Shanghai next week when he and Mrs. Lum won three games for Chinese Recreation Club against Kowloon Tong in the mixed doubles.

C.R.C., who were the visitors, enjoyed an easy win, securing all nine games at stake. Detailed scores follow.

P. C. Leung and Miss Anderson (Kowloon Tong) lost to Gordon Lum and Mrs. Lum 4-21; lost to S. P. Chan and Miss W. Cheung 1-21; lost to S. W. Liang and Miss U. Khoo 4-21. S. A. Gray and Miss Alison MacKenzie (Kowloon Tong) lost to Lum and Lum 6-21; lost to Chan and Cheung 14-21; lost to Liang and Khoo 12-21.

G. A. White and Miss I. Woolley (Kowloon Tong) lost to Lum and Lum 0-21; lost to Chan and Cheung 3-21; lost to Liang and Khoo 1-21.

JAPAN HAS A RIVAL IN FINLAND

Venue of 1940 Olympic Games is Disputed

Tokyo, Feb. 28. Finland is Japan's chief rival for the venue of the 1940 Olympic Games, according to a report received today by the Japanese Olympic Committee. The Helsinki authorities, the report added, have already secured strong support among small powers, which cannot afford to expend large sums for the transportation of their teams to Japan, should Tokyo be chosen as the site of the Games.

Officials of the Japanese organisation said that they would try to persuade Count Baillet-Latour, President of the International Olympic Committee, who will arrive in Japan on a visit next month, of the advisability of awarding the 1940 Olympiad to Tokyo.

The first meeting of the special committee which will take charge of activities aiming at bringing the Games to this country will be held early next month, when it will receive reports of its various sub-committees. The final decision on the venue of the Games will be made in July, when the International Olympic Committee meets in Berlin.

K.I.T.C. HOCKEY TEAM

The following will represent the Kowloon Indian Tennis Club in a Mamak League hockey match against the Police tomorrow at 3 o'clock. Team: Karnal Singh (Captain) and Kishan Singh, J. Noronha, Tara Ghosh and Perera; D. Noronha, A. Khan, Awtar Singh, Pinto and Souza.

TOMMY FARR BEATS LOUGHRAN

Tommy Farr, hard-punching British heavyweight boxer, is having trouble landing with any regularity upon the torso of Tommy Loughran, polished American boxer and former light-heavyweight champion of the world. Loughran, though ageing, is still one of the ring's cleverest boxers, and used all his cunning to hold Farr off. Farr was given the decision in the bout fought in Albert Hall, London.

FALSE COUNTS TO VANISH FROM THE RING

By New Timing Device

Sacramento, Cal.

Long counts will vanish from the prize fight ring if every club and arena adopts an automatic timing device which has been perfected by two Sacramento men.

The instrument not only times the rounds and rest periods and rings the gong at the start and finish of each round, but automatically records the seconds—in lights—when a referee tells off the knockdown count. The official timer may operate the instrument by means of a button and need not take his eyes off the fight to keep them glued on a stopwatch.

TIMER PRESS BUTTON

A push button operating the knockdown indicator is the only manual control in the three-piece device. The knockdown timer is driven by a synchronous motor similar to the type used in fine electric clocks. The button connects a mechanism that lights a series of numbers from one to 10 at one-second intervals.

When a fighter is "knocked down," the official timekeeper needs only to press the button and hold it down until the fighter rises. For each second the fighter is down, a number is illuminated in an upright sign placed near the ring so that all in the arena may see it. 10 seconds elapse, the number 10 flashes red, denoting a knockout, and the timer automatically stops, thus giving the exact time the fight ended.

LIGHTS TELL STORY

Should the fighter rise to his feet before 10 seconds have been tolled, the timekeeper releases the button, and the lights go out. The timer is another synchronous motor that records rounds and rest periods. A bell sounds the start of the fight.

PROFESSOR HEADS OLYMPIC SPORTS SCHOOL

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 28. Prof. Seward C. Staley, of the University of Illinois Department of Physical Education, will conduct an International Sports Education Conference in Germany this summer during the Olympic Games.

Staley was selected as the head of the conference upon the recommendation of the American Physical Education Society.

Professional physical education students will take part in the conference. Approximately 30 persons from each of the 25 nations competing in the games will attend, Staley said. The American party will sail July 15, with the American Olympic team, meeting delegations of other countries at the German border. The assembled conference then will proceed to Berlin, where study will begin.

Germany is bearing the expense of the entire conference and its participants.

Argonauts
Of North PointPREPARING TO MAKE HISTORY

Hongkong is rapidly becoming a centre of physical culture. 'Santitas' instructs us regularly how to preserve our bodily health and vigour—leagues of Health and Beauty flourish—tailors are working overtime on Jodphor-enthusiasts are legion. Rosy cheeks and manly figures thrust themselves before our eyes from ferry, train, bus and hoarding, proclaiming the sovereign powers of health-giving vitamins when taken in synthetic form.

But there has been a lamentable omission.
Unaccustomed as we are to wielding pen or pencil, yet we feel impelled by a sense of duty to all who grow soft, pallid, and harassed on office stools, offer the true solution. No longer need our tailor wrestle with buckram and wads of cotton wool for we have discovered the real secret of the healthy life—in short we have been initiated in the art of rowing.

At 5 p.m. we do not adjourn to "Grip" or the club—but don singlets and caps at the R.H.K. Yacht Club and from there, "sitting well in order, smile the sounding furrows" to Lymanun—and back!

The devotee of the oar forewears late nights and binges. At least three evenings per week, he don singlets of North Point shoulder the well-turned blade and march (literally nowadays) to the slip-way. However we are well-rewarded. All the toxins of the day ooze gratefully from our sun-bronzed bodies and all the blan-phemy, so well-bottled for hours, is sublimated into nullifying power and expelled on the tide.

SUCH AS HAS NEVER BEEN SEEN
Our merits, so tardily acknowledged, have been recognised in some quarters.
Certain lords of shipping, conscious of their difficulty in navigating narrow gangs and having a horror of the pear-shaped silhouette, have determined to rid themselves of this too-solid flesh by struggling to wrest the Hornell Challenge Cup from the bravest arms of the Hongkong Electric Ornamen.

The Navy, hoping for better results with the oar than the tiller, and inspired no doubt by the performance of the crew of the Bounty in the Doldrums, have entered four crews.

Great will be the competition to win and all the 4th Submarine Flotilla Cup.

Then there will be the exhibitionists, sweaty by in pairs, and so we mount to the Hercules and Jason of our stalwart crews, who will give an exhibition such as Hongkong has never seen.

Come then to North Point where the spirit of the Argonauts lingers and a performance from the past! Seize your unique opportunity of witnessing these young Spartans. Now that your pride in Hongkong regatta lies in the mud and since your "certain winners" at Happy Valley are still struggling in the same element, we cordially invite you to board a launch at 5 p.m. on Saturday March 7 and gaze in admiration at four pairs and sculls—the envy of any Oxford Conch.

The basketball style that features the "set" play, dependent upon timing and skilled ball handling, is not ready to give way to the "fire department style" of his and miss, according to Dr. P. C. "Phog" Allen of the University of Kansas.

Dr. Allen, one of the nation's most successful basketball coaches, asserted the "set" play, rather than passing on, is growing in use.

"High school boys have played the game for a long time without regard to the fundamentals of ball handling," he said. "Now they are beginning to learn the principles.
Set plays are dependent upon these principles. Timing is the basis of all successful team play, whether it is basketball, football or other team games."

Glenn E. Jacobs, coach of the Denver team in the Missouri Valley
A.A.U. League, likes the "fire department" game better, however, and feels it holds a greater appeal to the fans with its faster tempo and long shots.

METHOD TO DETECT SUBSTITUTIONSystem Of Identifying Race Horses

Lyons, Feb. 23.
Under the direction of Dr. Locard, the technical laboratories at police headquarters in Lyons are perfecting a formula by which the substitution of race horses in order illegally to influence the outcome of racing contests can be detected.

It involves the photographing of the surface veins of the animal, never the same in any two individuals.

Dr. Locard worked first on the theory of photographing the eye retina of each horse, but what he calls the "Retinogramme" is a costly and difficult process. He also considered taking the imprint of the tiny wrinkles in the horses' nose, a system analogous to the digital imprints already in use to identify valuable dogs and cattle.

He believes now, however, that the theory of venous photography will prove most practical. The veins of the eye, either of the conjunctiva or the external eye, will permit of rapid examination and their comparison with records, taken in advance, will permit the authorities to determine whether or not a substitution has been made on the race track.

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

We have had Lawrence Tibbett, Lily Pons, Everett Marshall, Mary Ellis and Nino Martini as recruits from the Metropolitan Opera to motion pictures, and now comes the glorious voice of Gladys Swarthout who may be seen and heard (and heard, and heard, and heard!) in Paramount's "Rose of The Rancho," which opened yesterday at the Queen's Theatre. Miss Swarthout, who is as lovely to look at as she is lovely to hear, plays the daughter of a wealthy Spanish family. John Boles is co-starred with Miss Swarthout in her motion picture debut and this makes a happy combination. Boles with his rugged yet suave handsomeness, and his own claim to distinction as a singer, is the perfect match for Miss Swarthout. This picture also represents an entirely new technique in screen musicals. Hitherto motion picture producers have been somewhat baffled by the difficulty of presenting songs without slowing up the story, but Composers Ralph Rainger and Robin have overcome this problem. They wrote the songs to be in direct with the dialogue. The music becomes a natural extension of the lines. A new comedy team, Willie Howard and Herb Williams, both prominent for years on Broadway and in vaudeville, takes care of the lighter moments in the film and their boys perform with such a degree of finesse that their future as a motion picture team is above doubt. Mention also must be made of Grace Bradley, the saloon character who helps Willie Howard lose his cash. H. B. Warner, the kindly old Don Castro, father of Rosita, Charlotte Granville, as Donna Petrona and Don Alvarado as Don Luis, affianced to Rosita.

"Barbary Coast"

There is enough colour for a hundred novels in the real lives of the men who play the "Vigilantes," miners, gamblers and bar-tenders in "Barbary Coast," Samuel Goldwyn's colourful drama of America's last frontier of emotions, which is now showing at the King's Theatre, with Miriam Hopkins, Edward G. Robinson and Joel McCrea in the leading roles. To get the greatest accuracy and realism into their picture, producer Goldwyn and Director Howard Hawks secured for these roles as many men as possible with such experience in their careers. The result was one of the most unusual collections of characters ever seen in a single motion picture. One of the gamblers began his career being a faro table in Yuma, Arizona; another was a Tombstone, Arizona, sheriff's deputy; still another sat as "lookout" at the games in the saloon of his father, a famous faro dealer, who came west in 1863, and the bartender actually tended bar on the real Barbary Coast in the early 1900's. Miriam Hopkins has her most spectacular role as Swan, a beautiful girl grown hard, cold and bitter behind the roulette wheel of the Belle Dame casino. Edward G. Robinson plays the ruthless and jealous Chamallas, who runs the place and Joel McCrea is seen as Jim Carmichael, a fine, clean-cut young gold miner who wanders into Swan's life and by his love transforms her. Charles MacArthur and Ben Hecht wrote the screenplay of "Barbary Coast," while Howard Hawks handled the megaphone. The film is released through United Artists.

"Whipsaw"

Girls! If you would capture the attention of Spencer Tracy, virile screen star, you must be an alluring combination of Jean Harlow, Virginia Bruce and Myrna Loy. Tracy's "ideal woman," as he described her recently to an interviewer in Hollywood, must possess the same Harlow's sensuousness, Virginia Bruce's softness, Myrna Loy's sense of humour. "What a wife she would make for any man!" mused Tracy, contemplating the charms of his mythical ideal.

CHARITY FUNDS

ST. JOHN AMBULANCE APPEAL RESPONSE

The St. John Ambulance Brigade gratefully acknowledges the following donation:

Mr. H. H. Beddow, $10.
Street Sleepers' Shelter Society

The following is a report of the number of sleepers who occupied the shelters during the seven nights (February 21 to February 27 inclusive):

St. Peter's (West Point).—Capacity 120, total sleepers 903; turned away 23.

Po-Yan Street (Central).—Capacity 168, total sleepers 1,120, turned away 24.

Nathan Road (Kowloon).—Capacity 160, total sleepers 1,003, turned away 6.

The capacity of all three shelters is again overtaxed.

The star confessed, however, that if he had to sacrifice two of the qualities he thinks the perfect woman should possess, he would retain the Loy-ish sense of humour. He has just completed his first co-starring picture with Miss Loy, "Whipsaw," new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature directed by Sam Wood, and opening on Sunday at the Alhambra Theatre. With the stars in the feature is a notable cast including Harvey Stephens, William Harrigan, John Qualen, Robert Warwick, Irene Franklin, Lillian Leighton, Wade Boteler, William Ingersoll and others.

"The Nitwits"

Hilarious comedy, thrilling mystery suspense and catchy music are expertly combined in "The Nitwits," Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey's new starring comedy, coming tomorrow to the Star Theatre. With Bert and Bob playing the title roles as amateur sleuths, the story plot deals with the mysterious slaying of a song publishing magnate of Tin Pan Alley. Imbued with determination to snare the killer and clear Wheeler's sweetheart of suspicion, the boys blunder their way into one uproarious situation after another, as well as many precarious dilemmas. Three snappy new musical numbers, "You Opened My Eyes," "Music in My Heart" and "The Black Widow Will Get You If You Don't Watch Out" add melodious variety to the fast moving production directed by George Stevens. Supporting the two comedy stars is a strong cast including Fred Keating, Betty Grable, Evelyn Brent, Erik Rhodes, Hale Hamilton, Arthur Aylesworth, Dorothy Granger and Willie Best. "The Nitwits" is an RKO Radio Picture.

"One Exciting Adventure"

When meaner, more despicable villains are made, Paul Cavanaugh will be full of them. He pursues Binnie Barnes over half of Europe in "One Exciting Adventure." He looks like the meekest, most amiable person in the world but when he decides to turn on his baser self, there is no "radio" quite as bad. As theatre audiences have learned to expect him, he is the suavest, most devastating villain of the year in "One Exciting Adventure," next change at the Queen's Theatre. From the moment he appears on the screen when his identity is still unknown, spectators will know that he is watching Binnie for no good purpose. "One Exciting Adventure" is a gay and romantic story of two of Europe's most celebrated diamond thieves. Miss Barnes appears as the most glamorous figure of the year, and Cavanaugh's is the most fascinating menace. There is a brilliant cast headed by Neil Hamilton, Eugene Paullet, Ferdinand Gottschalk, Doris Lloyd and Edward Keane.

Neglect of COMMON ILLS MAY MEAN days of suffering

WHOLE days of suffering, and in many cases weeks of anxiety and pain can be definitely avoided by the simple action of taking 'ASPRO'. When people realise what a wonderful medicine 'ASPRO' is—how it soothes pain—how it reduces feverishness, and how, after ingestion in the system, being a solvent of uric acid—an internal antiseptic—an anti-pyretic or fever reducer—and a powerful germicide, it strikes at the cause of numerous complaints, then much suffering will be avoided—much illness prevented.

ANNOUNCING An Appeal

IN AID OF

ST. JOHN AMBULANCE ASSOCIATION AND BRIGADE HONGKONG AND CHINA DISTRICT

The work and status of the ST. JOHN AMBULANCE ASSOCIATION & BRIGADE in the life of this Colony are well-known to the majority of residents, but it is not generally realised that this SOCIETY, which has no accumulated reserves, and, since the formation of the ASSOCIATION in 1833, HAS RECEIVED NO GRANT FROM PUBLIC FUNDS, is in urgent need of money to carry on its varied activities.

Always Ready In Emergency

Since the formation of the Association in Hongkong, records show that its members have rendered signal service in every outstanding happening—whether disaster, typhoon or unusual event associated with the life of the Colony. In one season, during a recent smallpox epidemic, over 400,000 people were vaccinated by members of St. John Ambulance—working day and night. Out of the Funds it has raised, Five Motor Ambulances have been purchased and loaned to the Colony. In the event of emergency, members will be called upon to supplement the requirements of the Military, Naval and Civil Authorities, but the necessary equipment cannot be purchased without cash.

THE NEW TERRITORIES MEDICAL BENEVOLENT BRANCH

is the Organisation formed by the amalgamation of the Society inaugurated by Sir Elly Kadoorie, Messrs. L. Kadoorie, Joseph, Raymond, Professor Gerrard and Dr. Arthur Woo who established Clinics at TSUEN WAN, TUEN MUN, PING SHAN and SHATIN, and the Organisation of St. John which operated centres at KAM TIN, SHEUNG SHUI, SAN TIN, FANLING, SHATAU KOK, TING KOK, and SAI KUNG.

Most of these centres continue their work and message of mercy amongst the villagers, relieving suffering, dispelling suspicion and superstition, caring for mothers and infants and instilling the principles of Hygiene, First Aid and Home Nursing, where formerly no such help was available.

"PLEASE HELP"

IT IS HOPED THAT THIS APPEAL, WHICH IS THE FIRST PUBLIC ONE MADE ON BEHALF OF THE LOCAL ORGANISATION OF ST. JOHN OF JERUSALEM, WILL NOT BE IN VAIN, AND THAT THERE WILL BE AN ENCOURAGING RESPONSE FROM THE COMMUNITY OF HONGKONG WHO HAVE NEVER FAILED TO ANSWER THE CALL—

"FOR HUMANITY"

When it is realised that as many as sixty villages exist in a single district, many situated amongst the hills far from the beaten track and accessible on foot only, the amount of labour and fatigue entailed by nurses will be appreciated.

PLEASE SEND YOUR DONATION TO—

THE DIRECTOR OF AMBULANCE ST. JOHN HEADQUARTERS, TAI HANG ROAD, OR THE General Manager 'South China Morning Post'

An exciting romance by

WILLIAMS

(FROM WHICH METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER HAS MADE A MOTION PICTURE)

THE STORY THUS FAR

Waiting for her sister Emily to graduate from Wellesley, so that she herself can enter and escape the dull, uneventful town of Carvel, Kay Brannan, petite and beautiful, reads Emily's letter in high excitement. It mentions Dane Ripley who will be visiting the Brannans in Carvel during the summer. But Emily graduates and the months pass with only apologetic letters from Dane. Kay fears that Emily will marry George Hastings, the grocer. Kay herself has secretly turned down Elmer Radford, a mechanic. But Emily takes a position as a school teacher and now Kay's great adventure is drawing near. Then the big day arrives. Kay departs for school, sorry to say goodbye to her home but happily confident of a glorious future.

CHAPTER V.

Kay met Helen Ripley during the first month of college. She had been quick to make friends, for it was easy to like Kay and hard not to; and within twenty-four hours after she was established in her room, she would live this first year in the village where many of the Freshmen were housed—she had become a part of a group which was to cling together during the two years that followed. Mary Plingham, round as an apple, with a bloom on her cheeks, was from Kansas and she had a pink perfection of good health which Kay approved delightedly. Sally Hays was a sophisticated, speaking wisely of matters which were closed for Kay in the glamour of mystery. Lucy Smith from East Harbor, Maine, was perpetually good-humored, as stalwart as a man, destined to be dominant in athletics and to be troubled by her scholastic duties through her four college years. These three and Kay became friends. But it was rare to see one of them without some one of the others in company. It was Sally Hays who brought Helen Ripley into the circle. "Helen wanted to meet you," she told Kay one evening at supper, "and I asked her to come down to-night."

"Of course," Kay agreed. Her colour heightened faintly; but her tone was pleasant enough. "Emily spoke to me about her," she confessed; and when Helen did appear, Kay greeted her with that feminine warmth which is not hypocrisy, since it decides the subject not at all. Helen kissed Kay and hugged her vigorously, and asked for Emily; and Kay, to her own surprise, liked her.

Later, when she and Helen were alone together, Kay told the other girl frankly: "You know, I was prepared to hate you, Helen. But I don't. I hope we're going to be friends all through college."

Helen asked in perplexity: "Hate me? Why? Because I made so much trouble for Emily? She was a peach about it, Kay!"

Kay shook her head. "No, because of Dane. He didn't come up to see us this summer, and Emily counted on it so. But don't you ever tell him I told you!"

"Oh, Dane!" Helen exclaimed, half contemptuously. "He's a beast, in lots of ways, Kay. I don't think he'll ever get married. He's always rushing some girl; but he never gets real chummy with anyone but married women, where he's safe. He's like a cat walking along the edge of a pond, afraid to wet his feet."

He was crazy about Emily when he was with her here; but after we got home—

"I don't see how a man could help being in love with Emily," Kay confessed. "But of course it wasn't your fault, Helen."

She found it somewhat easier, during the month that followed, to forget Dane, because he's always wrote that Ned Pastor, the new superintendent of the Power Plant, was paying Emily attention. During the Christmas holidays Kay met this young man and liked him. She and Emily talked about him for an hour before they went to sleep that night.

"He's so awfully shy and gentle," Kay commented. "I should think he'd just wilt if you ever frowned at him, Emily."

Emily nodded smilingly. "But he isn't really shy," she said. "He wasn't very well when he was a boy; so he never did anything in athletics. But he's wonderfully brilliant. Father says he's put in a number of changes at the plant that have improved things. Of course I don't understand the technical side of it; but Father likes him."

"I suppose that's why you're nice to him?" Kay suggested, teasingly; and Emily laughed and shook her head.

"No, I'm really quite fond of him," she declared. "He likes to come to supper here; and during the fall we used to drive a good deal in the evenings, after supper. He doesn't dance, and he doesn't like parties. He likes to be out of doors, so we take walks together, and things like that."

Kay, watching the older girl shrewdly, asked: "How about Dane? Have you told him? Won't he be jealous?"

"I don't hear from Dane," Emily said in a carefully careless tone. "There wasn't really anything to that. Kay, we just—liked each other in passing, that's all."

Kay touched her hand. "Honest, Emily? Doesn't hurt any more?"

"Never did," Emily assured her. "Cross my heart!"

Kay only half believed her; nevertheless, when she returned to college, she told Helen about Ned Pastor's devotion with a certain triumph and Helen cried:

"Well, I'm glad of it! It serves Dane right for being so pecky about it."

I told him when I was at home that if he had a bit of sense he'd go up and see Emily during holidays; but he said he couldn't get away. He said he'd write her a letter, though. She laughed softly. "You know, a man always gets interested if he thinks a girl likes him!"

"Emily doesn't care anything about him any more," Kay said stoutly. "I hope you didn't tell him she did. But Ned—"

"I'll bet if she were in New York or somewhere near Dane, it would be different," Helen declared; and Kay said honestly:

"Why—maybe! Her eyes were shadowed. 'Carvel's a small town, Helen; and most of the boys get jobs somewhere else, or go to college and don't come back. There aren't many available husbands there; I hope Ned marries Emily and takes her away. If he's as clever as she thinks he is, he'll be promoted to some other job pretty soon, somewhere else. The Carvel plant isn't a very important one, I suppose. And she added lightly:

"Carvel's a lovely place, and the people are nice, and I like it. But I'd die if I had to live there always!"

Helen nodded; and then Sally Hays came in and asked in a dry tone: "What are you two talking about so seriously?"

"About men, and marrying," Helen told her.

"Two entirely unrelated subjects," Sally protested. "Men don't know anything about marrying. It's women who have to attend to all that."

Helen said laughingly: "Of course, but we have to pick out a man before we can marry him."

"One's as good as another," Sally rejoined indolently. "Not much to choose, if you ask me. Men have single-track minds. Their motto is 'feeling is believing.'"

BREAKS IN TWO IN COLUMBIA RIVER

The ill-fated freighter Iowa, which ran aground on dreaded Peacock Spit, at the mouth of the Columbia River, in a 90-mile gale, split in two and sank in the latest tragedy of the Pacific. A crew of 34 men died in heavy seas which prevented all rescue attempts.

NEW KING SHATTERS TRADITION BY FLYING

Typical of the daring nature of Britain's new King, Edward VIII, he flew from Sandringham to London, within a few hours after becoming King. The flight shattered British tradition. King Edward was accompanied by his favourite pilot, A. H. Foden. King Edward, an expert pilot himself, owns six planes, but seldom flies them himself.

METAL BROKERS PROTEST

ASK REMEDIAL ACTION

London, Feb. 28. Reuter learns that members of the London Metal Exchange have formed a committee which has decided to draw the Government's attention to the seriousness of the present shortage of tin in this country, and urging remedial measures.

This step reflects the market's discontent at the decision of the International Tin Committee's recent decision to reduce the quota from 90 to 85 per cent., which the market fears will result in further deterioration of the precarious London position. The metal brokers, Strauss and Company, told Reuter that Bolivia is lagging behind in the production of tin. Since the Bolivian ores are smelted in Great Britain this principally accounts for the shortage of London stocks, which are at present only 600 tons, or less than ten days' supply.—Reuter.

LIQUOR DUTIES

CONVENTIONAL DOLLAR CHANGE

The Government Gazette contains a revised resolution in regard to liquor duties.

The duties, expressed in terms of dollars, are unaltered, but a proviso states that the dollars mentioned in the table shall be conventional dollars reckoned as the equivalent of one shilling and eight pence sterling; and that consequently to arrive at the actual amount payable in Hongkong currency the dollars and decimals thereof, stated in the Table, shall be multiplied by 20 and divided by a figure settled by the Treasurer from time to time representing the average opening selling rates for the previous month of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation for demand drafts on London and until so settled the figure shall be 15.87. This latter figure compares with 23.70 in the resolution previously in force.

A new classification appears in respect of Chinese type liquors, this providing for a duty of $1.35 per gallon on all Chinese type spirits not distilled in the Colony and containing not more than 24 per cent. alcohol by weight.

WORLD TRADE

LATEST LEAGUE STATISTICS

Geneva, Feb. 28. The League's monthly bulletin of statistics for February, just issued, gives, besides the usual tables, information concerning the movement of world trade in and the production of tin, steel, zinc, coal, petroleum and the world stocks of raw materials between 1929 and 1935. These show that both the gold value and the total amount of world trade were higher in 1935 than in 1934. World production of tin, steel, coal, lignite, petroleum in 1935 was higher than in 1934. The general index of world stocks of raw materials at the end of 1935 was only 25 per cent. higher than in June, 1929, whereas towards the middle of 1934 it was about 50 per cent. higher.—League of Nations Press.

Swiss Reply To Germany

NO REVERSAL OF NAZI BAN

Berne, Feb. 28. The Swiss reply to the recent sharp German note protesting against the suppression of Nazi organisations in Switzerland, has been handed to the German Minister here.

It states that the Federal Council cannot reverse the decision and hopes the German Government will prove its understanding of the situation and avoid erroneous interpretation to German public opinion.—Reuter.

which the Committee cannot afford to overlook.

Representative Tolan declared that the slightest spark was likely to set the world afire.

"If war comes, you know whence it will come," he declared. "Imagine our position with a conflict in the Pacific and if something happened to the Panama Canal so that ships could not reach the East Coast for repair!"—Reuter.

FLEET MANOEUVRES

San Pedro, Feb. 28. A tentative schedule of calls for the United States Fleet, which will depart April 10 for its spring manoeuvres off Panama, has been worked out.

It exercises will include heavy gun practice for the defence of the Panama Canal against "an enemy fleet."

Meanwhile, the House of Representatives will debate giving the West Coast ship-building trade a six per cent. differential in bidding for the naval construction.

Representatives from California contend that the coast facilities are inadequate for ship-building and repair, despite the fact that war in the Pacific is more likely than in the Atlantic.—United Press.

SLASHING INDIA'S TAXATION

LOW WAGE EARNER WILL BENEFIT

ESTIMATES SURPLUS

New Delhi, Feb. 28. Complete revision of Income Tax on the lowest incomes, and a reduction of the present surcharge on other incomes, was announced by the Finance Member, Sir James Grigg, in presenting the Budget to the Assembly.

Sir James revealed that the Estimates showed a surplus of 242 lakhs of rupees on March 31, but he pointed out that other factors, including the cost of the Government of the Indian separation from Burma, would work against a similarly favourable result in the immediate future. However, he felt justified in proposing remissions of taxation amounting to about two crores of rupees.

The Finance Member outlined a seven-year plan for the reconstruction of Quetta, following the earthquake, and announced various grants for the amelioration of conditions in the rural areas.—Reuter.

NOTES COMMUNICATED

Geneva, Feb. 28.

Senor Vasconcellos, Chairman of the Committee of Coordination Measures under Article XVI of the League Covenant, has summoned the Committee of Eighteen for March 2.

Point one on the agenda is the application of proposal four (A) namely, the possible extension of an embargo on consignments to Italy of petroleum, coal, pig iron and steel.

Point two is the second report of the Expert Committee, instructed to follow the application of sanctions and their effects.

The United Kingdom Government has sent the Chairman of the co-ordination Committee a letter, dated February 15, forwarding for the information of members of the Committee the British reply to the Italian communication concerning an exchange of views between the United Kingdom and the French Government and certain other Governments, as to the application of Article 16 of the Covenant.

The origin of this affair is a note verbally handed to the British Government by the Italian Ambassador in London, January 24, to state the Italian opinion concerning the said exchange of views.

The latter related to the assistance that the British Government might expect from the French, Hellenic and Rumanian Governments should special military measures be taken by Italy against Greece.

British participation in international action under Article 16. The text of the Italian note verbally was attached by the United Kingdom Government to its communication to the Chairman of the Co-ordination Committee, and has thus been brought to the notice of states members of the Committee, as well as the reply made by the United Kingdom Government.

These exchanges of notes have already been communicated to the press.

The new fact is that in accordance with the British request they have been officially communicated to all states members of the Co-ordination Committee.—League of Nations Press.

THE NEW FACT IS THAT IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE BRITISH REQUEST THEY HAVE BEEN OFFICIALLY COMMUNICATED TO ALL STATES MEMBERS OF THE CO-ORDINATION COMMITTEE.—League of Nations Press.

TOKYO REBELLION SUPPRESSED

COLLAPSE OF INSURRECTION EVICTION ORDER BY EMPEROR

FINAL SCENES: NOT A SINGLE SHOT FIRED

SHANGHAI, FEB. 29.
A "NIPPON DEMPO" MESSAGE FROM TOKYO STATES THAT OVER FOUR HUNDRED OF THE MILITARY REBELS SURRENDERED AT ABOUT 11 O'CLOCK THIS MORNING AND THAT GOVERNMENT AEROPLANES HAVE DROPPED LEAFLETS ADVISING THE REMAINDER TO SURRENDER.

Meanwhile, tanks have moved towards the positions still held by the rebels.

The "Nippon Dempo" confirms a report that the last of the rebels surrendered at 11.30 a.m. to-day (Tokyo time).—United Press.

A Reuter message also states that all the rebels surrendered at 11.30, according to a statement made by a spokesman of the Japanese Embassy.

FINAL SCENES

Tokyo, Feb. 29.
A military rebellion unprecedented in the annals of the Army of Japan, and possibly of the whole world, was suppressed without the firing of a single shot, while peace and order were perfectly maintained in the entire city.

The complete suppression of the revolt was announced in a communique issued from the Imperial Headquarters and broadcast at 12.50 p.m.
Over four hundred rebels surrendered between last night and 9 o'clock this morning. Others fast followed suit, and the insurrection was completely broken by 10.40 a.m. when all refractory troops, including N.C.O.'s, surrendered except a small group which still held Sanno Hotel and the official residence of the Premier.

OFFICERS DISMISSED

Shanghai, Feb. 29.
A Nippon Dempo message from Tokyo states that the Government has ordered the dismissal of fifteen rebel officers, including Captains Kiyosada Koda, Teruzo Ando, and Shiro Nonaka.—United Press.

In dealing with a situation which might have entailed alarming consequences if mishandled, the Army leaders, including the Commander of the Imperial Guard, showed patience and dignified courage, while the rebel soldiers behaved in a quite orderly manner, refraining from making an exodus from the limited area to which the rebellion was confined.

6 A.M. COMMUNIQUE

Tokyo, Feb. 29.
An official communique issued by the Commander of the Imperial Guard at 6 a.m. stated that the units which had started the uprising on the morning of February 26 had been sincerely admonished time and again through various channels by their respective commanders to return to their posts, but had failed to listen.
"The reason why the Imperial Guard Headquarters had not hesitated to risk a delay in dealing with the units which rose in rebellion was nothing but a desire to avoid disaster and bloodshed, which might possibly have been brought about by forcible measures for suppressing the uprising," the communique said.

FIGHTING FORBIDDEN

"Everything possible must be done to prevent such an unfortunate eventuality. Not only are fears of bloodshed involved, the national spirit forbids fighting between Imperial troops.
"The undue delay, however, in obtaining a settlement is at once intolerable and unwarrantable. Consequently, in pursuance of Imperial commands, the units involved were ordered yesterday to return to their original barracks.
"They refused to obey even this order, thus defying the Imperial command."

AMERICA GUARDS PACIFIC

PRECAUTION URGED

Washington, Feb. 28.
The presence of the United States fleet in the Pacific and the conditions in the Far East which have recently given rise to much apprehension, were stressed before the House Committee to-day in a statement of the necessity for rebuilding and repair facilities.
The Pacific Coast Congressional delegation urged a six per cent. differential in favor of West Coast shipbuilding firms, the proposed construction of six four auxiliary naval vessels.

"We should be wise than blind if we closed our eyes to the conditions in the Far East," declared Representative Kahn, one of the influential Westerners.
"This is a matter of self-defence which the Committee cannot afford to overlook."
Representative Kahn declared that the slightest spark was likely to set the world afire.
"If war comes upon us when we are unprepared," he declared, "imagine our position with a fleet in the Pacific and if something happened to the Panama Canal that ships could not reach the East coast for repair!"—Reuter.

FLEET MANOEUVRES

Mr. Keyes' extensive baggage is being sent to Shanghai unopened.

DISCUSSING OIL SANCTIONS

EDEN LEAVES SUNDAY

London, Feb. 28.
The Foreign Secretary Mr. Anthony Eden, will leave London on Sunday to attend Monday's meeting in Geneva of the Committee of Eighteen, the main purpose of which is to consider the question of adding oil to the list of commodities on which an embargo to Italy has been placed.

The principles by which the British Government, for their part, will be guided in this matter were outlined by the Foreign Secretary last Monday.
Having pointed out that there was nothing symbolic about oil, and that it was a sanction like other and to be judged by the same criterion, namely, whether its imposition would help to end war, he made clear that the British Government had not departed from its original decision on principle, taken last November, regarding oil sanctions, from its resolve to take its full part with others in such collective action that the League may decide upon.
Mr. Eden added it remained British Government's policy to maintain steady and consistent resistance to aggression, that they would be guided in their task by the spirit of the Convention itself, and that there would be neither weakness nor wavering in (Continued on Page 14.)

LEAGUE AID FOR CHINA

COMMITTEE MEETING ON MONDAY

The broadcast will also be relayed to eleven foreign countries, including the United States and France.—Reuter.

Defence Plan Soon To Be Revealed

London, Feb. 28.
Reuter understands that the White Paper outlining the Government's defence policy will be issued on Tuesday morning.

The National Council of the Labour Party will meet the same evening to consider the international situation and the Government's re-armament proposals.—Reuter Special.

LONG COMMONS SETTING

OPPOSITION FIGHT ESTIMATES

London, Feb. 28.
After sitting continuously for nearly 22 hours, the House of Commons rose shortly after noon.
The main business before the House was the discussion of various supplementary estimates, the Opposition refusing to allow their passage without full debate. When the House ultimately rose, it was agreed that the committee stage of the Bill for continuance of the shipping subsidy and certain other Government business should stand adjourned until Monday.
Owing to the encroachment of the long sitting in to-day's Parliamentary time, the formal Friday morning session, which is devoted to private members' business, was automatically abandoned.—British Wireless.

LAST DAY OF RACE MEETING

CLOSE FINISHES WITNESSED

RIDERS SHARE HONOURS

Weather conditions were much better for the final day of the annual Race Meeting to-day, and there was a large attendance of turf enthusiasts at the Valley during the afternoon.
Of the nine events on the card, the two Champions races, for Subscription Griffins and Australian ponies respectively, were the main attractions.

In the opening race, the first section of the Nil Desperandum Stakes, Mr. Encarnacao brought in Public Hero No. 1, a length and a half in front of Ocean View (Mr. Wong), and backers secured the excellent return of $44.30.

In the second section of the Nil Desperandum Stakes, there was a close finish, Celebration Time ridden by Mr. Needa, getting the victory over Cassius (Mr. Proulx) by a short head.

There was another keen tussle in the Griffins' Spring Handicap, which was won by King's Lead (Mr. Marshall) after a thrilling run in the home straight. Donovan, ridden by Mr. Encarnacao, was only a neck behind for second place.

1.—The Nil Desperandum Stakes.—(First Section) Winner $600. Second $250. Third $150. For China Ponies, Subscription Griffins of this Club of this Meeting that have started at least twice and have not won. One mile.

BRITISH UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE IS SOUND

London, Feb. 28.
The Minister of Labour announces a reduction in unemployment insurance contributions from employers and workers.
The insurance funds have a $6,500,000 surplus yearly for disposal, and it is proposed to reduce the weekly rate by one penny.
The Minister of Labour also stated that a White Paper would be issued by the Government in reply to a questionnaire from the Geneva International Labour Office regarding the forty-hour week. The Minister stated that he would attend the International Labour Conference at Geneva this year.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

ITALIANS WIN AMBA ALAGI AVENGE DEFEAT OF TOSELLI IN 1896

STRATEGIC POSITION ON HIGH RIDGE

(By Telegraph. Copyright Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1904. Received, Feb. 29, 7.50 a.m.)

Rome, Feb. 28.
"Troops of the First Army Corps have conquered Amba Alagi," states a communique received to-day from Marshal Badoglio, commander-in-chief of the Italian forces in East Africa.

"From 11 a.m. to-day the Italian flag waved from the summit of the ridge which saw the heroic sacrifice of Toselli."

Thus the Italian army has avenged the defeat of General Toselli, commander of the Fourth Eritrean Battalion, who was defeated with heavy loss of life at Amba Alagi in 1896 and retreated to Adowa, where he was killed after a terrible massacre of his men in a pitched battle with the Ethiopian warriors.

The Roman populace is wildly celebrating this victory.—United Press.

Rome, Feb. 28.

A communique from Marshal Badoglio announces the capture of the summit of Amba Alagi, a position 9,000 feet high and regarded by the Italians as of the greatest strategic importance. This is possibly the last Italian objective before the rains set in.

The communique adds that the capture of the ridge was effected without serious opposition and places the gateway of Ethiopia in Italian hands.

Thus all the territory occupied by the Italians before the battle of Adowa reverts to Italian hands.

Some authorities believe Marshal Badoglio may push his advance as far south as Lake Ashangi before the rains set in.

MILLIONS SOUGHT IN TAXATION

(By Telegraph. Copyright Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1904. Received, February 29, 7.50 a.m.)

Washington, Feb. 28.
President Franklin D. Roosevelt to-day announced his intention of asking Congress for $1,137,000,000 in new revenues in 1936.

The main purposes of this new revenue will be as follows:
$120,000,000 annually, for nine years, to cover the amortisation of the War Veterans' bonus;
$500,000,000 as a permanent substitute for the processing taxes lost to the administration;
$500,000,000 as a temporary substitute, payable for the next three years, to cover the current year's loss of revenue from processing taxes on account of the adverse decision of the Supreme Court.

President Roosevelt stated that a form of income tax on corporations would be levied to recoup about $160,000,000 of impounded or uncollected processing taxes.
He told newspapermen that the form of taxes or rates would be left to the decision of Congress but believed the temporary levies were best met through income taxes.—Reuter Special.

TAX PROGRAMME

Washington, Feb. 28.
President Roosevelt to-day revealed the conditions of a $1,137,000,000 Tax programme:

Another £500,000 For British Air Subsidies

TO HELP EMPIRE SERVICE

CHEAPER MAIL PLAN REJECTED BY AUSTRALIA

INCREASED subsidies for air transport are provided for in a Government Air Navigation Bill issued in London this month. Its main provisions are:—

Subsidy limit for air transport and civil flying raised from £1,000,000 to £1,500,000 in any financial year.

Compulsory insurance against third-party risks for all civil aircraft.

Removal of the control of design, construction and maintenance of civil aircraft, except in the cases of large transport machines, from the Air Ministry to a special board.

The increase in the limit of the subsidy is mainly to assist the development of the ambitious plans already announced for a cheap Empire mail service and the proposed Atlantic service.

How this will be affected by news received from Melbourne that the Australian Government has rejected the British Government's proposals remains to be seen.

No Surcharge

The proposals included a two-weekly service to and from Australia, and a seven-day first-class letter mail service at a three-halfpenny flat rate, without an air mail surcharge.

It was also stipulated that mail should be carried to Sydney in British flying boats.

Australia insists that she should run the service from Singapore to Sydney herself, and objects to abolishing the surcharge. She has asked for alternative proposals.

The appointment of a special board outside the Air Ministry to control the design and maintenance of civil aircraft is expected to result in a considerable speeding up in building programmes.

It is understood that in the case of large passenger-carrying machines the Air Ministry will still exercise a certain amount of control, mainly from the point of view of safety.

Weather Prophet Says

THIS YEAR WILL BE ONE OF LITTLE SUNSHINE

A METEOROLOGICAL expert, whose previous forecasts have been marked by a very high level of accuracy, has drawn up a special weather forecast for 1936. Here it is: Generally, the year will be deficient in sunshine, with many rainy days of small amounts, the total, however, not being large.

Monthly forecasts:

March—Mild and unsettled.

April—Dry of the whole and cold.

May—Cold with number of rainy days large.

June—Cold and rainy until near the end, when warm.

July—Cool generally and dry.

August—Sunshine deficient and wet.

September—Fine and dry.

October—Mild and damp.

November—Mild, with variable rainfall, heavy in places.

December—Rainfall below the average a few frosts.

Aircraftman Shaw Is Lawrence In St. Paul's

STRIDENT notes of the Reveille, sounded by Royal Air Force buglers, rang through the crowded nave of St. Paul's Cathedral one night this month. Twenty aircraftmen from Felixstowe R.A.F. station stood to attention at the doors and in the aisles.

They heard a voice, a voice that was familiar to many of them, a voice that had been heard in the crypt of St. Paul's Cathedral, a voice that had been heard in the crypt of St. Paul's Cathedral, a voice that had been heard in the crypt of St. Paul's Cathedral.

But the aircraftman had come to honour another man, whom few in the congregation knew, a fellow-aircraftman, T. E. Shaw.

Their moment came when Lord Halifax described how Lawrence's relentless fame pursued him, "man, I find him fly even from himself to find in change of name, of scene and occupation that his identity through which he hoped to win relief from his distress."

Twenty proud aircraftmen lined the crypt of St. Paul's after the service, while Lord Lloyd, Lord Frenchard, Mr. Winston Churchill, Sir Ronald Storey and many others filed past the bronze bust of "Lawrence of Arabia." For the R.A.F. men the features were those of Aircraftman Shaw.

EARL RUSSELL, AT 63, MARRIES HIS SECRETARY

EARL RUSSELL, sixty-three-year-old philosopher, was married in London this month to Miss Patricia Helen Spence, his twenty-five-year-old red-haired secretary.

This is the third marriage of the peer, who prefers to be known as "Mr. Bertrand Russell." Miss Spence is an accountant's daughter.

Their wedding took place at Midhurst (Sussex) Register Office. Both gave their address as Telegraph House, Harting, Peterfield. Mr. G. E. Blanco White, the Socialist barrister, was a witness.

Earl Russell, who succeeded his brother the Socialist peer, in 1931, was married first, in 1894, to Miss Alys Pearsall Smith, of Philadelphia. She divorced him in 1921.

His second wife was Miss Dora Black, the feminist leader, among whose books is one entitled "The Right to be Happy." For some time they ran together a "do as you pleased" school at Telegraph House, where boys and girls between four and eleven years old.

Capetown, Feb. 20. A call for help by wireless-telephone was sent out by a young woman who found herself the only white inhabitant of a whaling station at Saldanha Bay, her father having been shot dead.

Captain Jorgensen was in charge of the station, closed for some years now, but the home of a number of laid-up trawlers and much valuable machinery. A radio-telephone set was installed for communicating with the whalers at sea.

Although never used by Captain Jorgensen, it was kept in working order.

"Going Away"

On the night of his death, it appears, the old captain handed his daughter his keys and said, "Look after things. I am going away."

She did not understand what he meant.

Then, as she stood puzzling over his words, she was startled by the sound of a shot.

She dashed into her father's bedroom. He lay dead, with a wound in his head. By his side was a revolver.

Eli Jorgensen then remembered the radio-telephone.

She started up the oil engine which generates power for the set and soon she was calling out her S.O.S. across the world.

It was picked up by a private listener in Capetown. He at once informed the police. Help was soon on the way to the girl.—Reuter.

MAKE-UP HINTS

By

ROSED BY KAY FRANCIS, WARNER BROS. STAR

Of course, you want to be smart and lovely! To be one of those lovely enchantresses poets and painters rave about. And perhaps the only thing that holds you back is that your make-up never seems to look just right. Artificial, to be bold.

Meet Max Factor, the make-up used by ninety-six percent of the Hollywood stars.

And may we remind you that Max Factor is the genius who has been responsible for practically every great contribution to make-up art—stage, screen, and society.

His new discovery is color harmony, a powder, soap and lipstick which matches the vivid, natural colorings of every type of beauty. It gives your skin the fresh youthful tone, the lovely smooth texture you've always longed for. And when you try it, you'll know what we mean when we say:

You are your own masterpiece.

Laugh and the world laughs with you!

It's rather difficult, however, to laugh when your powder cakes or appears "mealy" on your face when you go to the big Race Meetings.

How useless this seems to the screen star! They have discovered a secret that lets them laugh at this nemesis of attractiveness.

It's ridiculously simple! They just remove the excess powder from their faces with a Face Powder Brush! You see—a powder puff packs the powder down while a brush clears the lines of the face of the surplus and leaves an even surface.

This soft white brush is a pert and efficient answer to a brow-creasing problem. After putting on your powder as evenly as possible, the trick is to use the brush lightly and carefully remove all surplus powder—leaving a smooth, velvety finish.

Steal a stunt from the stars—I'm sure they won't mind!

R100's BUILDER INVENTS WARPLANE NO BULLET CAN HARM

THE Air Ministry have placed a very large order with Vickers (Aviation), Limited, for a new type of super-warplane for the Royal Air Force, built on a secret principle so revolutionary that its full significance is not yet clear even to experts.

Hit By Gale

WORLD'S LARGEST SEAPLANE SINKS OFF FLORIDA

Paris, Feb. 3.

The world's largest seaplane, the Lieutenant de Vaisseau Paris, was sunk in a gale during the night while riding at anchor in Pensacola Bay, off the Florida coast. No one was on board.

A squall of terrific force suddenly hit the 37-ton plane and lifted it into the air. It soared like a kite at the end of its mooring cable, and then overturned, plunging to the bottom of the bay.

The news of the calamity to the machine, which was built for a regular service across the South Atlantic, was received by the Air Ministry in a telegram from the commander, Capt. Bonnot.

Capt. Bonnot stated that attempts were being made to refloat the plane. Later messages, however, revealed that divers had found that the engines were embedded in the mud and that one wing appeared to be damaged.

The plane, which crossed the South Atlantic two weeks ago as a test for a regular service, has 12 double cabins and can carry 30 passengers in comfort approaching that of a liner. She has six engines.

The machine, it is declared, could be riddled with bullets without collapsing.

The form of construction is known as the Wallis Geodetic, after its inventor, Barnes Wallis, designer of structures to Vickers, who has devoted five years of research in the higher mathematics to its perfection.

Foreign air Powers, it is stated, would give a fortune for its secret.

Performance Will

Create Sensation

One of the new planes is now at Brooklands awaiting further tests by Vickers. Air Ministry pilots and engineers are impatient to fly it.

It is claimed that its performance up to date, if disclosed, would cause one of the greatest sensations in aviation since the Wright brothers first flew in 1903.

The new process of manufacture can also be used for commercial aircraft. Air-liners with ranges of several thousands of miles, carrying passengers and freight in their wings, can be built on this principle.

Wallis Geodetic mail-planes could reach Singapore or Cape Town in sixty hours, it is declared, even at present cruising speeds.

Barnes Wallis, the inventor, is a middle-aged, silver-haired, gentle-voiced vegetarian, a Bachelor of Science. He was one of the builders of the airship R 100.

R 100, British Government airship, made a return flight to Canada in 1930. She cost £500,000, was sold for scrap after the R 101 disaster.

Moscow Televises Scenes From Lenin's Life

Moscow, Feb. 20.

FORTY THOUSAND people, it is estimated, will visit Lenin's tomb in the Red-square to-day and to-morrow during the ceremonies commemorating the eleventh anniversary of his death.

Medical Problems In China

Doctors Who Face
"Unscrupulous Opposition"

The difficulties facing the modern doctor in China were referred to by Dr. Douglas Guthrie, at the annual meeting to the Edinburgh Medical Missionary Society recently.

Dr. R. A. Fleming, President of the Society, said it was true the ordinary income did not meet the ordinary expenditure, but the financial path had been smoothed by the reception of a quite extraordinary number of legacies.

Moving the adoption of the report and accounts, Dr. Guthrie, a director of the Society, in an account of a visit, paid lately to Australia and the Far East, spoke of medical practices in China to-day, where the need for doctors in rural districts, in which there was a poor financial return, was unspeakably great, though there were hospitals and doctors for the rich.

The Flying Doctor

In addition to the menace of commercialism, there was in China no protection of the medical profession such as the General Medical Council provided in our country. There was no Medical Register and no law against black-mail, so that the modern doctor had to face the unscrupulous opposition of the old-time Chinese doctor, and also action for malpractice or damaging statements in the Press by any dissatisfied patient or his relatives.

The more enlightened of the Chinese authorities were well aware of all this, and medical registration would in the future become compulsory, a State medical service would be inaugurated, really charitable hospitals would be built, and the need for modern medicine, not entirely "Western" medicine, would be accepted. All this had, in fact, already begun, and the days of the foreign medical missionary were numbered.

Dr. Guthrie also spoke of the most wonderful and most modern of all medical missions, the Flying Doctor of Australia. The Rev. John Flynn originated in 1928 a scheme whereby in the isolated inlands of Australia a doctor could be summoned by wireless, and covered the distance between his patients by aeroplane. There are now three flying doctors, with twelve nursing homes, and thirty special wireless sets in use.

This will bring the total who have visited the tomb up to almost eight and a half millions.

To-morrow factories and public services will close down and all transport be withdrawn to enable employees to make the pilgrimage to the mausoleum.

A blanket of snow covers the city. Scarlet banners, with deep black borders, shroud public buildings. Memorial meetings are being held throughout the land.

A new museum is to be opened to-morrow in Revolution-square. In its twenty rooms will be displayed documents and statuary, and gramophone records of the leader's voice will be played.

A television broadcast showing scenes from his life will also be made. The Bolshoi Theatre will broadcast songs that Lenin loved, and some new ones, including the "Song of Lenin," by Myaskovsky, and "When the Leader Dies," by Shekhter.

These four youths, hardly out of their teens, were executed this month in Sing-Sing Prison.

Ossining (N.Y.), Feb. 10.

Four youths aged between 20 and 21 took "the longest walk in the world" shortly before midnight—to the electric chair.

Till the very last moment they hoped for reprieve—but in vain. They had been sentenced to death for the murder of a policeman on Fifth Avenue.

One of the youths was Newman Raymond, son of Major Raymond, a Methodist lay preacher and candidate for the office of Mayor of New York City in 1913.

The distraught father petitioned for leave to walk with his son to the chair, but the request was refused.

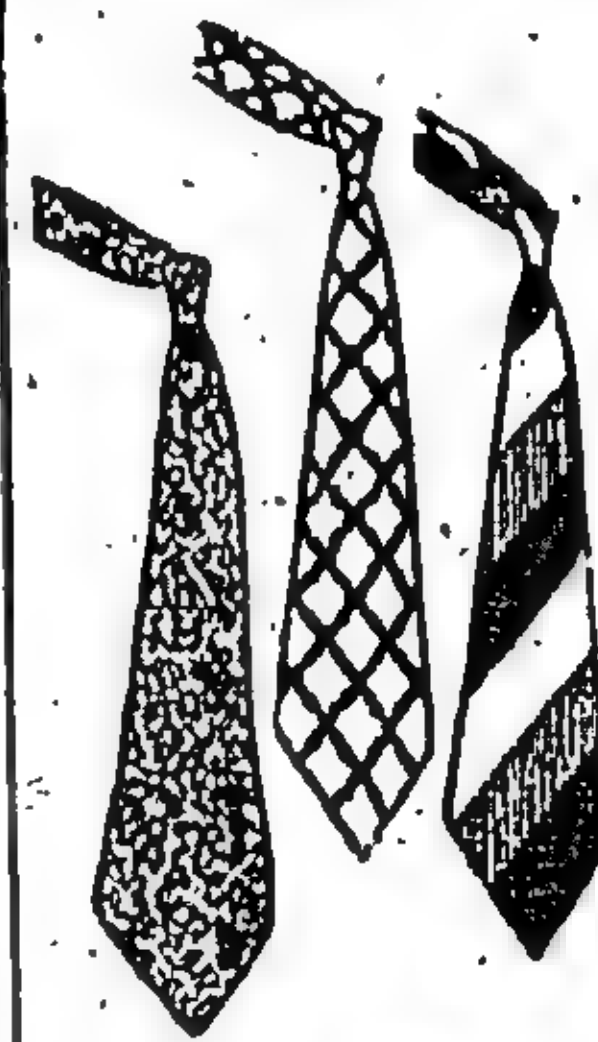

All four young men had a special dinner together and spent the evening seeing their families and receiving the last consolations of the Church.

Before going to the chair they made a joint farewell to eight other "killers" in their jail who are awaiting electrocution. They went to their death praying and apparently without fear.

It was the greatest "execution night" in Sing-Sing since 1920, when seven people were executed in one night.—Reuter.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON SERMON

First Church of Christ, Scientist, Hongkong
SUNDAY'S SERVICE

The Subject of the Lesson Sermon in all churches of Christ, Scientist, to-morrow, March 1, will be: "Christ Jesus."
The Golden Text will be: "Unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given; and the government shall be upon his shoulder." (Isaiah 9: 6).
Among others, the following citations from the Bible will be read: "When the morning was come, all the chief priests and elders of the people took counsel against Jesus to put him to death: And they crucified him, and parted his garments, casting lots: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, They parted my vestments among them, and upon my vesture did they cast lots. And when Joseph had taken the body, he wrapped it in a clean linen cloth. And laid it in his own new tomb, which he had hewn out in the rock; and he rolled a great stone to the door of the sepulchre, and departed." (Matt. 27: 1, 35, 50, 60).
The Lesson Sermon will also include the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:
"The lonely precincts of the tomb gave Jesus a refuge from his foes, a place in which to solve the great problem of being. His three days' work in the sepulchre set the seal of eternity on time. He proved Life to be deathless and Love to be the master of hate. He met and mastered on the basis of Christian Science, the power of Mind over matter, all the claims of medicine, surgery, and hygiene.

His disciples believed Jesus to be dead while he was hidden in the sepulchre, whereas he was alive, demonstrating within the narrow tomb the power of Spirit to overrule mortal, material sense. There were rock-ribbed walls in the way, and a great stone must be rolled from the cave's mouth: but Jesus vanquished every material obstacle, overcame every law of matter, and stepped forth from his gloomy resting-place, crowned with the glory of a sublime success, an everlasting victory." His disciples believed Jesus to be dead while he was hidden in the sepulchre, whereas he was alive, demonstrating within the narrow tomb the power of Spirit to overrule mortal, material sense. There were rock-ribbed walls in the way, and a great stone must be rolled from the cave's mouth: but Jesus vanquished every material obstacle, overcame every law of matter, and stepped forth from his gloomy resting-place, crowned with the glory of a sublime success, an everlasting victory." YESTERDAY

New York, Feb. 28.
Swan, Culbertson & Fritz Wall Street Journal comment on Friday's market:—"Two of the leading airline companies are likely to seek additional capital after this year. New York bankers approve of the new currency regulations restricting bank investments. Many Wall Street traders are withholding commitments, pending an announcement of a detailed tax programme by the Administration. It is expected that raw rubber prices are likely to advance. Wall Street expects that steel mill operations will reach 65 per cent of capacity before this summer. Brokers believe that more companies will split up their stocks, following the National Lead Company's example."

S. C. & F. New York office cables: Stocks: The market met with renewed offerings, but showed a firm tone, but we expect further irregularity. Pittsburgh scrap prices have advanced another 25 cents to $15.50 to $16.00 per ton. There is some talk of an advance in finished steel prices in the next quarter. Bank Clearings are up 8.9 per cent.

Cotton: The impending movement of the Brazilian crop and the question regarding the disposal of Government holdings are restraining influences. Forwarding to mills during the past week amounted 239,000 bales, against 241,000 bales last week.

Wheat: The absence of any definite damage is nullifying the effect of crop scares news, which is more moderate to-day. As from March 1st, the market hours will be from 9.30 a.m. to 1.15 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

Rubber: The market is fully steady in anticipation of a settlement of the Goodyear-Tyre Company's strike. Dutch exports during January totalled 20,252 tons. It is estimated that the English stocks will show an increase of 550 tons this week.

Swan, Culbertson & Fritz Dow Jones Summary of yesterday's market:—"The market to-day was downward on President Roosevelt's tax proposals. Montgomery Ward's dividend is only 20 cents per share, instead of the anticipated $1 dividend. The market was steady until late in the session when there was a deluge of selling orders. Copper exports, which were irregular, utility securities were down by fractions. Steel shares resisted selling until late in the day on forecasts that March operations will be from 60 to 70 per cent of capacity. Railroad equipment shares and some specialties were strong. Railroad stocks were down on a reduction in fares and lower carloadings. In the market for bonds, corporation and United States Government issues were firm. Stocks on the

DISCUSSIONProfessor Robertson to Speak Next Week

The European Y.M.C.A. will resume discussion of the subject "Is the World Afloat?" on Wednesday evening next, March 4, and this time it will be taken from the point of view of Finance and Economics.

The Literary and Debating Society, under whose auspices the series is being conducted, have been fortunate in securing the services of Professor R. Robertson, Professor of Economics at the Hongkong University, who will open the discussion.

This is the third meeting of the season, and it is hoped there will be a good attendance on Wednesday evening as it is felt this is one of the most important aspects of the subject under review. The discussion will take place in the reading room and is open to all male members of the Y.M.C.A. On Wednesday, March 18, Professor L. Forster of the Hongkong University will lead the discussion on Education, the fourth aspect of the series, and the subject will be concluded on April 8, when the Rev. J. D. McLean will lead a debate on the Religious and Social point of view.

HITTING THE

and hit the tower itself. The speed at which some of these birds travel towards a lighthouse lantern may be gathered from the fact that a few years ago a wild duck of the Scoter species came through the lantern at Hyacinth Lighthouse. The triangular-shaped pane of glass is three-eighths of an inch thick, and no part of it is more than ten and a half inches from an astragal. The wild duck was picked up at the foot of the lantern with its throat cut.

The toll of these birds of passage is often enormous. In one night at the South Lighthouse on the Fair Isle, which lies between the Orkneys and the Shetlands, over 800 birds were killed. Among these were 500 some thrushes and redwings, 100 fieldfares, and 100 blackbirds. On the same night a similar number of birds were killed at the North Lighthouse on Fair Isle. At Aukerry and Skerryvore Lighthouses thousands of birds have been known to crash in a single night. At Skerryvore the birds frequently hit the front door, which is thirty feet up the tower. On the other hand, many lighthouses which are situated outwith the migration routes, are immune from the nightly hail of feathered migrants.

Despite these casualties, the number of birds shows no sign of decreasing. Through wind and rain, daylight and darkness, the survivors continue to make their annual pilgrimage to and from their nesting-places, and the lighthouse lantern is but a milestone in their long journeyings.

MORE TOOTH PASTE
same high quality

For years people have willingly bought Pepsodent... rather than save a few pennies and endanger teeth with harsh, "bargain" dentifrices. They have always preferred Pepsodent for two reasons. First, because it is a "special film-removing tooth paste." It effectively removes from teeth the sticky, gummy coating that forms on them... dulls and discolors them... gives tooth decay germs to them. Second, because Pepsodent removes this film safely—without danger of injury to tooth enamel.

Today Pepsodent offers you more for your money than ever before. For it now comes to you in a new, 10% larger tube. You get more tooth paste for less money. The formula is unchanged. In every way Pepsodent is still the same high-quality product it has always been.

So take advantage of this extra saving. Get one of the new larger tubes of Pepsodent Tooth Paste today.

DEATH.

HIVATOFF.—The Committee of the Russian Orthodox Community announces with deep regret the death of the late Vice-Chairman of the Committee, Mr. Michael Hivatoff, in Manila on the 27th
February, 1936. A Memorial Service will be held in the Russian Orthodox Church, 18 Jordan Road,

WORLD UNREST

If an attempt is made to analyse the deep underlying causes of world unrest to-day, the conclusion will soon be reached that the heart of the crisis lies in the fact that among the great nations, four are more or less satisfied with conditions as they are, while three are profoundly discontented. Great Britain, France, the United States and Russia have no ambition to enlarge the extent of their present territories and responsibilities. On the other hand "expansion" is the keynote of the policies of Japan, Italy and Germany. It is easy
perhaps to diagnose the disease.
It is extremely difficult to suggest the correct remedy—at any rate in any detail. "Territorial redistribution" occurs at once as a possibility to be considered.
But the subject bristles with difficulties. It is hard to imagine, for instance, that the British people would be altruistic enough to hand over large portions of their Empire to others. It may also be doubted whether any conceivable redistribution would in fact satisfy the expansionist nations. "Internationalisation" of colonial possessions in general seems to offer a far more hopeful solution. The mandate system of the League of Nations gives a practical model of what has been achieved in this direction. Its two outstanding principles are (1) the welfare of the native inhabitants the primary over-riding purpose of administration, (2) the open door for the trade and industrial enterprise of all outsiders, irrespective of nationality. But perhaps the proper change lies not in territorial readjustments at all—but in the direction of "economic internationalism." When Japan and Germany and Italy are asking, for more land, the most frequent reason they give for their demands are (a) opportunities for migration of excess population, (b) access to raw materials, (c) free markets for their finished goods. Could not these needs be satisfied without any territorial alterations? For the last fifteen years—with increasing virulence and strength

for the last five—economic nationalism has poisoned all international intercourse. The basic fact of the modern world
is its political and economic unity. Building on that reality,
the outstanding need of the
times is co-operation in industry and trade between nations,
the kind of co-operation to
which the League of Nations
seeks to give effective scope.

THE GENIUS Who EXPERIMENTED

PAVLOV

those intricate and delicate instruments, our brains.

He found that the slightest distraction of his dogs' attention destroyed his experiments altogether. He had to start all over again. And from this he deduced that noises of modern civilisation really are harmful to humans.

He learnt that too long a stretch of learning or inhibiting on a dog's part led to boredom, and from there to actual sleep in some cases, and a form of hypnosis in others.

This should teach the schoolmaster something: when his boys become drowsy from his demanding a too-long-sustained effort from them, this inatten-tion is not their fault, but his!

Pavlov enabled us to put into strictly analysable, measurable terms, things about the human mind that we have been only able to talk of vaguely or even only guess at, before.

To understand is to have power—and heaven knows we haven't really understood our brains much yet!

We shall know one day now what harms our mind and what heals it.

We shall be able to call up beneficial sleep at will; to understand properly and then to use and not misuse hypnosis.

We shall have at last the authority, with facts behind us, to drum into parents the harmfulness of too much inhibition of their children—that is to say, of too many "don'ts!" We may even have in the end the power to mould not only our brains, but our characters—and our temperaments.

One conclusion is certain.
Pavlov's dogs have achieved immortality—their name will go down to history.

H. E. L. Mellersh.

PAVLOV experimented with dogs and discovered thereby a great deal about the working of the brain—not only the doggy brain, but the human brain.

He worked with dogs because they are patient and responsive, and because their intellect in many ways is nearest in the animal kingdom to our own.
The dog brain is a simplified human brain.

THE whole of Pavlov's scientific theories rested on one simple discovery—as is usually the case with science's triumphs.
This discovery was of a thing—
a human property—called a Conditioned Reflex.
It sounds difficult, but it isn't.

NOTES OF THE DAY

FEWER ROAD DEATHS

The statistics issued by the Ministry of Transport show a big decline in the list of persons killed and injured on the roads in Great Britain last year as compared with 1934. The number of people killed was 6,521, as compared with 7,343 in 1934—a reduction of 822. In 1935 the number of injured was 218,798 in 1934—a reduction of 231,603 in 1934—a reduction of 12,805. These figures are particularly encouraging when it is remembered that the volume of traffic on the roads has increased enormously. According to the latest figures, the number of licences issued for motor vehicles during the twelve months ended on November 30 last, excluding tramcars and vehicles requiring trade licences, was 2,336,722, compared with 2,116, 582 the previous year, an increase of 220,140.

The reduction in the number of casualties cannot be attributed to any particular cause, but obviously the Ministry of Transport's efforts to lessen the dangers from wheeled traffic have not been in vain. The year has seen the introduction of the thirty-mile-an-hour speed limit in "built-up areas," driving tests for new applicants for driving licences, and a number of other safety measures. Owing to the good results achieved presumably there will be a more resolute application in future of all the safety measures which have been recently adopted. The figures for the combined area of the Metropolitan Police District and the City of London show that in 1935, as compared with 1934, there were 332 fewer persons killed and 3,993 fewer persons injured. This decline in the number of accidents in the London area is of particular importance as evidence of the efficacy of the precautionary measures introduced by the Ministry.

these needs be satisfied without any territorial alterations? For
the last fifteen years—with increasing virulence and strength
for the last five—economic nationalism has poisoned all international intercourse. The
basic fact of the modern world
is its political and economic unity. Building on that reality,
the outstanding need of the
times is co-operation in industry and trade between nations,
the kind of co-operation to
which the League of Nations
seeks to give effective scope.

We all have conditioned reflexes—a criss-cross mass of them. They are very important, too.

Suppose you take a dog and show him some food. He saliv-ates—his "mouth waters." That salivation is a simple reflex.
But show him, say, a white disc,
and then directly afterwards present him with the food. Go on doing that, and soon his mouth will water when the white disc comes.

His reflex is no longer simple;
it has been influenced, conditioned, by the introduction of a second stimulus. A real and definite connecting path has been opened up in the dog's thinking mechanism, his brain.

And that phenomenon can be applied directly to human affairs. It is applied automatically all the time.

HAVE you ever noticed that a baby dislikes certain people or certain things for no apparent or totally inadequate reasons? There the Conditioned Reflex is working.

He may have seen the person for the first time wearing something strange that seemed to him terrifying—a pair of motor goggles, say. He may have become first acquainted with such a lovely thing as a rosebud just when he was appalled by a loud and sudden noise.

He connects the two, and,
what is more, goes on connecting until the "idea can be got out of his head."

That, of course, opens up new methods of training babies to like and dislike just the things you want them to like and dislike (as Aldous Huxley showed rather grimly in his novel,
"Brave New World.")

BUT to get back to Pavlov and his dogs. For, as I have suggested, those Conditioned Reflexes can be got rid of.

The dogs can learn much more than that, too. They can learn to discriminate. A whistle means food; whistle with flash doesn't mean food. They can learn to delay their reactions.

If you gradually lengthen the time between the sign, whatever it is, and the appearance of the food, the dog will come to saliv-ate not at once but only when the interval is nearly up and the food is just about to appear.
That is a conscious self-control on the dog's part—Pavlov called it inhibition.

ALL sorts of complicated experiments were evolved by Pavlov from his first simple tests, and many strange, illuminating things he learnt about

HITTING THE LIGHTHOUSE

A Tragedy of Bird Migration

IT is night in a lighthouse in the far North of Scotland, with the wind howling round the tower and the sea crashing on the rocks two hundred feet below. Up aloft in the lantern the revolving light flashes four times every thirty seconds, sending its warning to the passing ships.

Suddenly the dome begins to echo with a curious sound as if someone were thumping on the outside.
Gradually the noise increases until the succession of thuds becomes an irregular drumming. The birds are striking the lantern. Birds in their thousands, driven by that migratory urge which annually carries them hundreds of miles from Lapland to Scotland, from the Baltic to South Africa. Thrushes, fieldfare, redwings, curlews, lapwings, snipe, golden-eyes, knots, redstarts, golden-plovers, warblers, willow wrens, and a host of other varieties are attracted to the light in a miscellaneous horde.

Standing on the balcony with the birds whirling around is a weird experience. It is difficult to identify the birds flying around the dome. They generally "strike" in haze and rain, and in the light of the slowly revolving beams from the lantern, have the appearance of glittering objects.

Even the conspicuous spots on the breasts of the song thrushes are completely effaced. The call of the various species alters slightly during migration.

The clever starling becomes stupefied by the dazzling brilliancy of the light. It will stand on the grating and, when picked up, will sit contentedly on one's hand. The skylark, on the other hand usually strikes hard and is instantly killed, its tiny corpse fluttering down into the darkness below. The redwing and song thrush come to hand quite readily, but the lantern's glare turns the blackbird into a flying demon. He whirls round the lantern at breakneck speed, defying anyone to catch him.

It is a curious fact that few of the small birds such as the warbler, willow wren, chiffchaff, blackcap, white-throat, and goldcrest, hit the lantern with sufficient force to cause death.
They appear to flutter up to the light and perch on the grating.

But when the plover, thrush, starling, or manx shearwater hit the light they crash with terrific force. Some birds, when coming full tilt to the lantern,
balk when within a few feet of it and, rising slightly, get out of the dazzling rays. More often than not, they crash into the dome at a flat angle and are carried 200 to 300 yards by their own momentum before their shattered bodies fall to the ground or into the sea beyond. Others dive low

THE CAMERA YOU
HAVE BEEN WAITING FOR!

Here is a camera which embodies most of the improvements and refinements to be found in the larger and more expensive cameras. It is so compact it can be carried in the pocket and is offered at an astoundingly low price.

The superior Kodak Anastigmat f.4.5 lens and Compur Shutter enables anyone with ordinary care to produce pictures which will compare favourably with the production of the most expensive cameras. They are $3\frac{1}{4} \times 2\frac{1}{4}$ inches in size, an excellent album size. One roll of Kodak Verichrome, Super Pan or Panatomic film will produce eight pictures.

See this remarkable camera bargain to-day at your Kodak dealers.

"FIRST NIGHT" HEARS THAT

Clark Gable Is Coming To H.K.

NOT news—straight from Hollywood. Gather around, all you Clark Gable fans.

Chief mutineer of the Bounty, Hollywood's No. 1 thrill-seeker, is making plans to seek new thrills in China.

He will travel to Macao by Pan-American Clipper, via Honolulu, Guam, Midway, Wake Island and Manila.

Hongkong will be stepping-off point for tour of East.

Plan, long-cherished dream, is no longer a dream, Clarkie avers. It has been carefully arranged and will become a reality within two months.

"The beginning of my vacation in China depends upon M.G.M.'s plans for me," he said in a letter to Far East representative.

"I have just completed work on 'Wife versus Secretary,' and have only one more picture to make before I'm free.

"I have toured Europe, I have flown over South America, so I'm seeking a new itinerary.

"Tell my friends in Hongkong, Shanghai and other centres that ever since boyhood it's been my dream to see China. It opens a new vista for me, and within three months my dream will be a reality."

Gable has just left Hollywood for a fortnight's holiday in Mexico to hunt and fish, before commencing his last picture prior to visit to Far East.

He is not the only star who has promised us a visit this year. Ginger Rogers is coming; so are Wheeler and Woolsey, Douglas Fairbanks, and our own Wendy Barrie.

We'll give them all a right royal welcome.

FLASH: Warner "Charlie Chan" Oland will be "Charlie Chan in Shanghai" (banned in Hongkong) in reality within fortnight. Accompanied by wife, he is enroute to East, transferring Thursday from liner Malolo to Dollar ship. Itinerary includes Hongkong, Manila, staying week in each centre. Annie May Wong, who has played opposite Oland in several pictures, will probably meet him in Shanghai. She leaves Hongkong for northern centre to-morrow.

As most people do when they come to Hongkong, Anna May Wong has developed a slight cough. And as most people do, she blames the ubiquitous cigarette. So, just to curb her Lady Nicotine, Anna May has taken to smoking the most expensive cigarettes on the Hongkong market. They cost us two cents each, but they cost her 12 cents!

"I'm cutting out cigarettes," she said firmly. (Haven't we all?)

And here's the way she's going to do it.

Two cents to buy the cigarette. But ten cents towards the Anna May Wong Cigarette Renunciation Fund for each one she smokes.

"Does it work?" I asked.

She sighed, and let me feel the weight of a pleasantly full money box.

"One thing, I'm sure saving money," she said by way of reply.

"Have a cigarette," I said.

I prepared to depart.

As I closed the door I heard the faint tinkle of falling money.

NEXT time I see "Previewer" of S. C. M. Post, I'm going to suggest that next year's popular film star contest be turned into an UN-POPULAR film star contest. Then people wouldn't be able to grumble about the wrong person winning.

Idea wouldn't be new. It was tried not long ago in London, where 124,000-odd people sent in their votes.

Doubtless the character played had something to do with the judgment. Fact remains that, on balance, of number the list of most disliked women was headed by—Mao West!

Greta Garbo, Jean Harlow, Joan Crawford, Constance Bennett, and Marlene Dietrich followed in order given.

Jimmy Cagney was on the top of the most disliked men's list. Lee and more quickly lost, human life was Tracy came next, and then Adolph Menjou and George Raft.

Here's a hint for local theatres. More than 50 per cent of voters in London questionnaire wanted organ-playing to be feature of cinema programmes, replacing canned overtures.

STAR OF THE WEEK NO. 10 is girl who in making talkie debut in current production at Queen's, "Rose of the Rancho." Name is Gladys Swarthout, safe to say that before end of year she'll be Gladys Sweetheart to multitude of cinemaddicts. Pretty and popular young soprano are rare enough, pretty and popular young contralto almost unheard of. Born Christmas Day 31 years ago, likes to cook kidneys, sing, play golf, ski. An able musician than most opera singers, she has a mother who dabbles in concert management, a sister who teaches singing, a husband, Frank Chapman, Jr., who took up singing after he resigned from editorial staff of well-known U.S. publishers, met Gladys in opera house in Florida.

ROSE OF THE RANCHO

Queen's, To-day.

SEEING Gladys Swarthout at a preview on Thursday made me wonder why Hollywood had not long ago signed her up for a long term contract.

She has all the Grace of la Moore, the Charm of a Carmen, the Glamour of a Garbo, the Beauty of a Beauty.

Furthermore, she is introduced to a cinema public in a vehicle, revival of a famed stage success of same name, that ensures success before a camera is turned.

THE Number One Metropolitan Opera star has a Latin appearance well suited to the story of Spaniards in California and their efforts to hold their ancestral estates against early land-grabbers. Furthermore, the dual roles of Rosita Castro and Don Carlos, masked leader of the Spanish vigilantes, enable her to maintain a tradition which she inaugurated at the Metropolitan Opera as the page in "Romeo and Juliet" of appearing in masculine costume.

You'll like the story but, best of all, you'll like the times when, with and without the somewhat tremulous accompaniment of John Boles, Gladys Swarthout sings "I Should Love You," "Little Rose of the Rancho," "The Vigilante Song," "Where is My Love."

By her singing in this film, Miss Swarthout makes it clear that in the current operatic sweepstakes, she will not be outdistanced by the Hollywood field. She is less buoyant than Columbia's Grace Moore, but she has more chic. M.G.M.'s Jennette MacDonall may do better in her undergarments but Contralto Swarthout's throat muscles do not wobble. Over RKO-Radio's little Lily Pons, she has the definite advantage of being able to talk English.

"Rose of the Rancho" of carries this page's heartiest recommendation.

FACTS: Gladys Swarthout made debut at age of 13 at school recital. Audience included wealthy Kansas City. She studied finance, then music. She sang in Kats theatre company, then in Chicago. She became a member of the Chicago Civic Opera Company. After summer in Europe and three seasons with Ravinia Opera Company in U.S., joined Metropolitan Opera Company, made debut as billed mother in "La Gioconda."

BARBARY COAST

AMERICAN studios go far afield in search of material for their films, but they're always at their best when they're concerned with their own country.

In "Barbary Coast," as in "Rose of the Rancho," we see life as it was lived in San Francisco in the middle of last century, when the gold rush brought a lawless mob to the West in search of a fortune.

In those days the streets were foot deep in mud, money was quickly made and more quickly lost, human life was cheap, and a white woman almost unknown. Through the thick fog hanging over the harbour a sailing ship picks its way to land two passengers with very different aims.

Colonel Cobb (Frank Craven) is a journalist and an idealist, who has come to found the first San Francisco newspaper; Mary Rutledge (Miriam Hopkins) has come to get what she can.

The man she was to marry is dead, and so she attaches herself to Louis Chamalis (Edward G. Robinson), owner of the most notorious gambling saloon and the wealthiest man in the city. And while Chamalis robs the miners of their gold and murders those who complain too loudly of his methods, Cobb tries to publish the truth about him in his paper, but finds corruption too strong. Edward G. Robinson is at his best in a part such as this, and gives to Chamalis a coarse, swaggering conceit, while Miriam Hopkins acts with spirit and conviction as his mistress, who, in the end, falls in love with a young prospector whom she ruins at the tables.

WHIPSAW

Alhambra, To-morrow

THIS is a gangster film without gangsters. At least, the gangsters you'll see are tame ones, due to a little misunderstanding with the censors.

"Despite cuts—they don't matter much—"Whipsaw" is a slick gangster melodrama with Myrna Loy at her "Thin Man" heights. Spencer Tracy also way up above much he has done lately. Myrna is cast as alluring crook belonging to gang after famous string of potshots. The look is duly taken up with the adventures in connection with its return.

In between there is a wealth of delightful play between Myrna Loy and Spencer Tracy, their work dominating the admirable blend of slick gangsterdom and genial romantic comedy. Myrna Loy is strongly reminiscent of "Thin Man". Spencer Tracy shows himself the pastmaster of pseudo-truculence. A well-knit climax will give you plenty of aus-

King's Message From Daventry To-morrow

CHIEF radio event of forthcoming week will be broadcast through Daventry to-morrow of King's Message to Empire, mentioned elsewhere on this page. King's speech will commence at approximately midnight; will be of uncertain duration. Will be preceded by special musical broadcast, interspersed by announcements every ten minutes. ZBW relays original broadcast at midnight to-morrow; transcription at 9.25 p.m. Monday night.

Back to past week to record appreciation of two outstanding broadcasts. Chief was that of Helen Lockhart, whose deep, rich contralto was heard for first time in many moons last night. Mrs. Lockhart's return to Colony is great boost for ZBW, who should make every effort to please listeners by asking her to again become regular artiste.

BEGINNING of big things seen in broadcast last Wednesday night of ZBW Dance Band. Studio dance orchestra often been mooted at ZBW, never accomplished until this week. It will be a regular feature, augmented as time goes on. Should be decided asset.

Next week will be quiet one in ZBW studio, where announcers will have little company. Outstanding broadcasts scheduled for next seven days are relays from Daventry, chief of which is to-morrow's. Much of tonight's programme will also be taken up with Daventry relays in connection with Dewi Sant's Day (St. David to you!). Dewi Sant is to Taffy what St. Andrew is to MacWhirter, but there are important differences. The farther the Scot gets from his native heath the more fervently he celebrates his national day. Taffy, on the other hand, celebrates his national day quite as enthusiastically in Wales as in any other part of the world.

Since March 1 falls this year on Sunday, celebrations are being held to-day. St. David's Ball has been cancelled in Hongkong for first time in many years, due to death of King George. But Daventry is putting over ambitious programme. Keynote will be Wales in action, Welsh music, Welsh literature, Welsh industries, Welsh Youth.

Two studio items are scheduled from ZBW studio on Wednesday. First is Jazz piano recital by imitable Bill Cameron; second is Recital of Russian Songs by Maria Moskalenko, whose soprano pleased listeners shortly on her first mike appearance short while ago.

Two of ZBW's leading behind-the-scenes personalities have booked passages by luxury liner Empress of Britain next month. They are Mr. M. J. Breen, Postmaster General, Mr. G. Madgwick, Engineer, P.W.D., both off on leave. To Mr. Breen most of kudos for present non-technical efficiency of local broadcasting; to Mr. Madgwick equal kudos for technical side.

Purpose of departures is Home Leave. Both holidays will be business type, because both are going to investigate broadcasting in Unistates, Unikingsdom, elsewhere. They will return in time to see ZBW's new 2 k.w. transmitter take the air in October or so, and will almost definitely bring back lots of suggestions for improvement of local broadcasting, already at high level through their enthusiasm.

Social Activities

MAKE YOUR BOY FRIEND YOUR GUEST TO-NIGHT

TO-DAY is big day in feminine world—it happens just once in every four years.

If you see a lot of announcements of engagements in to-morrow's papers, if price of diamonds go up, blame Saturday, February 29.

Local girls, judging by bookings at Grippe, have avidly seized upon idea, suggested by this page a month ago, of reversing ordinary procedure, taking boy friends out instead of vice versa.

Because negotiations with entertainers in Shanghai fell through at last minute, Grippe were unable to arrange for cabaret items for to-night's gala.

But what you'll lose in entertainment will be made up by fun and frolic. Bands are all pepped up for occasion, chief has made supreme effort and it's just the weather for dancing.

In addition to the numerous private Leap Year Day parties, four public functions are advertised for to-night. First and foremost, of course, is the Grippe and Femina's rendezvous of the upper 800.

Dance, while a Plain and Fancy Dress Carnival is scheduled at the China Fleet Club Theatre. St. Andrew's Hall will be scene of social gathering, proceeds of which will go to charity.

EUROPEAN Y.M.C.A. is proceeding quietly with arrangements for International Night next month. It will be one big splash to end winter season, and promises to be jolliest evening Y.M.C.A. has attempted for many years. Notable in Y.M.C.A. functions lately is absence of bickering, cliques that once threatened to wreck all social activities. These days the Women's Section works in with the men and good time is had by all.

AUSTRALIANS, Enzedders, are polishing up floor of Association Rooms in Gloucester Building in preparation for dances and social on March 12. When President Dr. H. D. Matthews will be farewell. Opportunity will be taken at house function to farewell Mrs. Miss Ingram, leaving for Australia, welcome Harold Brokenshire, one of the founders, just returned from South.

FOR GRAMOFANS

Gripping: King George's last broadcast, at Christmas last year when he gave his message to the Empire, it preceded his death by four weeks. Published by H.M.V.

Serious: Mr. Baldwin's moving oration on the King's death—broadcast on January 21—now published in "His Majesty's Voice" records. It occupies six large sides. Profits from records go to charity.

Funny: Stage dialogue for the gramophone is a risky adventure. Noel Coward has put two of his "Tonight" at 8.30 double-triplet on to H.M.V. records; one excerpt fails, the other is gloriously funny.

"God Papers" (H.M.V. C2815) is a dialogue between two of the kind of "music-hall performers you love best—the fifth-rate ones. Gertrude Lawrence and Coward crackling such jokes as "That wasn't no lady—that was my wife."

"Snow Play" is not so successful (H.M.V. C2185).

Tiny islands of our Empire Will hear their new King

THE King's voice when he broadcasts to-morrow will be heard by many more people than were able to hear the voice of his father two or three years ago.

Radio develops fast on the outposts of Empire. In twelve months places that were cut off from all communication with the civilised globe have been brought into contact with it. New radio stations have been opened; more powerful amplifiers employed.

Now the voice of the new monarch of an island race can reach his vast Empire of islands in the Pacific, the Atlantic and Indian Oceans.

For example: The descendants of the crew of the Bounty who mutinied in the reign of George III. will listen in. Eighteen members of that crew—the non-mutineers—were put off in a longboat and travelled 4,000 miles before they were picked up. In the end the mutineers settled on Pitcairn Island. The last of the Bounty's crew, John Adams, died there in 1829, but the tradition of loyalty to the flag is carried on.

Our Empire of islands does not station which has been rehabilitated consist of little stretches of ground. New Zealand now administers like the Isle of Man. There is New Nauru. The Germans there are like the few and far between, and the other inhabitants have long fallen under the spell of the English language. This radio station, originally intended to flash the messages of the Kaiser to his marauding cruisers in the Pacific in 1914, will in 1936 be harnessed to hear the voice of King Edward.

There soldiers from Fort St. George and sailors from Fort Hamilton will gather with the white coloured populace outside the white terraces of Government House to Rabaul, the capital. A few white people, however, are left behind in charge during the night. They have a radio station at the mines and another at Rabaul.

Britons living in the midst of the world's last cannibals will remain awake until 3 a.m. to hear the voice of their King. We in Hongkong will hear him at midnight.

A powerful radio station has been set up at Nukalofa, the capital of the Friendly Islands, where, in the grounds of the Queen's palace, is still preserved a tortoise presented to her great-great-grandfather by the celebrated Captain Cook.

Near where the famous navigator was housed, Queen Salote will wait for the voice of King Edward. She is the Empire's only reigning Queen. Her dynasty was reigning before the Norman Conquest over a vast domain of islands now part of the British Empire.

They Passed The Hat Round

The Gilbert and Ellice Islands, also in the Pacific, recently passed the hat round and sent the home country a contribution of about $150 for strengthening the Royal Navy! Fifty years ago the father of our new King, then a cadet aboard the Bacchante, visited these remote domains of his grandmother, Queen Victoria.

In Nauru, in the Samoan group, there is a powerful German radio station.

Since Britain took control for strategic reasons last May a radio station has been erected. The voice of our new King will reach over the Himalayan snows, to the new outpost of the British Empire. A half-dozen Britons, surrounded by Mongolian coolies, will wait—and listen.

About

The Lack Of British Films

HAVE been deeply interested in your Entertainment Page, especially "First Night's" comments from time to time on films.

On the whole, Hongkong is quite well served with pictures, we seem to be getting more up-to-date films than ever before.

But what about a few more British pictures, especially those in which Tom Walls and Ralph Lynn appear? It's a long time since we've seen the Aldwych Players on the screen locally. After all, Hongkong is a British Colony. So what about it?

And let me make a plea for more Nature Study shorts. Occasionally we get one or two worked into local programmes, but not nearly enough. One that I saw the other day, entitled "Neptune's Mysteries," depicting really marvellous under-sea life, was most entertaining and instructive. The same is true of another which showed the strange little creatures which came to life after a wisp of straw had been placed in a tumbler of water. This type of film is of marked educational value. Can't we have more of them?—FILM FAN.

Clara Butt Records

ZBW should watch the passing of the great; take a leaf from Daventry's programme. Fine opportunity for recital of records was missed when Dame Clara Butt died last week. Even now I am hoping that we can hear some of her records. Similarly, when Rudyard Kipling died, surely someone could have given a recital of some of his works.—J.M.

4-piece Knitted Outfit

Jumper, Cap, Scarf and Handbag

Material for Jumper

1 1/2 oz. black Ramada Knitting Yarn, 4-ply, 200 yds. white Ramada Knitting Yarn, 4-ply, 1 pair of No. 10 needles, 1 crochet hook, No. 10.

Size:

Width all round at underarm 34 inches. Length from shoulder to lower edge 20 1/2 inches. Length of sleeves, underarm seam, 18 2-5 inches.

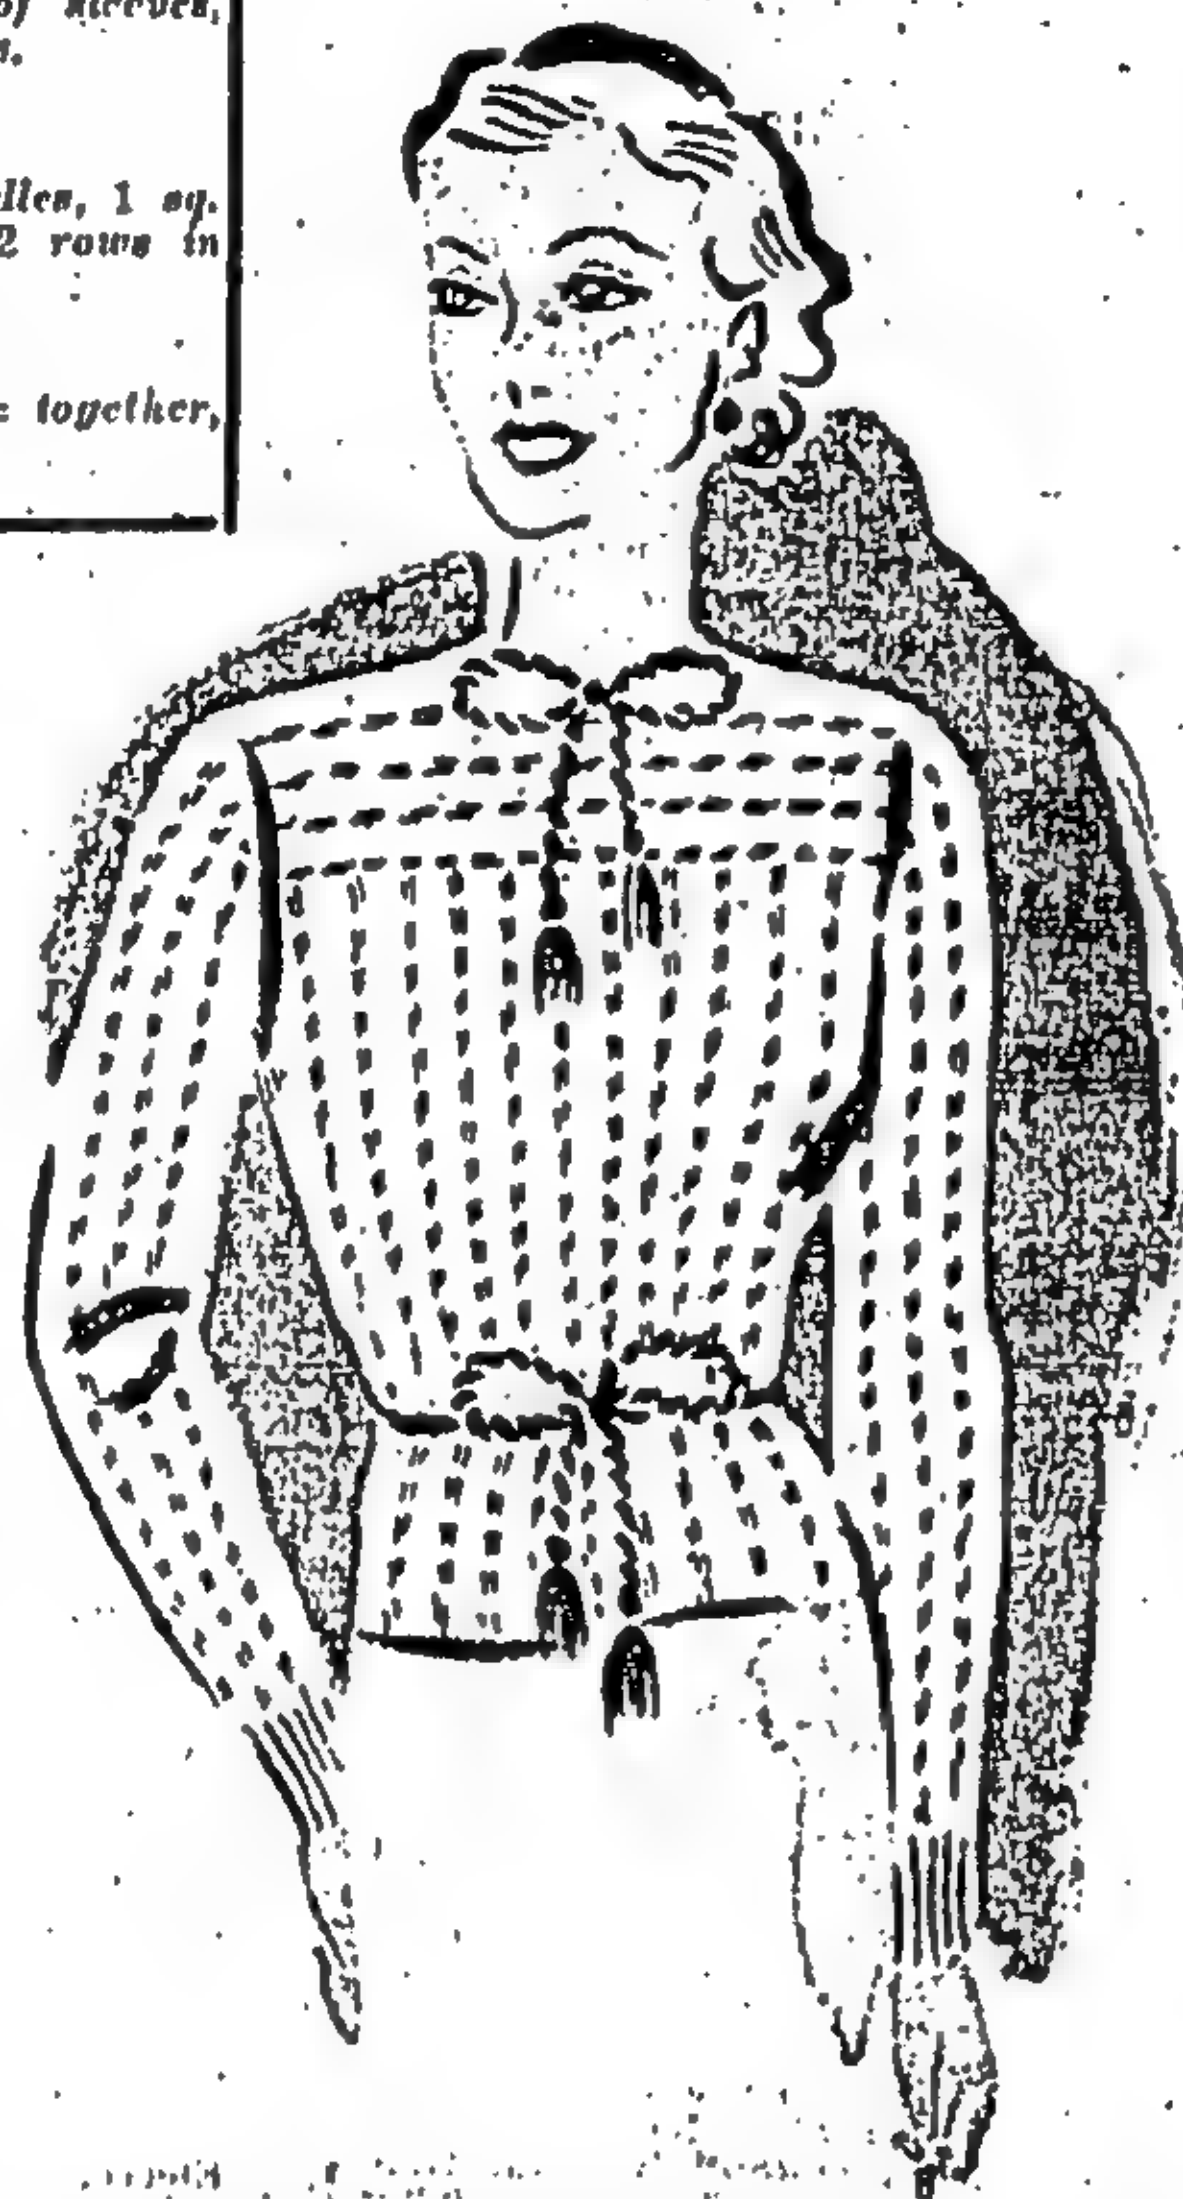

Tension:

Working with No. 10 needles, 1 sq. inch = 6 st. in width and 12 rows in height.

Abbreviations

K = knit, p = purl, tog = together, st = stitch.

The Latest from London

With one row of double crochet in black wool.

With triple white thread crochet a chain about 18 in. long, knot and fringe the ends and pass through the corners of the neck opening. Make a similar chain, about two yards long, for the girdle.

HAT

CAST on 100 st at lower edge in white wool; work garter stitch for 67 rows, then cast off, dropping every 7th st. Darn into these intervals with a double black thread up and down for 5 times. Sew the sides together. Crochet the top of the hat in double crochet in white wool.

Material for Hat, Scarf and Bag

4 1/2 oz. white Ramada Knitting Yarn, 4-ply, 102 black Ramada Knitting Yarn, 4-ply, 1 pair of No. 10 needles, 2 crochet hook, No. 10, 1 zipp fastener.

Tension:

Working with No. 10 needles, 1 sq. inch = 6 st. in width and 12 rows in height.

Abbreviations:

begin with 3 st cast on to 158 st during 28 rows, making it a flat circle. Crochet the 2 parts together on the outside.

SCARF

Cast on 212 st in white wool. Work garter stitch for 87 rows. Then cast off all st, dropping every 7th st. Darn into the intervals with double black thread 5 times up and down. Crochet the edge of the scarf with one row of double crochet.

BAG

Cast on 50 st in white wool, work garter stitch for 202 rows, then cast off all st, dropping every 7th st. Darn with a double black thread 5 times up and down the intervals. Sew together 0 2-5 inches at one side with the seam inside. Sew the other 2 inches to the other side, sew a zipp fastener into the opening. Crochet short chains of triple black wool and attach to hat, scarf and handbag, as shown in drawing.

THIS smart jumper, cap, scarf and handbag set is the latest design from London. The jumper is knitted throughout in plain black, with broken stripes darned in afterwards. The stripes could be in white, mauve or silver grey. The colours are reversed in the scarf, cap and handbag, black wool being used for the darned stripes on a background of the plain contrasting colour.

In the illustrations the jumper is shown knitted in white with black stripes and the accessories reversed. Garter stitch is used throughout, that is, plain knitting for each row. When each section of the work is cast off, however, a stitch is dropped at regular intervals. This dropped stitch will run right down to the beginning of the work—just like a ladder in a silk stocking—and into these "ladders" the coloured stripes is darned.

BEGIN the front at lower edge, cast on 63 st in black wool, work in garter stitch. Cast on 1 st at beginning and end at the following rows: 77th, 93rd, 109th, 125th row. Work straight up to 165th row without casting off. 167th row: Begin the armhole (drop every 7th st when casting off). Cast off 4 st; 158th row: Cast off 4 st; 159th row: Cast off 1 st at beginning and end. Then work straight up to 163rd row without casting off.

Then cast off all st, but note that every 7th st is to be dropped to allow

Back

Cast on 63 st at lower edge in black wool, knit in garter stitch. Cast on 1 st at beginning and end, i.e., 2 st in every needle on the following rows: 49th, 65th, 81st, 97th, 113th row. Work straight up to the armhole without casting off. 153rd row: Cast off 4 st; 154th row: Cast off 4 st; Then work straight up to 161st row without casting off, then cast off all st. Note that every 7th st is to be dropped. Darn with a double thread of white wool into the intervals, 5 times in all.

Front Yoke

Work from right-side to left-side. Cast on 20 st at lower edge, work in garter stitch. Cast on 1 st for the sloping of the shoulders at following rows: 21st, 33rd, 51st, 63rd row. Use this line as shoulder seam.

Begin to cast off for the neck: 69th row cast off 8 st; 71st, 73rd, and 75th row: Cast off 1 st. Then work straight up to 85th row without casting off.

Cast off 10 st at 85th row for the opening.

80th row:—Cast on 10 st. 91st, 93rd and 95th row: Cast on 1 st.

97th row: Cast on 8 st. At 98th row is the same number of st as at 80th row.

Then work straight up to 103th row, from here cast off 1 st at the following rows: 104th, 110th, 116th and 146th row. Cast off all st—st 167th row. Note that every 7th st is to be dropped when casting off. Darn with a double thread into the intervals as mentioned above.

Back Yoke

Begin at left-hand side, cast on 20 st in black wool and work in garter stitch, cast on 1 st at the following rows: 22nd, 38th, 40th and 48th row. This side is used as shoulder seam. Then work straight up to 98th row.

98th row:—Cast off 1 st as well as at the 100th, 108th and 124th row.

140th row:—Cast off all st. When casting off, drop every 7th st, darn with a double thread in white wool, as mentioned above.

Sew the yokes to the front and back sections, join the shoulder seams. Crochet the neck with one row of double crochet in black wool.

Sleeves

Cast on 48 st. at lower edge, rib the first 20 rows in knit 2, p 2. Then work in garter stitch up to the armhole.

181st row: Cast off 3 st. 182nd row: Cast off 3 st. Drop every 7th st when casting off. Then cast off 1 st regularly at 183rd-210th row.

217th row: Cast off all st. When dropping every 7th st be careful to catch the dropped stitch at the top of the wrist ribbing as the darned stripes end there.

Darn into the intervals with white thread as mentioned before.

If a short sleeve is desired, 1 oz of black wool and 1/2 oz of white wool loss is required. Cast on the same number of st, but work 85 rows up to the armhole, then cast off the same number of st at the armhole. Crochet the edge of the pullover

HIDDEN NAMES PUZZLE

Home Cinema and Mickey Mouse Films As Prize For Boy or Girl Who Finds Eleven Countries

HERE is a competition for Hongkong boys and girls. It is a new names puzzle. It is not very difficult and all boys and girls not over 14 may send in. The prize for the correct and nearest entry will be a splendid Home Cinema, complete with film. Age will be taken into account when making the award. You have to make the names of eleven countries in Europe out of the letters on the little flags shown. Use any flag, but once only in each name. The map is a guide for you.

ENGLAND gives you a start. Can you make Italy or Germany, and so on, from the letters given? Having found the eleven names—or as many as you can—write them in a neat list on a postcard, adding your name, age and address underneath. Post it to arrive by next Wednesday.

All cards must be Juniors' own unaided work; Uncle Eddie's decision is final.

Send your entry on a postcard to:

Wyndham Street.

WOUNDED DOG

by John Woodward

IN the healthy dog, slight bites or wounds usually heal quickly; but his own licking is not sufficient treatment. This, like so many theories about dogs, is an old wives' tale.

Surrounding hair should first be clipped with scissors, in case it is the cause of irritation or even poisoning. If the wound is clean, tincture of iodine should be applied without previous washing; otherwise it should be bathed with anti-septic solution—iodine in water, boracic, or peroxide of hydrogen—in such a way that grit or dust is carried out by the flow of the liquid.

To rub or dab is unprofessional and inadequate. Excessive bleeding can be staunched with a pad of cotton-wool, soaked in the solution.

If a bandage is needed, common sense will point the way to apply it, tightly enough but not too tightly. For subsequent daily treatment, boracic powder is useful; or a healing dressing may be made of boracic and zinc ointments, mixed in equal parts.

A cut foot must be examined with care, and pieces of broken glass, splinters or thorns removed. A tight bandage round the leg helps to stop the bleeding; and after the foot has been dressed a protective "boot," made in the form of a small bag, should be tied round the leg.

In the case of a torn ear-flap, another common mishap, the edges of the wound should be held together with medicated plaster. A special collar, like an Elizabethan ruff, can be bought, or made out of cardboard, and will prevent the dog from scratching his ears—or any head wound.

For burns or scalds, carroll oil is a good remedy; or a paste of bicarbonate of soda and water. When there is nothing else available, flour can be spread thickly over the injured part.

Is Your Name CHRISTINA?

Symbol:

A Roman maiden chained to a stone pillar.

THE inner meaning of this name is contempt of danger, fearless truth, nobility of character.

Thursday promises you good fortune if your name is Christina, and luck favours you most at the hour of noon. The luckiest day of the month is the 21st.

Cream and saxe blue are the colours that belong to you; they interpret your personality better than any others.

The topaz is the gem assigned to you; it protects you from slander and enmity.

The tall hollyhock is your special flower; its grace and dignity accord well with the meaning of your name.

Summit SHIRTS

A definite but delicate note of colour... a finely woven fabric, silken smooth in texture... an air of distinction modestly expressed... it is for these things that Summit Woven Lustra Shirts are approved by men whose judgment in these matters is unquestioned. Every pattern is permanently woven into the cloth itself. And these shirts, each complete with two soft collars, represent unusually good value.

SIR F. LEITH-ROSS

LEAVING FOR HOME IN MARCH

Shanghai, Feb. 28. Sir Frederick Leith-Ross and party arrived here this afternoon by the Empress of Japan. Interviewed Sir Frederick said that he had obtained a very good impression of Canton and Hongkong.

He said that probably he is leaving for home next month. He added that he might return home via Japan but had not yet decided.—Wah Kiu Yat Po.

ALL NIGHT SITTING DELAYS BUSINESS

London, Feb. 28. The House of Commons held an all night sitting which started at 2.45 p.m. yesterday afternoon and finished about noon today. Thus the sitting lasted almost 22 hours.

Four women members sat through the meeting. This prolonged sitting will mean that the programme arranged for today will be dropped.—Reuter's Bulletin.

Two cases each of Meningitis and Diphtheria (one imported) were reported to the local Health authorities on Thursday.

mands. Such being the case, it has been decided to seek a forceful settlement by the use of military force.

EMPEROR'S ORDERS

Shanghai, Feb. 28. According to a Japanese report, the troops responsible for the enforcing of martial law, under General Kashi, Tokyo Garrison Commander, were instructed at 5.30 a.m. to evict the rebels on the personal order of the Emperor.

However, it was understood that action was delayed in order to give the rebels a last chance of peaceful evacuation.—Reuter.

NO FIRING NECESSARY

Shanghai, Feb. 28. The Japanese Embassy announces that General Kashi, Tokyo Garrison Commander, issued an order at 5.30 a.m. (Tokyo time) that the bested rebels and men who were to be considered as rebels and would be suppressed under Imperial orders.

It is reliably stated that Government troops are gradually closing in on the rebels. However, there was no firing up to Japanese reports that a last had been opened on the rebels.—United Press.

EARLIER REPORTS

Shanghai, Feb. 28. A blanket of silence surrounds Tokyo which this morning is completely cut off from the outside world. Grave developments in Japan's Capital are feared to be proceeding.

The Japanese Consul-General in Hongkong was no further informed of the position in his capital today. His information is that Tokyo is in a state of confusion. With respect to the fate of the rebel troops who have refused to surrender, he states he is informed that the Government may use force to dislodge them, but that subsequent actions depend upon the attitude of the insurgents themselves.

A United Press review of the situation in Washington this morning, states that a smothering censorship obscures whether the extremist leaders and the men who followed them have surrendered, whether there is fighting, or whether they are standing "pat."

The Tokyo correspondent for the service at 10 p.m. last night sent the following radio message to Washington:

"The Army has issued a radio communique saying that the new compromise efforts had failed, that the situation was unchanged, and that General Kashi, the commander of the Tokyo garrison forces, was prepared to blast the rebels from the Government buildings with artillery unless they surrendered or withdrew. The Japanese Embassy at Washington said despatches from Tokyo at 5 p.m. (Tokyo time) yesterday, said the insurgents were ready to return to their barracks. The Embassy lacked details, however. It had not learned what agreement, if any, had been reached."

Neither is there any indication in Washington of the complexion of the future Government of Japan. Tokyo despatches to Washington variously hinted at a military dictatorship, a council of state or a right wing Cabinet. The only thing definite about the position is that no authority has yet said that the rebels have returned to their barracks.

REFUSE TO SURRENDER

London, Feb. 28. An Exchange Telegraph message to London from Tokyo received at 10 a.m. Saturday states that the rebels have refused to abide by their agreement to surrender.

Since this development all communications have been halted, with the exception of colourless Government messages.—United Press.

TRULY NATIONAL CABINET

Washington, Feb. 28. Authoritative advice from Tokyo states that an influential section of the press is urging "a truly national Cabinet" in which the Army presumably would have strong influence.

The press suggested it would be useless for Prince Salinger, the Governor, to form a new Government, as the revolt was directed against the Elder Statesmen System.

This argument is regarded as significant, since the press is censured and presumably cannot publish views contrary to those of the persons at present in power.

GENEVA TO DECIDE POLICY

his course until peace is signed.—British Wireless.

NOTES COMMUNICATED

Geneva, Feb. 28. Senor Vasconcellos, Chairman of the Committee of Coordination Measures under Article XVI of the League Covenant, has announced the Committee of Eighteen for March 2.

Point one on the agenda is the application of proposal four (A) namely, the possible extension of an embargo on consignments to Italy of petroleum, coal, pig iron and steel. Point two is the second report of the Expert Committee, instructed to follow the application of sanctions and their effects.

The United Kingdom Government has sent the Chairman of the co-ordination Committee a letter, dated February 16, forwarding for the information of members of the Committee the British reply to the Italian communication concerning an exchange of views between the United Kingdom and the French Government and certain other Governments, as to the application of Article 16 of the Covenant. The origin this affair is a note verbale handed to the British Government by the Italian Ambassador in London, January 24, to state the Italian opinion concerning the said exchange of views.

The latter related to the assistance that the British Government might expect from the French, Hellenic and Yugoslav Governments should special military measures be taken by Italy against Great Britain owing to the latter's participation in international action under Article 16. The text of the Italian note verbale was attached by the United Kingdom Government to its communication to the Chairman of the Co-ordination Committee, and has thus been brought to the notice of states members of the Committee as well as the reply made by the United Kingdom Government. These exchanges of notes have recently been communicated to the press.

The new fact is that in accordance with the British request they have been officially communicated to all states members of the Co-ordination Committee.—League of Nations Press.

the purpose of financing the Bonus payment;

(2) $1,017,000,000 for the farm programme expenses in 1934 and 1935. The farm expenses will be met firstly by $500,000,000 permanent annual taxation replacing the revenue which was outlawed by the invalidation of the A.A.A., secondly, by temporary taxation possibly spread over a period of three years, reimbursing the revenue collected during the current fiscal year but for the A.A.A. decision.

Part of the latter sum, it is hinted, will be obtained from a special income tax assessed against the processors who obtained refunds on the A.A.A. decision.

President said that he had not suggested any method for the imposition of the taxes to Congress. Also he said that with the exception of the Bonus levy all would be replacements instead of new taxation. He emphasised the point that when the Treasury had achieved the revenue the budget will be balanced as it was before the Bonus Bill was passed and the A.A.A. invalidated. He said that the inflationists are attempting to force inflation instead of taxation.

Senator Pat Harrison, Democrat of Mississippi and Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said that the taxes would probably be enacted without delaying the adjournment of Congress on May 1.

President Roosevelt's tax message to Congress is expected to be delivered either on Tuesday or Wednesday next.—United Press.

CANTON HOLD PLANE

Canton, Feb. 28. The Canton authorities have blocked the Shanghai-Europe Air-mail Service by holding the aeroplane leaving for Hanoi to link with the French line for Marseilles.

The Canton-Hanoi service is operated by the China National Aviation Corporation, owned forty-five per cent. by the Pan-American Airways while Canton wants the service to be run by its own commercial planes for Hanoi via Luncheon on the Kwangsi-Annam frontier.—Special.

It will be recalled that the first flight by an aeroplane of the China National Aviation Corporation was made a week or two ago, but the twin-motored plane went no further than Fort Bayard bad weather forcing it. The delay there had to continue the trip to Hanoi and the mails were carried back to Canton by the same machine. The mails went from Canton to Europe by steamer.

Canton Action

Canton, Feb. 28. The China Aviation plane "Fukien", which arrived here yesterday carrying the full load of mail for Hanoi, was detained yesterday at Tai Sia Tau Aerodrome by the local Authority here, pending settlement of the outstanding dispute between the China Aviation Corporation and South-West Civil Aviation Company in Canton. The China Aviation has recently obtained Nanking Government consent to run the airway between here and Hanoi, but the arrangement was opposed by the South West Civil Aviation Company. The latter company claims that the former is a Slavic American organisation, and should not operate the Canton-Hanoi line.—Wah Kiu Yat Po.

We are informed that the plane was held by the officials of the Bureau of Public Safety.

Knowledge of this was denied by the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs.

THIS WEEK'S FIXTURES AND NEXT WEEK'S DOINGS

"A very successful tea dance was held at the Cheero Club on Wednesday afternoon. This is a new venture and is proving very popular. The next tea-dance will be held on Wednesday, March 4, from 5 to 7.30 p.m.; admission 40 cts., which includes tea. The "Eight Cornwallians" gave a very good concert at the Club on Wednesday night to a packed house, and the whole show was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

On Thursday, a Mah Jongg and Bridge drive was held at the Club in the evening, the winners being as follows: Mah Jongg, Highest Mrs. Sanderson, Sealed No. Miss Swan, Highest Mr. Medicine, Contract Bridge, Highest Mr. Hacker, Sealed No. Mr. Gaskir, Booby, Mr. Lewis. Auction Bridge, Highest Mrs. Deacon. The prizes were presented by Mrs. Johnson, and M. C. duties were carried out by Mr. Shaw. Providing sufficient support is forthcoming, these drives will be held every Thursday, the next one being on Thursday, March 5, commencing at 8.30 p.m.; admission 50 cts., which includes light refreshments.

On Monday, next, March 2, there will be the usual weekly dance commencing at 8.30 p.m.; on Tuesday a Whist drive commencing at 8.30 p.m.; and on Wednesday a ten dance from 5 to 7.30 p.m. On Wednesday at 8 p.m. Mr. Bevan and His Concert Party will perform.

MISSIONARY HELD

FATHER BURNS' CAPTORS TRACED

Peiping, Feb. 28. The bandits who are holding Father Joseph Clarence Burns, of the Maryknoll Mission, was seen in a car in east Kiang on February 23. No demand for ransom has been received.—United Press.

Father Burns was kidnapped by bandits just outside Tientsin while he was on his way by carriage, in the company of his Chinese assistant and a servant, to conduct religious services. The incident occurred on February 5. The carriage driver begged to be released and he was set free by the bandits. When the Japanese authorities heard of the outrage they sent thirty soldiers to look for Father Burns but without success. A later report saying that Father Burns had been killed fortunately proved incorrect.

Father Burns comes from Toledo, Ohio.

THE LOOP-LINE

PART OF THE WHAMPAO HARBOUR SCHEME

Canton, Feb. 28. A spokesman of the Canton-Kowloon Railway Administration, when interviewed yesterday stated that the linking up of this railway with the Canton-Hankow Railway is bound to be only a matter of time.

The spokesman pointed out that a project for developing Whampao harbour has been under consideration of the Central Government, and the project includes the building of a railway running from this city to the city of Shaochen, western suburb of this city, but may link up with the Canton-Hankow railway two years after the opening of the port at Whampao. Such arrangement for linking up of these two lines would not affect the commercial situation of Canton but only develop the communication with the interior of China.—Wah Kiu Yat Po.

SERVICES WELL REPRESENTED

(By "Veritas")

Fifty nine players will participate in the Hongkong open lawn tennis singles championship which starts next month at the H.K.C.C., while 32 couples have entered in the open doubles championship. This is a big improvement on last year when the entries numbered only 46 in the singles and 24 in the doubles.

It is interesting to note how the number of participants have fluctuated over the last nine years. Here are the figures from 1927 to 1935 inclusive.

| | Singles | Doubles |
|------|---------|---------|
| 1927 | 44 | 25 |
| 1928 | 44 | 33 |
| 1929 | 48 | 32 |
| 1930 | 52 | 31 |
| 1931 | 60 | 49 |
| 1932 | 82 | 44 |
| 1933 | 58 | 32 |
| 1934 | 60 | 31 |
| 1935 | 46 | 24 |
| 1936 | 59 | 32 |

Over a dozen players who did not compete last year have entered for the current tournament. They include N.A.E. Mackay, Surg-Comdr. Grant, Wing-Comdr. Bishop, Lt-Comdr. Conway, S. Ling, H. A. Phillips, Capt. Craig, Maj. Nal-kwong, P. R. Zimmerman, Capt. Milne, I.M.A. Razack, Capt. Walsh, Lai Kwong-tsun and Wei Chun-tung.

Notable absentees are Ho Ka-lau, who is temporarily in Shanghai and G.H.M. Rickella, last year's finalist.

NEW DOUBLES COMBINATION

Several new doubles pairs are taking part. The former E. C. Fincher-L. Goldman combination is broken up, Fincher teaming with W. C. Hung and Goldman with Alice Pearce.

An interesting combination is that of Lai Kwong-tsun (Canton champion) and Paul Kong, former Shanghai Interceptor and erstwhile Davis Cupper.

The Rumjahn cousins are again defending their title, and may run up against serious opposition in either Lai and Kong, Fincher and Hung, or Leo Wal-long and Luk Ding-cheung. The Lo brothers are competing again, while M. W. Lo is entered for the singles and meets S. Ling in the first round.

I hope to write a full analysis of the draw later. In the meantime the draw, made yesterday, is as follows.

OPEN SINGLES

First Round—Tsuai Yun-pui and M. Pagh, bye; N. A. E. Mackay v. K. T. Kwik; Surg. Lieut. Grant v. Lu Tak-cheuk; H. D. Rumjahn v. W. J. Howard; Wing-Comdr. Bishop v. Luk Chun-cheung; C. H. Ung v. Y. C. Lau; R. Choa v. Lieut. Comdr. Conway; Lai Kwong-tsun v. Y. Hachuma; S. Ling v. M. W. Lo; J. W. Leonard v. A. L. Sullivan; M. Drysdale v. Wong Fuk-nam; E. C. Fincher v. A. Crawford; Lieut. Phillips v. Capt. Craig; Leo Huan-ngak v. A. E. P. Guest; H. Owen Hughes v. Ma Nal-kwong; F. R.

South Africa Make A Shaky Start

Durban, Feb. 28. South Africa did not too well today when the fifth and final Test match against Australia was started under a sunless sky.

South Africa won the toss and batted first, the close of play finding them with 189 runs on the board for the loss of eight wickets.

Charlie Grimmett bowled wonderfully well and had the batsmen all tied up. So far he has claimed seven of the eight wickets.

Only A. D. Nourse faced the attack confidently and he collected a very useful half century.

Bad light stopped play half an hour before schedule time. Reuter.

OPEN DOUBLES

E. C. Fincher and W. C. Hung v. Y. N. Tan and P. C. Lee; Lieut. Lucy and Lieut. Phillips v. M. Drysdale and J. Tavares; Wong Fuk-nam and K. P. Lui v. Lu Tak-lam and Lu Tak-cheuk; T. A. Pearce v. T. C. Monaghan; W. Shute v. P. Seconer; Wei Chun-tung v. R. Blyth; F. H. Kwok v. K. Shute; D. M. MacDougall, J. Tavares and S. A. Rumjahn drew byes.

Osmund In His Best Form

FINE BILLIARDS

A. J. Osmund played brilliant billiards at the Kowloon Cricket Club last evening to beat Yan Cham-pong in the quarter-final of the Colony open billiard championship by 500 to 261.

Evidently very respectful of his opponent, Osmund concentrated on a faultless game and by clever safety tactics and exceptionally fine positional and stroke play, ran out a comfortable winner.

Osmund was continually making interesting breaks, his best being 80, 67, 71, 44, 61, 33, and 33 unfinished, the latter taking him to his points.

Lam, always struggling to extricate himself from difficult positions, could chalk up only 48 as his best break.

Beats Phillips In K.C.C. Final

N. Rakusan won the Kowloon Cricket Club senior billiards championship yesterday when he defeated R. P. Phillips in the final by 400 to 205.

Rakusan played very confidently and quickly established a lengthy lead, which Phillips, by dint of consistent, though not very big scoring, managed to cut in half before the match finished.

Rakusan's best break was 44, but he also chalked up a 40, 37, and 31 unfinished. Phillips' best break was 25.

The final of the club's junior championship has yet to be played, the contestants being M. Pagh and F. E. Lawrence.

GERMANY BEATS SPAIN

IN SOCCER MATCH

Barcelona, Feb. 28. At the second international football match between Germany and Spain, played this afternoon at the Montjuich Stadium, Germany won by 2-1, thus avenging her defeat in Germany last May when the score was exactly reversed. The vast stadium, which holds about 70,000 spectators, was sold out entirely. Enthusiasm of the spectators ran high from the very beginning as they followed the swift play. Both goals for Germany were kicked by the outside left, Fath, the smallest man in the German team.

Oxford beat Cambridge by 6-5 in lacrosse in the annual inter-varsity match, but Cambridge beat Oxford by 778 points to 770 in the miniature rifle match. Reuter's Bulletin.

Fred Perry To Train With The Arsenal

Fred Perry, Wimbledon lawn tennis champion, is making a good recovery from his recent back injury and is expected to accept an offer to train with the Arsenal football players at High-bury.

He was at an Arsenal match recently, and was afterwards told that the club would be pleased to have him with them when training if he cared to avail himself of their facilities.

He is still undergoing treatment for his injury, but will probably be able to go to the Arsenal ground to do some running, and light exercises in the immediate future.

DAVIS CUP DRAW

AND DATES FOR PLAYING

(By H. S. Scrivenor)

London, Feb. 4. For the first time in history the draw for this year's Davis Cup competition was made at the Mansion House yesterday, where the Lord Mayor presided over the proceedings. Sir Samuel Hoare, President of the Lawn Tennis Association, was not present, and in a letter from Switzerland apologising for his absence wrote: "My doctor wishes me to have a somewhat longer rest." Thus the draw was made with due ceremony by the leading citizen of the capital of the country to which the game owes its origin.

Germany, as winners last year, for the third time since 1920, of the European group, meeting amongst others Australia in the semi-final and Czechoslovakia in the final, claim early attention. They are in the lower half of the draw and meet Spain, who have lost that series of dashing but somewhat unreliable player, Maler, in the first round.

I regard the upper half of the draw, which contains France and Czechoslovakia, as rather the stronger of the two; but it is quite within the bounds of possibility that Sweden will go far in the lower, and perhaps give the Germans their hardest match, for they have in C. Schroeder a 22-year-old player whose recent record has been most impressive.

He won the Paris covered court Christmas tournament, beat the Spaniard, the German ace, von Cramm, Landry, Feret, and Roussas (now ranked No. 1 in France) as well as Stedman, the New Zealander; whilst in the covered court championships of his own country, which he also won, he beat Beretta. He has also broken the German ace, von Cramm. It may, however, be inferred that he is at his best on a covered court and not quite so formidable "outside."

THE AMERICAN GROUP

Australia this year have sought the comparative seclusion of the American group and in so doing, have managed to steer clear of the United States, whom they will meet, bar accidents, in the final of a draw which only contains four entries.

Great Britain scores through being already in the challenge round. The Americans and Australians are not badly off in having only three matches to play in order to get there. Nations of renown who are not in the lists this year are Japan and South Africa, whilst it is worth noting that Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia have drawn (Continued on Page 5.)

Manila Plans Horse Racing Next June

Manila, Feb. 24. A $500,000 corporation has been formed under the name of the Philippine Racing Club to promote horse racing in the Philippines. Purchase of a large tract of land for the new track has been negotiated by the club's organizers, who include some of Manila's most prominent American business men. The site of the track will be just outside Manila, in Rizal province, along the banks of the Pasig River, in San Pedro Makati district.

Actual operation by June is the goal of the corporation which at present is engaged in letting contracts for filling, track building, erection of grandstands, etc. Plans call for the track, including a grandstand of reinforced concrete accommodating several thousand people; stables for several hundred horses, and accommodation for trainers.

Tracks in other Far Eastern countries, including China, Japan, the Federated Malay States and Java, have been studied in making plans for the new track. The San Lazaro Hippodrome, located in the city itself, at present is the only race track in Manila and vicinity. Races are held here on the first Sunday of each month and on all legal holidays.

LUM'S LAST GAME

COMFORTABLE WIN FOR C.R.C.

Gordon Lum last night played what he expects will be his last badminton match in Hongkong before returning to Shanghai next week when he and Mrs. Lum won three games for Chinese Recreation Club against Kowloon Tong in the mixed doubles.

C.R.C., who were the visitors, enjoyed an easy win, securing all nine games at stake. Detailed scores follow.

P. C. Leung and Miss Anderson (Kowloon Tong) lost to Gordon Lum and Mrs. Lum 4-21; lost to S. P. Chan and Miss W. Cheung 1-21; lost to S. W. Liang and Miss U. Khoo 4-21. S. A. Gray and Miss Alison MacKenzie (Kowloon Tong) lost to Lum and Lum 5-21; lost to Chan and Cheung 14-21; lost to Liang and Khoo 12-21.

G. A. White and Miss I. Woolley (Kowloon Tong) lost to Lum and Lum 0-21; lost to Chan and Cheung 3-21; lost to Liang and Khoo 1-21.

JAPAN HAS A RIVAL IN FINLAND

Venue of 1940 Olympic Games is Disputed

Tokyo, Feb. 28. Finland is Japan's chief rival for the venue of the 1940 Olympic Games, according to a report received today by the Japan Olympic Committee. The Helsinki authorities, the report added, have already secured strong support among small powers, which cannot afford to expend large sums for the transportation of their teams to Japan, should Tokyo be chosen as the site of the Games.

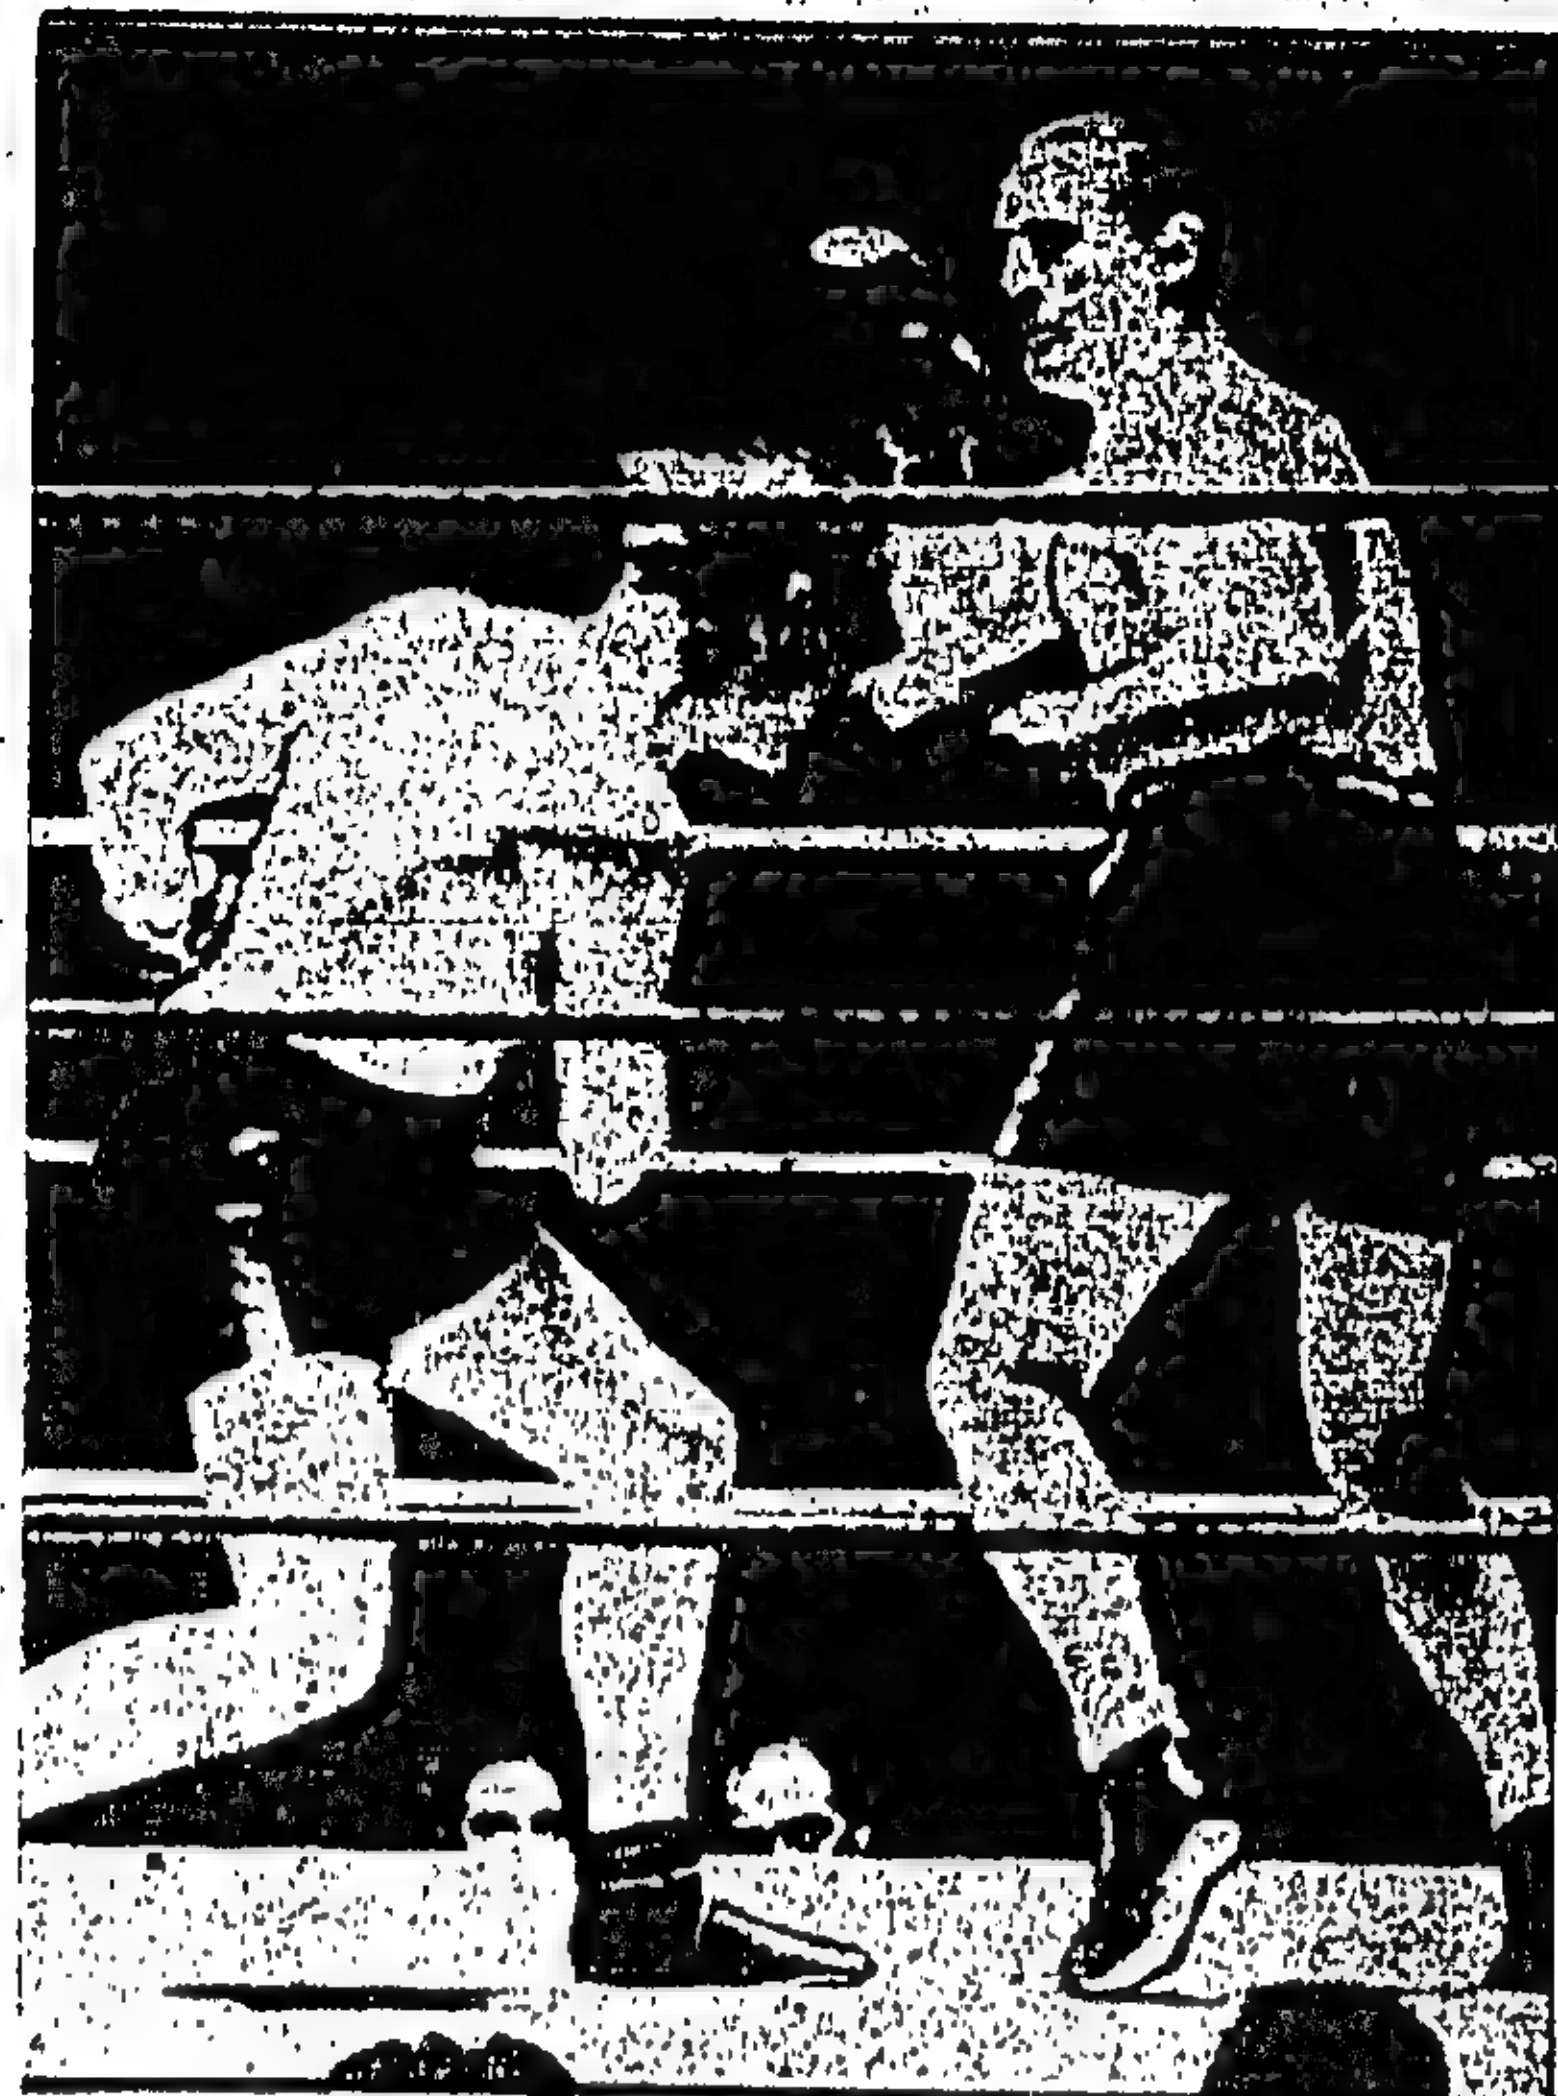

Officials of the Japanese organization said that they would try to persuade Count Baillet-Latour, President of the International Olympic Committee, who will arrive in Japan on a visit next month, of the advisability of awarding the 1940 Olympiad to Tokyo.

The first meeting of the special committee which will take charge of activities aiming at bringing the Games to this country will be held early next month, when it will receive reports of its various sub-committees. The final decision on the venue of the Games will be made in July, when the International Olympic Committee meets in Berlin.

K.I.T.C. HOCKEY TEAM

The following will represent the Kowloon Indian Tennis Club in a Marnak League hockey match against the Police to-morrow at 8 o'clock. Ramzan; Ramall Singh (Captain); and Kishan Singh; J. Noronha; Tara Singh and Pervin; D. Noronha; An Khan, Awtar Singh, Pinto and Souza.

TOMMY FARR BEATS LOUGHRAN

Tommy Farr, hard-punching British heavyweight boxer, is having trouble landing with any regularity upon the torso of Tommy Loughran, polished American boxer and former light-heavyweight champion of the world. Loughran, though aging, is still one of the ring's cleverest boxers, and used all his cunning to hold Farr off. Farr was given the decision in the bout fought in Albert Hall, London.

FALSE COUNTS TO VANISH FROM THE RING

By New Timing Device

Sacramento, Cal. Long counts will vanish from the prize fight ring if every club and arena adopts an automatic timing device which has been perfected by two Sacramento men.

The instrument not only times the rounds and rest periods and rings the gong at the start and finish of each round, but automatically records the seconds—in lights—when a referee calls off the knockdown count. The official timer may operate the instrument by means of a button and need not take his eyes off the fight to keep them glued on a stopwatch.

TIMER PRESS BUTTON

A push button operating the knockdown indicator is the only manual control in the three-piece device. The knockdown timer is driven by a synchronous motor similar to the type used in fine electric clocks. The button connects a mechanism that lights a series of numbers from one to 10 at one-second intervals.

When a fighter is knocked down, the official timekeeper needs only to press the button and hold it down until the fighter rises. For each second the fighter is down, a number is illuminated in an upright sign placed near the ring so that all in the arena may see it. If 10 seconds elapse, the number 10 flashes red, denoting a knockout, and the timer automatically stops, thus giving the exact time the fight ended.

LIGHTS TELL STORY

Should the fighter rise to his feet before 10 seconds have been tolled, the timekeeper releases the button, and the lighted numbers go out. The timer is another synchronous motor that records rounds and rest periods. A bell sounds the start of the fight as the referee gives the starting signal. A little revolving timer operates for three minutes, then the bell sounds the end of the round. The timer continues to operate during the rest period. At 60 seconds, a buzzer warns the seconds to leave the ring. At 50 seconds, the bell rings to start the next round. The entire device is compact and easily carried about. It was invented by A. N. Walsh and H. A. Lalin. —United Press.

PROFESSOR HEADS OLYMPIC SPORTS SCHOOL

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 28. Prof. Seward C. Staley, of the University of Illinois Department of Physical Education, will conduct an International Sports Education Conference in Germany this summer during the Olympic Games.

Staley was selected as the head of the conference upon the recommendation of the American Physical Education Society. Professional physical education students will take part in the conference. Approximately 30 persons from each of the 26 nations competing in the games will attend, Staley said. The American party will sail July 15, with the American Olympic team, meeting delegations of other countries at the German border. The assembled conference then will proceed to Berlin, where study will begin.

Germany is bearing the expense of the entire conference and its participants. Staley has been granted a leave of absence from the university, where he had been scheduled to be in charge of the summer school work in Physical Education. —United Press.

CHINESE ART

RECORD CROWDS AT EXHIBITION

London, Feb. 28. Mr. Quo Tai-chi, Chinese Ambassador to the court of St. James, has gone to Geneva to attend the meeting of the committee for technical co-operation between China and the League of Nations. He will return on March 3 when he is to give a large evening party at Burlington House to celebrate the closing of the Chinese Exhibition.

With the approach of the end of the Exhibition the crowds were denser than ever yesterday, with 12,700 visitors eclipsing all records for the Royal Academy. By the end of the 13th week of the Exhibition there had been a total of 327,000 visitors. It is expected that the French Exhibition total of 340,000 will be beaten easily.

Packing of the treasures will begin the instant the Exhibition closes on March 3, and will continue night and day. Three weeks only are allowed for this prodigious labour involving the distribution to the owners all over the world.

It is not expected that a British cruiser will carry back the treasures to China, but there will be a naval escort.

Certain American enthusiasts' efforts to transfer the Exhibition to New York have failed as the American Government is unable to supply the requisite naval transport—Reuter.

CORRESPONDENCE

Cigarette-Card Collecting

(To the Editor, Hongkong Telegraph.)

Sir,—It is not uncommon to hear scorn poured on hobbies of all kinds, and in particular upon cigarette-card collecting. Nevertheless, many keen collectors of cigarette-cards, like myself, spend hours on the declaiming the heavy, intrinsic interest and informative value of such collections.

Existing facilities to stimulate greater enthusiasm in this connection, however, have hitherto not been very helpful, and I am writing, through the medium of your valuable columns, to solicit greater support from the various local concerns representing cigarette manufacturers.

If I remember correctly, the present series of "Wonders of the Sea," in circulation with "Wills' Gold Flake," was issued about two years ago, if not earlier, and there is still no sign of its being replaced. We earnest collectors are beginning to get tired of seeing so many of them.

Some time last year, a set entitled "Safety First" was issued with Player's "Clipper" cigarettes, but for a few weeks only, and many of my friends were unable to complete the sets of this particular series due to its short period of circulation.

The position as far as Chinese cigarette-cards are concerned, is rather discouraging. In most cases the cards are not numbered and the collector is often left to find out for himself the total number of cards to make up a set. Certain omissions are also deliberately effected, probably to encourage the sale of more packets.

I should like very much to hear what other cigarette-card collectors have to say on the subject.

DEFENCE CORPS

MACHINE GUNNERS AT DINNER

An enjoyable time was spent at the Volunteer Headquarters yesterday evening when the No. 1 Machine Gun Company held their annual dinner, at which about 80 people attended, including members of the Company and their friends.

Capt. H. Owen Hughes, the Company Commander, presided at the function. Col. H. C. Harrison, G.S.O., was guest of honour, and amongst those present were Col. H. L. Low, R.C.B. Anderson (Adjutant), Capt. E. G. Stewart, Capt. H. Westlake, S.M. Harrison, M.B.E., C.S.M. T. Lieut. C. de S. Robertson, M.M., Lieut. A. Urquhart, Lieut. J. R. Way and Lieut. V. C. Branson, M.C.

After an excellent steak and kidney dinner, Capt. Owen Hughes toasted the health of H.M. the King, after which he expressed thanks to Col. Harrison and the guests for their presence at the function. He said that General Staff Officers come and go, but when the time comes for Col. Harrison to leave these shores, they would all remember him for the energy and enthusiasm he had expended on behalf of the Hongkong volunteers. (Applause).

The speaker said that at annual dinners at headquarters, they were rather inclined to regard the presence of Col. Lowbigh as a matter of course. He would ask them to pause and think how much time the Commandant had given up in order to be with them, and he would ask them to remember this whenever they were reluctant to attend drills.

Capt. Owen Hughes also paid tribute to the work already done by Capt. Anderson, the new adjutant of the Corps, whom he described as a happy asset to the Hongkong Volunteers. (Applause).

Before he concluded, Capt. Owen Hughes congratulated the Company on its achievements during the past year. He said he could do so without blush as he was away from the Colony during the greater part of the year and the work was mostly done by Capt. E. G. Stewart, whilst he was away.

Speaking on behalf of himself and the guests, Col. Harrison first of all thanked the Company for asking him to be present at the gathering. He said he would like to make it clear to the Company that he had an interest in the Volunteers not because it was part of his duty, but that he personally regarded it as a privilege whenever he was with them. He had always felt like that since he had got to know them. He did not take an interest in them from any sense of duty but for the great pleasure it afforded him.

Col. Harrison said he regarded them all as "jolly fine fellows" who had given up so much of their spare time in a Colony like this and in a climate like this to be in the Volunteers, and congratulated the officers and men for their efficiency.

Other speakers were Capt. Anderson, the adjutant, who thanked the Company for the way in which every member had made him feel at home ever since his arrival in the Colony to

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

We have had Lawrence Tibbett, Lily Pons, Everett Marshall, Mary Ellis and Nino Martini as recruits from the Metropolitan Opera to motion pictures, and now comes the glorious voice of Gladys Swarthout, who may be seen and heard (and heard, and heard, and heard!) in Paramount's "Rose Of The Rancho," which opened yesterday at the Queen's Theatre. Miss Swarthout, who is as lovely to look at as she is lovely to hear, plays the daughter of a wealthy Spanish family. John Boles is co-starred with Miss Swarthout in her motion picture debut and this makes a happy combination. Boles with his rugged yet suave, handsomeness, and his own claim to distinction as a singer, is the perfect match for Miss Swarthout. This picture also represents an entirely new technique in screen musicals. Here, before motion picture producers have been somewhat baffled by the difficulty of presenting songs without slowing up the story, but Composers Ralph Ringer and Robin have over come this problem. They wrote the songs to tie in directly with the dialogue. The music becomes a natural extension of the lines. A new comedy team, Willie Howard and Herb Williams, both prominent for years on Broadway and in vaudeville, takes care of the lighter moments in the film and these boys perform with such a degree of finesse that their future as a motion picture team is above doubt. Mention also must be made of Gladys Swarthout, the saloon charmer who helps Willie Howard lose his cash. H. B. Warner, the kindly old Don Castro, father of Rosita, Charlotte Granville, as Donna Petrona and Don Alvarado as Don Luis, affianced to Rosita.

"Barbary Coast"

There is enough colour for a hundred novels in the real lives of the men who play the "Vigilantes," miners, gamblers and bar-tenders in "Barbary Coast," Samuel Goldwyn's colourful drama of America's last frontier of emotions, which is now showing at the King's Theatre, with Miriam Hopkins, Edward G. Robinson and Joel McCrea in the leading roles. To get the greatest accuracy and realism into their picture, producer Goldwyn and Director Howard Hawks secured for these roles as many men as possible with such experiences in their careers. The result was one of the most unusual collections of characters ever seen in a single motion picture. One of the "gamblers" began his career behind a faro table in Yuma, Arizona; another was a Tombstone, Arizona, sheriff's deputy; still another was a "lookout" at the games in the saloon of his father, a famous faro dealer, who came west in 1853, and the bartender actually tended bar on the real Barbary Coast in the early 1900's. Miriam Hopkins has her most spectacular role as Swan, a beautiful girl grown hard, cold and bitter behind the roulette wheel of the Bell Hotel cafe. Edward G. Robinson plays the ruthless and jealous Chamales, who runs the place and Joel McCrea is seen as Jim Carmichael, a fine, clean-cut young gold miner who wanders into Swan's life and by his love transforms her. Charles MacArthur and Ben Hecht wrote the screenplay of "Barbary Coast," while Howard Hawks handled the megaphone. The film is released through United Artists.

"Whipsaw"

Girl! If you would capture the attention of Spencer Tracy, the screen star, you must be an alluring combination of Jean Harlow, Virginia Bruce and Myrna Loy. Tracy's "ideal woman," as he described her recently to an interviewer in Hollywood, must possess: Jean Harlow's tomboyishness; Virginia Bruce's softness; Myrna Loy's sense of humour. "What a wife she would make for any man!" mused Tracy, contemplating the charms of his mythical ideal.

CHARITY FUNDS

ST. JOHN AMBULANCE APPEAL RESPONSE

The St. John Ambulance Brigade gratefully acknowledges the following donations:

Mr. H. H. Beddow, $10.
Street Sleepers' Shelter Society.

The following is a report of the number of sleepers who occupied the shelters during the seven nights (February 21 to February 27 inclusive):

St. Peter's (West Point).—Capacity 120, total sleepers 903, turned away 23.

Po. Yan Street (Central).—Capacity 150, total sleepers 1,120, turned away 24.

Nathan Road (Kowloon).—Capacity 150, total sleepers 1,033, turned away 6.

The capacity of all three shelters is again overtaxed.

The star confessed, however, that if he had to sacrifice two of the qualities he thinks the perfect woman should possess, he would retain the Loy-ish sense of humour. He has just completed his first co-starring picture of the Miss Loy, "Whipsaw," new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature directed by Sam Wood, and opening on Sunday at the Alhambra Theatre. With the stars in the feature is a notable cast including Harvey Step- hens, William Harrigan, John Qualen, Robert Warwick, Irene Franklin, Lillian Leighton, Wade Boteler, William Ingersoll and others.

"The Nitwits"

Hilarious comedy, thrilling mystery suspense and catchy music are expertly combined in "The Nitwits," Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey's new starring comedy, coming tomorrow to the Star Theatre. With Bert and Bob playing the title roles as amateur sleuths, the story plot deals with the mysterious slaying of a song publishing magnate of Tin Pan Alley. Embued with a mission to snare the killer and clear Wheeler's sweetheart of suspicion, the boys blunder their way into one uproarious situation after another, as well as many precarious dilemmas. Three snappy new musical numbers, "You Opened My Eyes," "Music In My Heart" and "The Black Widow Will Get You If You Don't Watch Out" add melodious variety to the fast moving production directed by George Stevens. Supporting the two comedy stars is a strong cast including Fred Keating, Betty Grable, Evelyn Brent, Erik Rhodes, Hale Hamilton, Arthur Aylesworth, Dorothy Granger and Willie Best. "The Nitwits" is an RKO Radio Picture.

"One Exciting Adventure"

When manner, more despicable villains are more, Paul Cavanaugh will be all of them. He pursues Binnie Barnes over half of Europe in "One Exciting Adventure." He looks like the meekest, most amiable person in the world but when he decides to turn on his banter self, there is no "Binnie" quite as bad. As theatre audiences have learned to expect him, he is the suave, most devastating villain of the year in "One Exciting Adventure," next change at the Queen's Theatre. From the moment he appears on the screen when his identity is still unknown, spectators will know that he is watching Binnie for no good purpose. "One Exciting Adventure," is a gay and romantic story of two of Europe's most celebrated diamond thieves. Miss Barnes appears as the most glamorous figure in the most fascinating menace. There is a brilliant cast headed by Neil Hamilton, Eugene Pallett, Ferdinand Gottschalk, Doris Lloyd and Edward Keane.

Neglect of COMMON ILLS MAY MEAN days of suffering

WHOLE days of suffering, and in many cases weeks of anxiety and pain can be definitely avoided by the simple action of taking 'ASPRO.' When people realise what a wonderful medicine reduces feverishness, and how, after ingestion in the system, being a solvent of uric acid—an internal antiseptic—an anti-pyretic or fever reducer—and a powerful germicide, it strikes at the cause of numerous complaints, then much suffering will be avoided—much illness prevented.

ANNOUNCING An Appeal

IN AID OF

ST. JOHN AMBULANCE ASSOCIATION AND BRIGADE HONGKONG AND CHINA DISTRICT

The work and status of the ST. JOHN AMBULANCE ASSOCIATION & BRIGADE in the life of this Colony are well-known to the majority of residents, but it is not generally realised that this SOCIETY, which has no accumulated reserves, and, since the formation of the ASSOCIATION in 1833, HAS RECEIVED NO GRANT FROM PUBLIC FUNDS, is in urgent need of money to carry on its varied activities.

Always Ready In Emergency

Since the formation of the Association in Hongkong, records show that its members have rendered signal service in every outstanding happening—whether disaster, typhoon or unusual event associated with the life of the Colony. In one season, during a recent small-pox epidemic, over 400,000 people were vaccinated by members of St John Ambulance—

working day and night. Out of the Funds it has raised, Five Motor Ambulances have been purchased and loaned to the Colony. In the event of emergency, members will be called upon to supplement the requirements of the Military, Naval and Civil Authorities, but the necessary equipment cannot be purchased without cash.

is the Organisation formed by the amalgamation of the Society inaugurated by Sir Elly Kadoorie, Messrs. L. Kadoorie, Joseph, Raymond, Professor Gerrard and Dr. Arthur Woo who established Clinics at TSUEN WAN, TUEN MUN, PING SHAN and SHATIN, and the Organisation of St. John which operated centres at KAM TIN, SHEUNG SHUI, SAN TIN, FANLING, SHATAU KOK, TING KOK, and SAI KUNG.

Most of these centres continue their work and message of mercy amongst the villagers, relieving suffering, dispelling suspicion and superstition, caring for mothers and infants and instilling the principles of Hygiene, First Aid and Home-Nursing, where formerly no such help was available.

"PLEASE HELP"

IT IS HOPED THAT THIS APPEAL, WHICH IS THE FIRST PUBLIC ONE MADE ON BEHALF OF THE LOCAL ORGANISATION OF ST. JOHN OF JERUSALEM, WILL NOT BE IN VAIN, AND THAT THERE WILL BE AN ENCOURAGING RESPONSE FROM THE COMMUNITY OF HONGKONG WHO HAVE NEVER FAILED TO ANSWER THE CALL—

Small Town Girl

THE STORY THUS FAR

Waiting for her sister Emily to graduate from Wellesley, so that she herself can enter and escape the dull, uneventful town of Carvel, Kay Brannan, petite and beautiful, reads Emily's letter in high excitement. It mentions Dana Ripley who will be visiting the Brannans in Carvel during the summer. But Emily graduates and the months pass with only apologetic letters from Dana. Kay is fearful that Emily will marry George Hastings, the grocer. Kay herself has scornfully turned down Elmer Radford, a mechanic. But Emily takes a position as a school teacher and now Kay's great adventure is drawing near. Then the big day arrives. Kay departs for school, sorry to say goodbye to her home but happily confident of a glorious future.

CHAPTER V.

Kay met Helen Ripley during the first month of college. She had been quick to make friends, for it was easy to like Kay and hard not to; and within twenty-four hours after she was established in her room—she would live this first year in the village where many of the Freshmen were housed—she had become a part of a group which was to cling together during the two years that followed. Mary Bingham, round as an apple, with a bloom on her cheeks, was from Kansas and she had a pink perfection of good health which Kay approved delightedly. Sally Hays was a sophisticated, speaking wisely and modestly which were clothed for Kay in the glamour of mystery. Lucy Smith from East Harbour, Maine, was perpetually good-humoured, as stalwart as a man, destined to be dominant in athletics and to be troubled by her scholastic duties through her four college years. These three and Kay became devoted, and it was rare to see one of them without some one of the others in company. It was Sally Hays who brought Helen Ripley into the circle. "Helen wanted to meet you," she told Kay one evening at supper, "and I asked her to come down to-night."

"Of course," Kay agreed. Her colour heightened faintly; but her tone was pleasant enough. "Emily spoke to me about her," she confessed; and when Helen did appear, Kay greeted her with that feminine warmth which is not hypocrisy, since it deceives the subject not at all. Helen kissed Kay and hugged her vigorously, and asked for Emily; and Kay, to her own surprise, liked her.

Later, when she and Helen were alone together, Kay told the other girl, frankly, "You know, I was prepared to hate you, Helen. But I don't. I hope we're going to be friends all through college."

Helen asked in perplexity: "Hate me? Why? Because I made no much trouble for Emily? She was a peach about it, Kay."

Kay shook her head. "No, because of Dana. He didn't come up to see us this summer, and Emily counted on it. But don't you ever tell him I told you!"

"Oh, Dana!" Helen exclaimed, half contemptuously. "He's a bent in lots of ways. Kay, I don't think he'll ever get married. He's always rushing some girl; but he never gets real chummy with anyone but married women, where he's safe. He's like a cat walking along the edge of a ledge afraid to step off. He was crazy about Emily when he was with her here; but after we got home..."

"I don't see how a man could help being in love with Emily," Kay confessed. "But of course it wasn't your fault, Helen."

I told him when I was at home that if he had a bit of sense he'd go up and see Emily during holidays; but he said he couldn't get away. He said he'd write her a letter, though. She laughed softly. "You know, a man always gets interested if he thinks a girl likes him!"

"Emily doesn't care anything about him any more," Kay said stoutly. "I hope you didn't tell him she did. But Ned..."

"I'll bet if she were in New York or somewhere near Dana, it would be different," Helen declared; and Kay said honestly:

"Why—maybe! Her eyes were shadowed. 'Carvel's a small town, Helen; and most of the boys and girls somewhere near Dana, they aren't many available husbands there. I hope Ned marries Emily and takes her away. If he's as clever as she thinks he is, he'll be promoted to some other job pretty soon, somewhere near Dana. The Carvels are a very important one, I suppose.' And she added loyally:

"Carvel's a lovely place, and the people are nice, and I like it. But I'd die if I had to live there always."

Helen nodded; and then Sally Hays came in and asked in a dry tone: "What are you two talking about so seriously?"

"About men, and marrying," Helen told her.

"Two entirely unrelated subjects," Sally protested. "Men don't know anything about marrying. It's women who have to attend to all that."

"One's as good as another," Sally rejoined indolently. "Not much to choose between them. Men have commonplace minds. Their motto is 'feeling is believing!'"

Kay protested, curiously shocked: "Nonsense, Sally! You don't really believe that yourself. Of course it's a girl let's a man pay her."

Sally said laughingly: "I'll give you just fifteen minutes, young man, to take your hand off my knee!" In that what you mean? Kay, my child, listen to words of wisdom from one who knows. I've been pawed by experts."

"I don't believe it," Kay declared. "You're just a kid, Sally, pretending to be wise. It's been my experience..."

Sally arched her brows. "Your experience? My dear, I've made a study of the male, lo, these nineteen years. Believe me, young as I am, I've been the object of more than one devouring passion. To hear them tell it, I'm a beauty. I've been kissed with a wise eye. 'How do you know so much?' she demanded. 'I've always understood that New Hampshire winters discouraged romance!'"

"But the summers are grand," said Kay, amused. "Not as hot as love in Maytime. You know. That's a New England simile."

"Tell us all," Sally challenged. "Where do you bury your dead?"

Kay chuckled. "I haven't any," she admitted. "There's one boy in Carvel. He works for the Power Company. He's always covered with hardware. Climbing spurs, and pliers, and wrenches and screw drivers and things. But whenever he sees me, he gets red around the ears; and once he came to call on me!"

"Sounds like the answer to a man's prayer," Sally commented; and she looked at Helen wisely. "We'll have to undertake her education, won't we? How about showing her Chick Rantoul?"

Kay said quickly: "Oh, I've too much to do to both of you with this year. The work's harder than I expected; and I'm rusty."

"Your duty to the race," Sally reminded her. "As Havelock Ellis so delicately points out, the advantages of natural selection are lost unless the female of the species has a free opportunity to choose her mate. How can you do your little part with no one but a red-eared electrician to choose from? I ask you?" She looked at Kay thoughtfully. "Is he really the only boy in this rustic retreat of yours?"

And Kay said soberly: "Almost! I was telling Helen before you came in. Most Carvel boys..."

a little too rich for my blood!" So she and Kay declined Sally's invitation, on that occasion and on others, till Sally at length produced Chick Rantoul one Sunday afternoon and introduced him to Kay.

"Mahomet to the mountain," she explained. "You wouldn't go to him and I wanted you to know what you're missing. Chick's just a sample."

Rantoul looked down at Kay and smiled. "You're not a very mountainous-looking person," he remarked. That was in the spring, and the day was fine. Ned Matthews and Chick had come out together.

Sally said directly: "Take her canoeing or something. Chick, and cativate the child. She's wasted all this year; but I don't mean that she shall waste another one."

Chick nodded good-humouredly, and Ned and Sally moved away upon their own concerns. "Where do I acquire this canoe?" he asked. "Or could I be prescribed, captivated on dry land?"

Kay said frankly: "I'd rather walk! Around the lake, say, and through the gardens."

"Fine," he agreed. He chuckled to himself. "My, my," he reflected. "How many times I've tramped that beat. They swung away together, and he tried to match his long strides to her short ones, but gave up the endeavor almost at once. "Can't be done," he confessed. "I'm this way and you're that way, and no remedy for it in either case. We'll have to walk out of step, or else stand still."

She laughed softly, looking up at him. "You're older than the boys that come out here," she suggested. "You'd make a terrifically fine young man," he assured her.

Kay was silent for a moment. She said then straightforwardly: "I'm not particularly frivolous, Mr. Rantoul. I haven't developed any line! And you don't need to work one up for my benefit." She looked at him squarely, smiling. "Let's just get acquainted," she said. "And, no foolishness."

He chuckled. "Touch!" he exclaimed. "Sorry. It's automatic to start kidding, when you meet a new girl, I suppose."

"Sally has spoken of you a lot," she said. "She's forever telling me about you." She hesitated, and a faint idea that she likes you more than she pretends. She always pretends to make fun of you, says you're a snob; but I suspect she doesn't mean it. And she doesn't give details. Her eyes were twinkling. "So you'd better do that. Name, please, and I'll live in Carvel, New Hampshire, and my sister Emily was here last year, and that's all there is about me."

"I knew your sister, met her once or twice," he assented. "Something—something about her, isn't there?" "She's wonderful," Kay agreed, her eyes twinkling. "But—I know about Emily! Tell me about you."

Kay had finally been persuaded to make a social acquaintance and has met Chick Rantoul. What influence is he to have on her future? Don't miss to-morrow's absorbing instalment.

ASK REMEDIAL ACTION

London, Feb. 28. Reuter learns that members of the London Metal Exchange have formed a committee which has decided to draw the Government's attention to the seriousness of the present shortage of tin in this country, and urging remedial measures.

This step reflects the market's discontent at the decision of the International Tin Committee's recent decision to reduce the quota from 90 to 85 per cent., which the market fears will result in further deterioration of the precarious London position.

The metal brokers, London and Company, told Reuter that Bolivia is lagging behind in production by 4,000 tons. Since the Bolivian ores are smelted in Great Britain this principally accounts for the shortage of London stocks, which at present only 600 tons, or less than ten days' supply.—Reuter.

WORLD TRADE LATEST LEAGUE STATISTICS

Geneva, Feb. 28. The League's monthly bulletin of statistics for February, just issued, gives, besides the usual tables, information concerning the movement of world trade in and the production of iron, steel, zinc, coal, petroleum and the world stocks of raw materials between 1929 and 1935. These show also that both the world trade and the total amount of world trade were higher in 1935 than in 1934. World production of iron, steel, zinc, coal, lignite, petroleum in 1935 was higher than in 1934. The general index of world stocks of raw materials at the end of 1935 was only 25 per cent. higher than in June 1929, whereas towards the middle of 1934 it was about 50 per cent. higher.—League of Nations Press.

BRITISH INDUSTRY FAIR

MANY LARGE ORDERS SECURED

London, Feb. 28. The Chairman of the Management Committee of the British Industries Fair at Birmingham stated this afternoon that the engineering and hardware section of the Fair of 1936 had been one of the most outstandingly successful since the section was inaugurated in 1920, and had attained a standard which would make it a measure for comparison in future years.

Large orders had been placed in almost every group, and much business initiated at the Fair would be translated into contracts.—British Wireless.

BIGGER GRANTS FOR UNIVERSITIES

RESERVE TO BE HANDED BACK

London, Feb. 28. The State grant in aid of Universities, now £1,830,000 is to be raised to £2,100,000 for each year of the next five years, with a special additional increase of £150,000 for the first year of that period.

In announcing this decision, the Chancellor of the Exchequer says that in making this special addition to the vote for 1936-37, his intention is, in effect, to give back to the Universities Grants Committee the reserve of £150,000 which was surrendered to the Exchequer during the financial crisis.—British Wireless.

IN MEMORY OF PAVLOV

STATUE TO BE ERECTED

Moscow, Feb. 28. In connection with the death of the noted scientist, Pavlov, the Government has decided to erect a statue in his memory and to grant his wife a monthly pension of a thousand roubles.

Pavlov will, moreover, be given a State funeral.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

INDIA'S NEW VICEROY

ASSUMING OFFICE IN APRIL

New Delhi, Feb. 28. Lord Willingdon, the retiring Viceroy, will depart from New Delhi on April 15 for Bombay, and will sail for England on April 18.

The new Viceroy, the Marquis of Linlithgow, arrives in Bombay on April 17 and will be sworn into office at New Delhi on the following day.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

FRENCHMEN BEAR FATE OF PARLEY

London, Feb. 28. The further progress of the Naval Conference depends on the French delegation, which has asked Paris for instructions whether it should continue the three-Power negotiations.

It is understood that the French hope to an understanding whereby Italy will sign the treaty when the Ethiopian question is settled.

As neither Italy nor France experiences serious misgivings over the technical aspects of the proposed treaty, it is expected that a bilateral Franco-Italian understanding would facilitate the conclusion of the treaty.—Reuter Special.

ANGLO-U. S. TALK

London, Feb. 28. The head of the United States naval delegation, Mr. Norman Davis, called on the Foreign Secretary, Mr. Eden, at the Foreign Office to-day. They discussed the position of the Naval Conference in view of Italy's attitude, which is that, although prepared to continue examination of technical matters, she is unwilling to sign a Treaty at present.—British Wireless.

Swiss Reply To Germany

NO REVERSAL OF NAZI BAN

Berne, Feb. 28. The Swiss reply to the recent sharp German note protesting against the suppression of Nazi organisations in Switzerland, has been handed to the German Minister here.

It states that the Federal Council cannot reverse the decision and hopes the German Government will prove its understanding of the situation and avoid erroneous interpretation to German public opinion.—Reuter.

The Government Gazette contains a revised resolution in regard to liquor duties.

The duties, expressed in terms of dollars, are unaltered, but a proviso states that the dollars mentioned in the table shall be conventional dollars reckoned as the equivalent of one shilling and eight pence sterling; and that consequently to arrive at the actual amount payable in Hongkong currency the dollar and decimal thereof stated in the Table, shall be multiplied by 20 and divided by a figure settled by the Treasurer from time to time representing the average opening selling rates for the previous month of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation's export drafts on London and until so settled the figure shall be 15.87. This latter figure compares with 23.70 in the resolution previously in force.

A new classification appears in respect of Chinese type liquors, this providing for duty of 15 per cent. on Chinese type spirits not distilled in the Colony and containing not more than 24 per cent. alcohol by weight.

London, Feb. 28. The total amount applied for in tenders for £45,000,000 Treasury bills was £77,315,000. The maximum amount was allotted in bills at three months. The average rate per cent. was 11/23 1/4.—British Wireless.

SLASHING INDIA'S TAXATION

ESTIMATES SURPLUS

New Delhi, Feb. 28. Complete remission of Income Tax on the lowest incomes, and a reduction of the present surcharge on other incomes, was announced by the Finance member, Sir James Grigg, in presenting the Budget to the Assembly.

Sir James revealed that the Estimates showed a surplus of 242 lakhs of rupees on March 31, but he pointed out that other factors, including the cost of the Government of the Indian, separation from Burma, would work against a similarly favourable result in the immediate future. However, he felt justified in proposing remissions of taxation amounting to about two crores of rupees.

The Finance Member outlined a seven-year plan for the reconstruction of Quetta, following the earthquake, and announced various grants for amelioration of conditions in the rural areas.—Reuter.
